

CAVALIER HORSE SHOW OPENS SATURDAY; TWO DAY PROGRAM

First of Three Local Shows to Feature New Events on Elaborate Card; Children's Pony Class Opens Show, Winner to Compete in National Championship.

OUT OF TOWN ENTRIES
Top Flight Horses to Contest for Honors; Social Events for Visiting Horsemen Follow Two Day Performance in Show Ring This Week End

Virginia, traditionally "horsey" looks forward to three major horse shows in the next few weeks.

The ninth annual Cavalier Horse Show at this resort is scheduled for this week end—May 7th and 8th. The Tidewater Horse Show, Kempville, is carded for the following week end, May 13th, 14th and 15th, and the Hampton Horse Show will occur at Hampton early in June. In all of these shows children and pony classes will be to the fore. The Costume Period Class promises to add comedy to the other features at the Tidewater show.

The Cavalier show opens Saturday morning with children and pony classes including an A. S. P. C. A. Good Hands event, the purpose of which is to emphasize the consciousness of young riders the importance of kindness and gentleness in handling their mounts. The first prize winner in this class will be eligible to compete in the Championship A. S. P. C. A. Good Hands Class at the National Horse Show in 1938.

Plantation Class
The Plantation Horse Class, an innovation in this part of the country, promises to be interesting. Among entries are Frank, owned by Mrs. George Watts Hill, Durham, N. C.; Jim Dandy, owned by Mr. Roy Charles, and General Lafayette, owned by Mrs. Fontaine Maury Thraives, president of the Cavalier Horse Show Association.

The recent breeding activity in this Tidewater Virginia area has caused the inclusion of a class for blood mares with foal at foot. Among entries is Tinker Bell with a four weeks old colt, owned by Mrs. Lester T. Hunt, Washington, D. C. and Berwyn, Pa.

The Olympic Class, introduced at the Cavalier Show last year, proved to be so popular that two additional classes are on this year's program. The Corinthian Class promises to be among the most colorful, this will be ridden by members of recognized hunts in full hunting livery of the hunt to which member belongs.

"FINE ARTS DAY" FINAL MEETING OCEANA MAY 7 AT LAWSON HALL

Elementary School System to Show Parents Accomplishments of Children Saturday Morning

Tomorrow the children of the graded schools of Princess Anne County will give a program for the purpose of setting forth their accomplishments in public speaking, reading, music and artistic dancing. The Fine-Arts Day display will be participated in by the entire elementary school system of the county.

Musical selections from the choruses will be heard, and numbers from four of the primary rhythm bands will be rendered. Children from both the primary and grammar grades will give readings. The fourth grade pupils will discuss "Our Art Work", and the fifth grade will treat with the most interesting and beneficial accomplishments of the year. Sixth and seventh grade students will talk on the subject of "World Peace."

The Folk dances to be given will consist of: A Scotch Dance by the Oceana; A Dutch Dance by the Creeds Pupils, and an Irish Dance by the W. T. Cooke School pupils.

The Public is cordially invited to attend the program which will start promptly at 9:30 A. M. and adjourn at noon.

Garden Club Tea Cavalier Monday

A floral tea in the Pocahontas loggia of the Cavalier Hotel will be a feature at the meeting Monday of the Princess Anne Garden Club, when arrangements will be completed for the illustrated lecture "Old Fashioned Gardens" sponsored by this club to be given in the Cavalier hotel Wednesday night, May 18th, by Mrs. Frederick Love Kears, Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y. and Calvert County, Md. Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory Hill, President of the Garden Club, will preside at meeting, which will be attended by more than thirty members.

The Garden Club of Virginia, Federation of Garden Clubs of Norfolk, and other rose-lovers have been extended invitations to attend the lecture by Mrs. Kears, an authority on rose culture, and author of the book "Old Roses". An interesting feature at this lecture will be a display in the ballroom of old roses, freshly cut, which will be similar to those which ornamented gardens in this area during early Colonial days. A profusion of roses of never varying will be included in the exhibit. All of the roses, which are to be shown in non-competitive display, will be taken from gardens of members of the Princess Anne Garden Club.

Walkways Require Careful Planning

The entrance to a home should not be taken for granted. The impression that a visitor first gets of a home is largely a reflection of his impression of the doorway and walk.

Princess Anne Woman's Club Will Hold Last Session and Elect New Officers; Dr. Rawls to Talk

The Princess Anne Woman's Club will hold its final meeting for this season next Tuesday, May 10, at Lawson Hall, the home of Mrs. Charles Hodgeman, and the public is invited to attend. After a short business session, the meeting will be addressed by Dr. Julian Rawles of Norfolk, on the subject of Cancer Control. Election of officers for the ensuing two years will be part of the days program. The large living room will be specially decorated for the occasion with a number of lovely paintings of flowers borrowed for the meeting from the Norfolk Museum and Arts and Sciences. The business of the day will be followed by an informal reception in the club room, where Mrs. T. C. Etheridge will preside at the punch bowl. Hostesses for the occasion will be: Mrs. Rufus Parks, Mrs. Edward Turner, Mrs. Harold Cook, Mrs. G. O. Walker, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. T. C. Conington, Mrs. Hugh Watlington and Mrs. B. D. White.

Years Work Accomplished

There have been two other general meetings of the Club held this year, the first in the form of a Birthday Luncheon at the Pine Tree Inn in October, celebrating the twelfth birthday of the Club, when a most interesting address was made by Miss Mabel Brown of Norfolk, on Conditions Abroad, and another by the Rev. W. E. Glover of Virginia Beach on Religious Education in the Schools. The mid-winter meeting was held at Princess Anne Court House when Miss Rose Willis of Norfolk read Sherwood Anderson's "Winesburg, Ohio". Mrs. Faye Bailey, Princess Anne County Welfare Worker, also addressed this meeting on the subject of Welfare in Princess Anne County. The Club held a benefit card party in March at the Cavalier Hotel, the proceeds from which were donated to the Council for Week-day Religious Education in (Continued on Page Eight)

Work On Sidewalks Starts Next Week

Next week will see the beginning of work on several thousand feet of sidewalks to be installed at Virginia Beach. Word came from the Town Engineer's Office that funds had been allocated for this purpose, and that only the organization of an adequate work gang was delaying the start of this needed improvement. For the present it is planned to lay the walkways on the east side of Atlantic Ave. from Seventeenth Street, north to Thirty-Fifth Street, and on the west side of the same thoroughfare wherever needed. It is thought that it will take only a few weeks to complete this phase of the undertaking. Later it is planned to put sidewalks on the south side of Twenty-Third Street, between Pacific and Arctic Avenues. Other work of this character will be undertaken as need arises.

Highway Safety in Counties To Be Featured At Conference

Colonel Battle Urges All Counties Send Representative to Safety Conference, June 3rd and 4th.

NORFOLK JUDGE SPEAKS
Law Enforcement Officers Urged to Lend Full Cooperation to Educational System in Schools

Chairmen of Boards of Supervisors of the counties in Virginia today were requested to send county appropriations to seek trial justices and commonwealth's attorneys of their respective counties to Norfolk on June 3 and 4 to attend the fourth annual Virginia State-Wide Safety Conference. The request was made by Colonel Marion S. Battle, executive chairman of the Conference in a letter which stated that Governor Price, who is general chairman, has expressed the hope that all state officers who are interested in accident prevention and who possibly can should attend.

Colonel Battle pointed out that 6,333 of the 13,414 accidents taking place in Virginia occurred in the counties and that 684 of the 786 deaths resulting were from county accidents. He also pointed out that 4,990 of the 8,065 injured in accidents were injured in the counties. Total property damage resulting from street and highway accidents was placed at $1,579,554. Of this figure the damage done in the counties totaled $1,159,602.

Fewer Accidents

"Progress has been made in the elimination of accidents," Colonel Battle wrote, "and if we are to continue such progress it is not only necessary that law enforcement officers in the state continue to lend their full individual cooperation in the movement, but we must be thinking of and working (Continued on Page Five)

SENIOR COMEDY AT OCEANA HIGH

Students Present Class Play Next Friday Night Entitled "Bound To Marry"

"Bound To Marry" a comedy in three acts by Walter Richardson, will be presented in the Oceana school auditorium Friday, May 13, at 8:15 o'clock by the senior class. The cast of characters includes Betty Jane Dove, leadly in love, played by Martha Chisholm; Billie Poudre, the make-believe tutor, James Cole; Augustus G. Baker, a whoopee maker, Raymond Eaton; Hilda M. Slater, a born man-hater, Cornelia Smith; Samuel Boyer, a resourceful lawyer, Robert Nutt; June Ray, from old Broadway, Ruth Butt; Evelyn Grace, the girl in the case, Betty Frost Woodhouse; Mose Lincoln Hall, a black snow ball, Thomas Lester; Mandy Snook, a colored cook, Alice Forbes.

Story of Play

When Miss Betty Jane Dove writes to a marriage bureau for a mail-order husband and her letter is intercepted by her man-hater aunt, the results are hilariously funny. Besides a ten-thousand dollar conspiracy there is a gay mix-up of love affairs and a surprise ending.

The class play under the direction of Mildred Cross, senior class sponsor, has been rehearsed until all parts are thoroughly mastered. The committee follows:

Prompters: Sue Ann Crockett, Clara Niemann.

Advertising: Alice Forbes, Milton Ferrell.

Program: Alice Forbes, Isabel Oliver, Russell Davis, Ruth Butt, Shirley Barrett.

Stage: Maryberry Carter, Mary Anna Riley, June Ellen Ketsales, Anne Stannum, Marie Ware, Violet Stinnette.

More Than Two Hundred District Auxiliary Members Hear Talk on Conditions in Japan

More than two hundred delegates and members of the Woman's Auxiliary attended the Spring District meeting of that organization held Wednesday at Galilee Episcopal Church. Approximately a hundred and fifty visitors from towns and cities in the eastern part of the state were on hand for the meeting.

The program which began with the celebration of the Holy Communion administered by the Rev. Reginald W. Eastman and the Rev. Taylor Willis at 10 A. M. and concluded with luncheon at 1:30 o'clock was interesting and instructive throughout.

Probably the high light of the day was the very interesting talk given by Miss Hallie Williams, for twenty-two years a teacher at St. Agnes School Kyrie, Japan, who spoke on missions in that field, with emphasis on present day conditions in that country.

From Darkness To Light

In opening her address Miss Williams said that her return to America was like "coming from darkness into light", pointing out that the freedom of action and state of mind of our people was in such severe contrast to the condition of oppression, mental fear and enforced ignorance of the masses in Japan, that she found it difficult to adjust herself upon her return to this country. Such strict military censorship exists there that the people of that island empire dare not so much as speak of the operations of their army in China.

In explaining the present day attitude of the people of Japan, Miss Williams drew attention to the fact that first of all the Japanese are a nation of imitators, and that when they realize that their modern history traces back only about three quarters of a century, and that prior to that their people had endured centuries of feudal conditions, their apparent thirst for conquest in the far east, is really but a manifestation of their genius for imitation. They are now doing what they have observed the nations of the western world do on numberless occasions.

Participants in the program in addition to those mentioned were: Mrs. Charles Field, 3rd, who presided over the meeting; Mrs. Walter Mitchell, who greeted the visiting members; Mrs. W. W. Wilkinson, president of the District Auxiliary; Miss Emily Hope McCoy, who spoke on the subject of "Our Young People"; Eddie Hunt, who talked about Camp Robert Hunt, and the Rev. George P. Gunn, who officiated at the noon prayer service.

Kempville P. T. A. Annual Election

The Kempville Parent Teachers Association met in the school auditorium Monday for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. W. G. Lambert, was elected President, Mrs. E. H. Herbert, vice president, Mrs. Charles Conington, secretary and Mrs. McClellan, treasurer. The retiring President Mrs. J. H. Land, presided at the meeting. Harry B. Davis, county representative in the House of Delegates, told the members of his efforts to put through that body a three point program in behalf of the schools and assured them that he would do all he could to bring about its passage at the next session of the General Assembly. The membership enjoyed a program of the Student Cooperative Association, formerly the Junior League, which included the types of work done in all groups in the school.

MAY 7 LAST DAY FOR POLL TAXES

Saturday Will Be the Last Chance to Participate in the August Primary; Registrations Until July

Tomorrow May 7th, will be the last day on which to pay poll taxes in time to vote in the August 2nd, primary, at which time the Democratic party in the Second Congressional District will choose a candidate to succeed the present incumbent Norman H. Hamilton. Representative Hamilton will run in the primary to succeed himself, and will be opposed by former Congressman Colgate W. Darden who recently announced his intention to compete in August for the honor which he held prior to this term.

All who pay their poll taxes before the closing of the clerk's office Saturday evening, and those who have previously paid, may register to vote in the primary at any time prior to July 18th of this year. The law allowing registration until 15 days before the date of the primary.

While the formality of poll tax payment comes to a close Saturday, the campaign is really just beginning to get under way. Preliminary work is being done and political fences mended, but as yet no open activity has actually been started by either candidate. It is thought before August arrives there will develop a real political fight for the position which both candidates have held, and both seem to desire particularly, for the coming term of office. As far as could be learned neither candidate has appointed campaign managers in the county or in the district, but much quiet work has been done in preparation for the time when the fight gets under way.

GIRL SCOUTS TO MEET THIS MONTH

Virginia Members to Meet in Aikentown, Pa.; Regional Conferences in Many Cities

May is the month of conferences for Girl Scout officials, council members, regional committee and national board members. Thousands of these adult members of the organization will be meeting in various centers in every part of the country in conferences which, as a rule, last three days.

Leading educators, civic leaders, and outstanding authorities in sociological, recreational and group leadership circles will speak at these annual meetings whose total attendance is expected to be about seven thousand.

Emphasis in the majority of conferences this year will be placed on the revised Girl Scout program which is being offered to the 461,000 active members of the national organization. The revised program offers a wider choice of program activities to girls in each of three age groups, seven to ten, ten to fourteen, and fourteen to eighteen years, based on their own age level interests and potentialities.

Virginites to Aikentown

Chicago will be the scene of the largest conference when more than 2,000 members of local councils in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin meet at the Palmer Hotel. Other large gatherings are expected in Aikentown, Pa., May 9-11, and Syracuse, N. Y., May 18-20. Delegates from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and the District of Columbia will attend the Aikentown meeting. Syracuse will attract representatives of local councils in New York and New Jersey. Nashville will be the hostess city May 11-13 for Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Portland, Maine, has been selected for the New England regional conference, with the local delegation from Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire. The conference will be held at the Hotel Portland, May 12-14.

"THE VOICE OF A MAJORITY," saying the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

WHEN JACKSON FELL

It was seventy-five years ago, three quarters of a century as this is written, that Thomas Jonathan Jackson, fell mortally wounded at the hands of his own men. Pickets mistook a group of staff officers, who accompanied Jackson on a reconnoitering mission beyond the lines, and fired at close range to inflict the most costly loss to the welfare of the southern cause had yet received. By a strange twist of fate, the leader whose possible victory of that day, over a force twice as large as his own, was laid low by the men who had so gallantly carried out his orders in accomplishing that victory. It was at Chancellorsville, on a warm May night, early in the campaign of '63 that death came to Stonewall Jackson.

As he lay wounded with death approaching, the Army of Northern Virginia, carried on to full accomplishment the victory which he had so gloriously started, and three days later, General Hooker, withdrew in disorder from the field.

The words of his commander in chief, Gen. Robert E. Lee, spoken upon learning of Jackson's death are known to every school child. They express the esteem in which Lee held the Immortal Jackson. In one short phrase, "I have indeed lost my right arm." This remark taken together with the message he directed to his wounded lieutenant when he first learned of that tragedy, combine to make the most gallant tribute one soldier has ever paid to another. Lee said, "Could I have directed events, I should have chosen for the good of the country, to have disabled in your stead. I congratulate you upon the victory which is due to your skill and energy."

Twenty years ago this month, there occurred in Goundrecourt, France another tribute to Jackson, which shows the regard of military men the world over for his accomplishments. The writer was present at a military lecture given to young American officers designed to give them the benefit of the experience which their allies had obtained from the early years of the war. A British Brigadier General, whose name has long ago passed from recollection, was speaking on some war topic when he arrived at a point in his lecture where it suited him to draw a comparison with Jackson's Valley Campaign, and he digressed from his subject to pay tribute to Jackson and Lee. During the remainder of the lecture period he never returned to the subject of the war, being devoted not thirty miles away, but devoted every minute to the most lavish praise of Stonewall Jackson, as man and soldier. He stressed the point that the military schools of England were still teaching Jackson's campaigns, as the most outstanding examples of strategy and tactics. Like our British instructor, we digressed to make this point.

So, this week is both the seventy-fifth anniversary of the death of Jackson and of his most brilliant victory, . . . Chancellorsville. The Southern Cause was won, and many people say that it was but a matter of time before the Union would mination of hostilities. But, they overlooked a fact that must have been apparent to Lee, that without Stonewall Jackson, the Army of Northern Virginia, would never be the great instrument of warfare it had been.

As events shaped themselves, we now know that on the memorable night of the 2nd of May, 1863, the end of the Southern Cause was fore-doomed, and with Jackson fell the last hope of victory.

MOTHER'S DAY

To a nation of people who have become so used to "special days," set aside for the observance of this or that, and to weeks that are designated National observance weeks for all manner of purposes, it is natural that a day which seems to merit observance of every one, would tend to be lost to view, in the numberless occasions the people are called upon to observe.

Sunday will be one of those days that all mankind can celebrate with assurance that every one, of normal reaction, will give sympathetic approval to its purpose. It is safe to say, that of all the long list of special days, this one, Mother's Day, meets with more general approval than any other or at least it should. Father has a day, but Fathers must, and usually do, though sometimes with lack of grace, stand aside for Mother.

The young and old whose good-fortune it is to have among the living, that best friend of all, a Mother, should look upon this day as a special privilege. One that gives just another opportunity to pay homage to her, with some gracious acknowledgment of a debt, that no matter how hard we try, we cannot repay.

And for those who are less fortunate, there is nothing to do but cling to cherished memory, with a little firmer grasp. Of course the wearing of the rose, either red or white, is a beau geste that has its points. But a little act or deed, a recollection, a prayer, perhaps, like virtue, will give its own reward and what is more, be a finer tribute to Mother.

REWARD

The Supervisors of Princess Anne County, who on the recommendation of the Sheriff, offered last week a $100.00 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Leroy Sawyer, have done all that can be done for the present, toward that end.

It is hoped that the efforts of the County police, and other authorities will accomplish the desired end. Of course we are aware that the hunted man may have made good his escape from the county, but the fact that an active effort is being made by the stimulation afforded by the reward, will serve a valuable purpose, and should in the end lead to the whereabouts of the man. The News wishes to be numbered among those who feel, that in the absence of a quick arrest of the accused, the welfare of law and order was given a forward thrust by the offering of the reward. The people of the county generally feel reassured by the action of the authorities.

CAPE HENRY PARK

With the coming of May 1st, the State Park at Cape Henry was opened again to the public with a large number of people passing through last Sunday. During the early spring months, much work has been done in shaping the roads and making new parking space available to motorists. In a few weeks the State Park system will take title to three thousand acres additional land, which will be incorporated in the park and after work similar to that of the older park, has been accomplished by C. C. C. workers, this section will be made available to the public. Step by step, the people of this section are having developed for them; a recreation spot that will ultimately be a major attraction. The popularity of certain features of the park is attested by the fact that all cabins are engaged for the summer months, and it would seem that one pressing need is the building of more cabins in connection with its development. We have no doubt that this will come in time. In the meantime, we feel that what may be called greater Virginia Beach, is acquiring an asset that will do much to popularize the whole community. The State Park service has certainly done a good job. We are confident they will carry on.

Attend some church and Sunday School this Sunday.

X-Cerpts From The News

"When an automobile is primed, too much gasoline is wasted and the machine will not run," said Senator Byrd, in condemning lend-lease spending program. Well, if nothing else results we can take comfort; a spending spree and a full tank of gas, often lead to a complete crack up.

Disclosing hurt feelings, Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering termed, the Brazilian ban on foreign organizations as an unfriendly act and intimidated the United States was behind it. It would seem the Marshal could find something nearer home to feel hurt about.

"Effort to force wage-hour bill is being pushed," said a recent headline. Possibly, but we feel that the statement would better express the attitude of many southern congressmen if it had added . . . but not hard.

A Chicago scientist has designed a little balloon for the purpose of preserving the breath (as evidence) of automobile drivers charged with drunken driving . . . who would have ever thought the "toy balloon" would play a part in putting an end to this menace? . . . Can't you see the little things popping under the strain of some of the breaths you have confronted?

Under the American system, organized as it is, held together by a reciprocal relationship, we all sink or swim together," said the head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Well, that in itself is fair enough but who is going to keep the old boys from snitching the life-preservers?

"Hitler's entrance into Italy stirs speculation," said a headline. Evidently, the effect of it has not been felt in Wall Street, judging by our markets.

"All Japanese adults called," says a news item . . . and we doubt that they care how that few will be chosen.

May 1st was the fortieth anniversary of the battle of Manila Bay. Only twenty-seven officers and a few score men survive who participated in that memorable day. It is a matter of pride with us that we know two of the number personally, and we wish them many, many more anniversaries.

Socialist candidate Norman Thomas was escorted from Jersey City by the police acting under orders from Mayor Frank Hague, who is national vice-chairman of the Democratic party . . . this is a pretty state of affairs. Here we have a socialist intending to use a privilege of Democracy, the right of free speech, to a Communist gathering, and a Democratic official using a totalitarian method of restraining him. Now comes the socialist complaining of the infringement of his Democratic right . . . It could only happen here.

"Rival labor chiefs agree on plan to buy off recession," said a headline . . . This is just the old familiar one of being liberal with the other fellow's money.

"From the border of Rome, millions of Italians crowded vantage points to see Hitler pass," says a news item . . . and we thought he was making a bid.

"When I look back over the day, I feel that I have spent a Christian Sunday," said a Vermont minister who helped open the fishing season in that state with a catch of eight beauties . . . our idea of a good day, to say the least.

"Bath tube cost just half of their 1920 price," we learn from the papers. Well, maybe, this accounts for our washed-up condition today.

"Pigs may harbor influenza germs for a long time," according to a news item. This is perfectly alright with us, provided they act true to their hogish nature and keep them.

BOOKS TO OWN

SLEEP IN PEACE
By Phyllis Bentley
Macmillan, 554pp. $2.50
A Review by Frank McLean, Instructor in English, University of Virginia Extension Division

Phyllis Bentley has that rare ability which enables her to see both the woods and the trees. It hardly needs to be said that unless a novelist is so gifted he will never produce anything of more than temporary value. As a consequence, Miss Bentley is able to describe the Yorkshire country and people so accurately that both become very real to the reader, yet she never loses sight of the fact that her people are akin to all humanity and their milieu is a part of the whole cosmos.

"Sleep in Peace" is an attempt to depict the attitude of the generation that is arriving toward the generation that is passing; Miss Bentley seems to say that each generation, in its turn, eyes its parents with a feeling of disapproval, having a conviction that in some way parents have missed their cue and failed to live up to what was expected of them. Each new generation is convinced that, in its turn, will avoid the pitfalls into which its fathers stumbled, and will leave a better world to its children when the children's time shall come to take it over. "Sleep in Peace" gets its title from a passage in Feuchtwanger's "The Ugly Duchess" in which one character says, "Sleep in peace, father! I will be different from you."

To demonstrate her thesis Miss Bentley tells the stories of three generations of two allies York, three families.

Alfred Armistead and Henry Finchcliffe are partners operating a modest textile mill; each is the father of three children when the story opens in the middle 1860's. The attitudes of the two men toward life reflect the problems that seemed of supreme importance to late Victorian England. The Armisteads are making every effort to raise themselves to the level of the gentry; they attend the established Church; they send their son and heir to a public school; they espouse the politics of the old families. And they heartily despise the low tastes of the Finchcliffes. The Finchcliffes, on their side, are disgusted at the snobbishness of the Armisteads. They are ardent Dissenters; their children are to be educated in the technical schools; they are truculently proud of their middle-class heritage, and see the safety of England in the supremacy of bourgeois ideas.

Unfortunately for the older generation, the children show a tendency to regard the matters that obsess their parents as being of minor import. One of the Finchcliffes soon turns to literature instead of following in his father's steps in the mills. One of the Armistead girls becomes infected with the strange notion of feminine activity outside the home; she wants to go to college and have a career. The other children are variously affected by influences objectionable to their parents, and these children band together in spite of the efforts of the parents to make them travel by different roads.

In time the second generation Finchcliffes and Armisteads, being their offspring into the world, and as the story ends we find these children as intolerant of what their parents believed important as these parents had been with the way of life from which they had rebelled. By a natural but bitter irony, one Finchcliffe has become a fascist while another is an active communist.

In reading "Sleep in Peace" one is reminded very often of Arnold Bennett, and, to a less extent, of John Galsworthy. Miss Bentley has the same knack of gathering up the few significant threads of

REVELATION

All that I know of beautiful
Is what the earth and sea have said,
And if the writing of a gull
Upon the parchment overhead
Is not sufficient to reveal
God and myself to my own thought,
Then beauty is not mine to feel
And I not beauty's to be taught.

THE MUSIC OF THE BROOK

Away from haunts of men, in hidden vale,
A little stream goes babbling all day long;
The birds alone enjoy its quiet song,
Save when some lovers their tender tale,
Sitting upon a bridge's rustic rail;
Or when, in wistful mood, I leave the throng,
And flee the town's unutterable wrong,
For gentle peace that clothes in coat of mail:

For there I think that blest eternity
Has whelmed the thought of clamor and of care
As if the dawn of fairer morn had come
That mellow murmur seems indeed to me
To permeate with bliss the scented air,
And make complaint in lasting silence dumb.

WHILE THE CLOCK TICKS

There was a time the ticking of a clock
Grimly reminded of a stealthy tread,
Taunting me with a voice that seemed to mock:
"Another moment fled, forever fled,
And vain the hope, unutterably vain,
By prayer or wit to bring it back again."

But now I laugh at pendulums that swing;
No ticking clock disturbs my inward calm;
Cool and composed, I watch the seasons wing
Their undisputed way without
One with the timelessness of time,
I stand
Before the dial with its moving hand.

PERSISTENT SPRING

The grain is full, the ripened fruit is falling,
The sated gardens sleep in golden haze;
Requited earth to slow, warm peace is calling
All wistful Aprils, all summer's burdened days.

My body's labor done, my children fashioned,
I find no autumn rest nor comforting;
My ageless heart, still rebel and impassioned,
Is doomed to a persistent, ghostly
spring.

REVERSE THIS LAND

There is no room for darkness underground,
So thick the bright and lovely dead are lying,
Brow close to brow, luxuriously drowned

In calms of sleep, forever done with dying,
On root of oak the olive Romans lean;
The yellow Celt on root of yew reposes;
Each wayside hedge is holy with a queen;
And lovers mingle in the source of roses.
The world is woven wholly of the dead
Whose grandeur and whose pride
the oceans sing,
Whose passion in the passionate wind is fed,
Whose aerial exultation is the spring.

Reverse this land: the blowing dust and tare
Housed human love and beauty and despair.

HUMPTY DUMPTY

As Others See It

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Last week through oversight on our part, we ran two editorials under the above caption without giving credit where credit was due. We wish to take this opportunity of acknowledging this error, and give credit to the Herold-Progress, for the editorial entitled "Something Wrong With the Pump," and to The New York Times for the editorial "Spending Never Stops."

GALLANT FIGHTER WINS

When General Pershing entered St. Thomas' church in New York Friday afternoon to attend the wedding of his son, some 2,000 persons rose spontaneously in tribute to this grand old fighter. At sight of him there must have come rushing into the minds of these people thoughts of his many campaigns, and especially of his firm and steady command of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War. But more vividly there must have risen before them the fresher recollection of his latest and grimmest battle. The scene of the conflict a hospital cot in Aiznora last February and March; his allies the best that medical science could muster. But his enemy the most feared, the most implacable of all, death.

For days on end it seemed that death had won and waited only to claim its victim. The aged soldier was in a coma, hardly breathing, his organs barely functioning. Yet the will to live was strong. Death was thrust back and Black Jack Pershing marched victorious again over danger.

Small wonder that even the sophisticated of a fashionable New York wedding party, at sight of the general walking unaided to his pew in the church, rose to their feet in tribute. Thousands of others throughout the nation, though they never saw him and most likely never will, join that tribute to a courageous old gentleman and a brave fighter.—Columbia (S. C.) State.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES?

In these times, what with labor unions and organizations always stirring up trouble between unemployed labor and industries, seeking shorter hours and more pay, while upwards of 12 million unemployed are walking the streets looking for work and living largely on relief, it would seem that instead of fighting the industries where they get their living they should be thankful they have a job.

As it is of interest to know just where the money goes which they help to earn let us see where it does go:

A large eastern corporation has just issued a special report to its 11,200 employees. The report points out that 51 per cent of the money received by the corporation last year was paid to the workers in wages and salaries; that stockholders received 11-2 per cent and the other 37-1-2 per cent was required for maintenance, expansion, advertising, research and taxes.

In paying an aggregate of nearly five times as much to its workers as to its stockholders, this corporation was no exception, but, on the contrary, typical of American industries today.

In support of this, the Department of Commerce recently estimated that the total compensation paid to employees in 1937 amounted to $45,000,000,000, while total dividends were only $9,000,000,000.

With these facts before us it is not difficult to see that workers in the aggregate have a far greater stake in the stability and prosperity of business than many persons believe and that their stake is even greater than that of millions of American stockholders.

THE VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

WOMAN'S LONGER LIFE-SPAN

Women outlive men. Life expectancy computations plainly demonstrate this fact. According to the latest tables constructed by the Bureau of the Census for the whole United States, white males have an expectancy at birth of 69.1 years, while white females can expect to live, on the average, 72.7 years. Approximately the same relationship holds in the colored race, with a life expectancy of 47.5 years for males and 49.5 for females. Women live usually about four years longer than they did ten years ago, while men have made a gain in longevity of only about two and a half years.

Female mortality is much lower than male. In Virginia during 1936, the death rate per 1,000 for males was 14.3 and only 11.9 among females. Mortality tables show that almost all of the various causes of death, common to both sexes, take a higher toll of men than of women. During the past three years in Virginia, venereal diseases and stomach ulcers caused more than twice as many male deaths as female—with alcoholism and cirrhosis of the liver in the ratio of 4 to 1. The only causes of significant frequency producing a higher female mortality were diabetes, exophthalmic goiter and cancer.

Maternity, of course, contributes to a high death rate among women in the child-bearing period, but does not offset the excess of male mortality over female, even in this age group.

Violent deaths, including accidents, suicides and homicides cause three times as many fatalities among men as women, and create, to a great degree, the large excess of male deaths in the age group of 45 to 64.

Environmental influence should not be over-emphasized as a cause of higher male mortality, for in-born constitutional characteristics undoubtedly play an important role. As there are about 105 males to each 100 females born, nature seems to be striving to equalize the proportions of sex in providing for woman's longer life span.—Virginia Health Bulletin.

PROFITLESS PROGRESS IMPOSSIBLE

Politicians and social theorists the world over are continually striving to crush one to the most basic urges of mankind: the urge of the individual to labor for profit. For some curious reason they think that once the profit motive is destroyed, the way to Utopia will be clear! They persistently refuse to heed the lessons of history which have proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that without a fair chance for profit the human animal ceases to put forth his best efforts. Without profit, progress gives way to a lethargic day-to-day existence, and personal liberty soon goes by the board, social theories notwithstanding.

When an individual buys a bond or a share of stock he does it for profit, and to help assure himself of this fact.

al independence. The greater the risk, the greater the possible profit; unless the two go hand in hand the individual will bury his savings in an unproductive hole in the ground.

When a man works 15 hours a day and burns the midnight oil over some new invention, or labors tirelessly year after year to build up a business, again he does it for security and profit. He works in the hope that the fruits of his labor will bring comfort and happiness, not only to himself, but to his family.

Today we have a depression. We hear loud cries of "capital strike." The politicians howl because heavy industry is ominous, quiet. They howl because unemployment is increasing. They howl and curse Wall Street for bringing all this about. So what? Wall Street had nothing to do with the present depression. Punitive taxation, government competition which private business, and an orgy of experimental regulation and legislation are largely responsible for the present troubles. In short, the profit motive is dangerously near extinction, and the country can enjoy no normal recovery until it is brought back to life. And government spending the country into bankruptcy is not the way to bring it back to life.

Character Risk Is Important Factor

The growing importance of the borrower's character was listed as an outstanding development in the field of home-mortgage lending today by Dr. J. Blon Phillips, economist of the Federal Housing Administration.

Tracing the relationship of housing outlays to incomes in the current issue of the Insured Mortgage Portfolio, official publication of the Administration, Dr. Phillips said there had been an expansion of analyses of mortgage risk to include not only such time-honored factors as the physical security back of the mortgage and the loan-to-value ratio but numerous other factors which contribute to delinquency and foreclosure losses.

"This broadening of the field of interest in mortgage financing and in the elements of mortgage risk has at once grown out of and necessitated the investigation of many elements hitherto overlooked or considered of little or no significance," Dr. Phillips said. "More and more, for example, these investigations have pointed to the importance of the borrower in relation to the mortgage pattern."

The writer declared no mortgage is unsafe as long as the maker of it is willing and able to keep it current.

"This simple truth is becoming a guiding principle in modern home-mortgage lending: That, while a mortgage may be safe as to principal in spite of delinquency and default, no mortgage is willing and able to keep it current," he declared.

"The borrower's integrity, his honesty, his credit rating, attitude toward obligations, and his financial status and prospects must be weighed heavily in judging the probability in these regards. Especially in the case of long-term amortized mortgages the borrower's ability to pay—that is, the relation between his mortgage payments and his income—becomes of prime importance."

Dr. Phillips declared that mortgage lenders must judge each case on its own merit and that in doing so he must consider the number of dependents in the borrower's family, his other obligations, and such additional factors as may diminish the margin between the applicant's income and outlays.

The writer deplored the lack of a background of recorded experiences to serve the lender as a "bench mark" in his attempts to judge the highest relation between the borrower's contemplated outlays for his home and his annual income. He said the need for this type of information has given rise to a series of statistical investigations into the relationship of housing expenditures and family income in various cities which had proved of value to mortgage lenders as starting points in judging individual cases. He observed, however, the results of these studies thus far are only fragmentary.

Local Men Called As Federal Jurors

Federal grand jurors, living in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, who were summoned to hear evidence in the Federal District Court at the May term now being held in Norfolk, were Walter R. Mitchell, and R. E. Taylor of Virginia Beach, and George Lawrence of Oceana, and J. C. Hodgins, of Lynnhaven. Many cases of violation of the Internal Revenue Act constituted the majority of the causes coming before that body. In addition there were charges of violation of the Narcotic Act, the White Slave Act, fraud by mail, forgery, counterfeiting and others, brought before that body for their consideration. Forty-five indictments in all, were returned by the grand jury to be heard at the May term of the court.

HIGHWAY SAFETY TO BE FEATURED

ing out an educational series beginning with definite instructions to our public schools.

"Trial justices and common-law attorneys can be most helpful in accident prevention and they have been and are rendering valuable assistance in the enforcement of our traffic laws. It is a primary purpose of the State Safety Conference to render such officers, practical assistance in other that they may become even more helpful in serving the public in this respect."

Norfolk Judge to Speak

Two outstanding sectional programs have been prepared for the enforcement and highway safety groups. Law Enforcement will be featured in a section headed by Judge R. E. Spence, Jr., of Norfolk, while a section on street and highway safety methods. Many outstanding national speakers have been secured to deliver addresses on phases of the safety problem as it pertains to the highways, the home, the factory and recreation and particularly on law enforcement as a safety medium.

Brick Suitable For Painting

Brick houses do not require special treatment when they are repainted. They usually receive and hold for years any paints designed for use on wood or cement.

The first step should be to point up the structure if mortar between the bricks is crumbling. Efflorescence of water-soluble salts often appears on unpainted brick structures. These salts are mainly compounds of calcium brought to the surface by absorbed rain water. Before painting the wall the efflorescence should be removed by dry brushing or by scrubbing with water.

Before painting, new brick buildings should be allowed to dry for several months. The priming coat in such instances should contain a very substantial amount of high-grade exterior spar varnish to act as a sealing film.

Private financial institutions insured by the Federal Housing Administration are now making funds available for this type of home modernization.

Cellar Trunk Room Is Asset to Home

Houses that do not have attics offer a storage problem.

Where a dwelling has a cellar, a satisfactory trunk-storage space can be arranged by partitioning off a portion of the basement. Care should be exercised to see that the storage space is free from dampness.

Academy Theatre of Air New Kind of Radio Show

RADIO history is made at night.

Every week beginning April 3, the Warner Brothers Academy Theatre, a unique new program sponsored by Gennet Wax Company, will present young stars in a history-making dramatic program.

Listeners will hear plays that have never before been presented as well as popular revivals. They are urged to write to Warner Brothers if they'd like to see the air show made into a movie.

The first presentation, "One Way Passage," appeared some years ago with Kay Francis and William Powell in the leading roles and won the Academy Award for 1932.

On April 5 at 7:30 p.m. E.S.T. from WMCA, New York City, and from 22 other Trans-American Broadcasting Stations during the first week in April, Gloria Dickson, Ronald Reagan and Henry O'Neill will re-enact for radio audiences this exciting story of a boy and a girl, each with but a month to live, who meet in Hong Kong and take the same steamer to San Francisco.

Every week different players from the Warner Bros. School of Acting will be heard in stories of yesterday and movies of tomorrow.

Gloria Dickson, lovely young star, exercises to keep fit. When she's hungry, she likes a beefsteak, lots of seafood and rich desserts. She is currently playing in "The Deep South."

Ronald Reagan is an all-around athlete as well as an exciting film star. Beside being an expert marksman and steeplechase rider, he is a reserve officer in the United States Cavalry.

Henry O'Neill, beloved character actor, has supported probably more famous actors than any one else in Hollywood. Some day he'll like to be a director and producer, preferably on Broadway.

Dick Foran, guest star on the first broadcast of the "Encores of the Air" is a Princeton graduate, an ex-ace and an accomplished musician. He not only sings, but plays the violin, the guitar and the accordion.

In Days Gone By

Ten Years Ago With The Virginia Beach News

R. E. Taylor, present town treasurer who recently filed notice of candidacy for a second term announced yesterday that he had decided to withdraw from the treasurer's contest. He stated that he had reached this decision only after giving the matter mature consideration.

Miss Mary Spencer Forrester of Richmond will be the weekend guest of Miss Anne Everett at her home in Linkhorn Park.

Mrs. V. H. Herber of Warrenton will be the weekend guest of Mrs. Richard Everett at her home in Linkhorn Park.

Miss Mildred Taylor will ride in the third annual horse show to be held on May Day tomorrow at Randolph-Macon Woman's College. She will ride in the novice horsemanship event.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Britt entertained Tuesday evening at their home in Lynnhaven in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Britt's mother, Mrs. E. V. Julian. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out. Guests numbered forty-four.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. John Cole will entertain Saturday afternoon at their home on 52nd Street in honor of the ninth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Cecilia Cole.

Tea

Mrs. H. Floyd Dormire and Mrs. Paul W. Ackies have issued invitations for a tea to be given at the home of Mrs. Dormire on 52nd Street, Wednesday, May 11 from 4 to 6 p. m.

PAINT-WOOD

Certain types of rooms and period furniture are given an effective setting by painting three sides of the room and paneling the fourth wall. This is particularly true where Georgian design is employed and there is a fireplace. The fireplace wall is the paneled one.

The pioneers did not invent the sod house. Indians built sod houses before the appearance of the white man.

Health Notes

"It will not be many weeks until a definite number of Virginians will be sneezing, wheezing and in other ways evidencing that they are victims of so-called hay fever. Many of these persons, either because of ignorance or carelessness will endure their affliction, bolstered only by the distant hope of the 'fall frost' which will mark the end of their ordeal for this year. On the face of it, these allergies have a rather hard row to hoe. However, for many of them, this situation could be altered most favorably," states Dr. I. C. Riggins, State Health Commissioner.

"Indeed, science has developed a successful method of combating many forms of this seasonal affliction. For persons who possess this unusual sensitiveness to the pollens of certain plants, weeds, grasses and trees serums have been developed to counteract it.

"Before this type of treatment can be effective it is essential that the particular pollen causing the disturbance be discovered. Guesswork plays no part in this investigation. The physician will make simple and painless tests with extracts of pollens that are suspected of causing the trouble. By way of a needle prick a minute portion of each of the pollens under suspicion is placed under the skin. And that extract which generates a slight local reaction points to the offender. Inoculation of that type of serum then is administered.

"The potency of this treatment depends upon its use prior to the pollen season. Immunity must be established early. Bodily reactions to this type of therapy are slow. In fact, some months, involving several treatments at intervals, are required.

"While this preventive is not effective in all cases, the percentage of successes has been sufficiently high for every hay fever sufferer to give it a fair chance. In some patients, the result while not totally satisfactory has noticeably reduced the suffering.

"However, the point is that to rout hay fever, time must be taken by the forelock, the condition anticipated, and the preventive measures applied early. Later, decidedly, is too late."

Less than a week after New York's gigantic tri-borough bridge was opened to the public, $35,000 in tolls has been collected.

YOU CAN'T GET ENOUGH — SWEET STUFF!

"Sweet stuff" is not only what teen-agers call the object of their affections, but it's a sort of cover-all term for all the goodies and sweetmeats and confections that, come holiday time, we make, eat, and enjoy.

Stuffed dates—those "sugar-plums" of poetry; crystallized fruit; nibble-bits of nuts and fruit peel; date of jam, of marmalade and conserve; cookies; cupcakes; even mounds of sherbet—all these are "sweet stuff" that make our holidays the sweeter! And here is our collection:

Holly-Day Dates

Stuff packages of juicy dates with nutmeats; fondant; fruit pastes; marshmallow; or candied fruit. Roll in sugar, shredded coconut or chopped nuts. Be sure to buy pasteurized dates, because these are the pure, safe kind; the ready-pitted save you time, and the large size packages save you money. For a brand new date confection, try:

Croole Date Roll

3 cups sugar
1 cup rich milk
1 1/2 cups nut meats
1 package pasteurized dates, sliced
Place sugar and milk in saucepan, stir over low flame until sugar is dissolved, increase heat and cook to soft ball stage (238° F.). Add sliced dates and boil 2 or 3 minutes longer to (242° F.). Remove from stove, cool, beat until thickened. Add nutmeats, and continue beating until mixture is firm enough to form into a roll about one and one-half inches in diameter. Wrap in wet cloth and let stand until thoroughly cold. Remove cloth and cut in slices. About 2 lbs.

Crystallized Grapefruit Rings

4 medium-size Florida grapefruit
3 cups sugar
Green coloring
1/2 cup white karo
1 1/2 cups water

Cut thin skinned Florida grapefruit crosswise into slices about 1/2 inch thick. Cut fruit out of slices with sharp-pointed knife; as much of white inner skin as trim edge of ring evenly, leaving as much of white inner skin as possible. Soak in salted water overnight. Next day drain and cook rings slowly in clear water until tender, changing water several times during cooking. Cook sugar, water and karo together for 5 minutes; that light green; add grapefruit rings and cook until they are transparent. Drain and dip in powdered sugar. About 16 rings.

Fraline Bananas (Good Holiday Dessert)

1/2 cup brown sugar
3-4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lime or lemon juice
1 tablespoon melted butter
1-3 cup chopped pecan or walnut meats

Cut peeled bananas lengthwise into halves and fry for about one minute in a small amount of butter. Place bananas into well greased baking dish. Mix brown sugar and salt together and sprinkle onto bananas. Pour lime or lemon juice and then the melted butter over sugar. Cover with chopped nuts. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) about 10 minutes, or until sugar melts and bananas are tender. Serve hot. 8 servings.

Orange Marmalade

Choose 4 Florida oranges with clear, thin skin. Cut with sharp knife into very thin slices, using all peel, pulp and juice (or cut peel into thin strips and fruit into thin slices if preferred). Measure fruit, firmly pressed down. Add 3 cups water for each cup of fruit. Cook to boiling, in large kettle, and boil rapidly for 40 minutes. Measure again and allow 3-4 cup sugar for each cup fruit mixture. Bring to boil; boil rapidly 20 minutes. Add sugar and 1 teaspoon salt; continue boiling until mixture jellies when poured from spoon (20-30 minutes). Let cool 15 minutes; pour into hot sterilized jars. When cold, seal with paraffin.

Candy Apples

8 medium apples
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons plain gelatine
1 cup walnut meats, chopped
Powdered sugar
Peel and core apples; (choose firm apples). Cook in sauce pan with 1-4 cup cold water until tender; force through sieve; add sugar, cook until thick (about 30 minutes), stirring occasionally. Soak gelatine in remaining 1-4 cup water; add to apple mixture, stirring until dissolved. Cool slightly; add walnut meats and lemon juice; mix well. Pour onto flat pan to 1/2 inch thickness. Place in refrigerator overnight. Cut, and roll in powdered sugar.

Under Stairs Space Houses Small Bar

Where a home boasts of a basement game room a pleasing addition may be made by converting the understairs space into a miniature bar.

No elaborate scheme of decoration is necessary. A collection of menus and wine lists from famous restaurants and hotels tacked on the walls and a mirror mounted on the ceiling gives the little hide-away an air of its own.

Lynnhaven Social Items of Interest

By MAURIE V. KELLS

The monthly business meeting of the Lynnhaven Social Club was held at the Hall Monday evening. The program was on "Mothers," after which stunts and refreshments were had.

The friends of Rev. and Mrs. T. Wesley tendered them a party Tuesday evening in the hall. Rev. Joseph Clower, Jr., and E. N. MacWilliams of Virginia Beach were the speakers. In behalf of the members of the Presbyterian church, Louis Philhower presented Mr. Wesley with a Masonic ring. Refreshments were served.

The young people of Lynnhaven Presbyterian Church will entertain the "Choristers" of Norfolk at supper preceding the "Song Festival" to be held in the Lynnhaven Presbyterian Church Sunday night, May 8th at eight o'clock.

Members of the Lynnhaven Presbyterian church invite you to join them Sunday night, May 8 at eight o'clock and hear the "Choristers" of Norfolk directed by Rev. Ernest Empurrian.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Hardin will render "Ave Maria" as a prelude to the regular Sunday morning service at the Lynnhaven Presbyterian Church.

Home Financing Is Brisk In Virginia

Spring home financing is exceptionally brisk in Virginia, the 21 Federal savings and loan associations in that State reported today to Preston Delano, Governor of the Federal Home Loan Bank System.

"During the past six months, home mortgage loans made by these associations rose from $16,000,000 to $12,300,000, an increase of $2,300,000," Mr. Delano said. "These loans were made on a direct reduction plan, with easy monthly payments like rent a plan which is proving popular everywhere."

Mr. Delano also called attention to the steady rise in assets and savings of these institutions. During the six-month period, assets increased $1,300,000 to a new record total of $13,800,000, he stated.

More than a $1,000,000 rise in savings during this period was reported. Savings invested in all Federal associations are protected up to $5,000 per investor by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, a $113,000,000 instrumentality of the United States Government.

Virginia Beach is among the cities and towns in Virginia in which Federal associations are established.

Surprise! A Frosted Cake Heart!

THIS is the time of year for table surprises. Mother's Day, Decoration Day, Children's Day, Father's Day—each suggests a new occasion for something special and different on the menu.

You can make this decorative chocolate cake heart with very little trouble, and lots of fun. It's grand for any sentimental occasion, from birthdays to wedding anniversaries. Give Mother the first one just to please her. Then use your imagination on your next cake, changing the inscription and decoration to fit the day.

Chocolate Cake—1/4 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, well beaten; 4 oz. cooking chocolate, melted; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 1/2 cup buttermilk; 1 cup pastry flour, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 2 egg whites, beaten stiff. Cream sugar and butter well. Add beaten egg yolks and melted chocolate, and beat again. Add soda and buttermilk, sifted flour and salt. Add vanilla and fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in greased heart cake pan in moderate oven.

Frosting—2 cups granulated sugar, 2 egg whites, 1/2 cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cook sugar and water slowly until it spins a thread. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry and pour the syrup in, a little at a time, beating all the time. Beat only until light and creamy, then add vanilla. Add a few drops of red vegetable coloring to make the desired shade of delicate pink. Spread.

Decorative icing—1 egg white and 1 cup confectioner's sugar, sifted. Put egg white in a large bowl. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating with a perforated wooden spoon 3 minutes each time, until stiff enough to spread. Separate into two or more dishes, depending on the number of colors you wish to use, and tint each quantity with the vegetable coloring desired.

Four Year Student Tells of Benefits

For the past four years I have been taking vocational agriculture, from which I have derived several benefits. Among these I shall first call attention to leadership and classroom discussion. In my third year I was president of the chapter, and for the first time in my life I found out just how hard it is to conduct a meeting in the proper way, according to parliamentary rules. During my course in agriculture we have had many classroom discussions. Also as vice-president of the Oceana chapter and P. A. N. Y. Federation I have acquired the ability to get up in front of a group of people without becoming as nervous as I did before taking part in these meetings.

During my years in agriculture I have won two trips to Blacksburg, but due to conditions at home I was not able to attend. I am sure that those who did go had a very interesting and enjoyable trip. Although I was not able to take these trips, I have been on tours with the P. A. N. Y. Federation. Last summer we took a tour to Hampton Institute, Langley Field, and Yorktown, where we spent a day enjoying the historical surroundings.

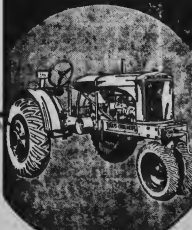

Another great benefit I have derived from agriculture is that of putting into practical use what I learn in the classroom. In school I study how a particular job should be done, and then at home I carry out the job as planned in school.

Boys Gain Benefits
Responsibility is a benefit which is gained by every boy who takes agriculture. Many of the boys who first start taking agriculture hardly know what responsibility is until after their first year's work. The object of the projects in agriculture is for the boy to own it, manage it, and receive the benefits from it. Thus the boys earn much of their spending money.

Besides the classroom learning and work carried on at home, the boys taking vocational agriculture have a period of about two weeks out of every six weeks period in the shop, where they gain knowledge and use of tools and machinery that will be of valuable use in later years, no matter what vocation or type of business they follow.

In carrying out the projects that the boy takes in vocational agriculture he keeps an accurate and careful record on each project, as to the number of hours devoted to the enterprise, the expenses, and receipts. This gives each boy a knowledge of farm bookkeeping, which is needed on every farm if it is to be successful.

List of Projects
During my first year I carried as my projects: (1) one acre corn making a net profit of $9.55; (2) 1 pig—net profit of $10.00 and (3) one acre soy beans as soil improvers which gave a net profit of $13.00 making of total of $29.85 from my first year's enterprises.

The second year I carried as my projects (1) 2 acres of corn—net profit of $26.85; (2) 1 brood sow—net profit of $26.10; (3) 100 baby chicks—net profit of $8.30; (4) 7 pigs for meat—net profit of $28.50 making a total of $89.85 for my net profit the second year.

The third year I carried as my projects the following—showing the net profit of each: (1) 4 acres corn—net profit $21.99; (2) 1 acre sweet potatoes—net profit $11.82; (3) 1 Brood sow—net profit $58.75; (4) 14 pigs for meat—net profit $13.25 making a total of $78.31 for the year's work.

From these profits and a little outside work I have been able to buy all my books and clothes while going to school, besides having spending money of my own, which is a benefit to every boy. In closing may I say that I have received more benefit from agriculture than any other subject that I have taken up during my four years in high school.

STATE DELEGATE TO KANSAS CITY

Virginia Team Made Creditable Showing in Judging Contest; Boys Enjoy Sights of City

As a member of the Virginia out-of-state F. F. A. dairy judging team, Marcus Oliver traveled to Kansas City, Mo., to compete in the National F. F. A. Judging Contest, which was held from October 16-18.

Virginia's team made a creditable showing in the national contest, placing first in the Jersey class, and eleventh in the entire dairy contest. In the milk contest, her team placed seventh in the nation.

During their stay in Kansas City, the Virginia delegation had as its headquarters the Hotel Baltimore, arriving there Saturday night, October 16, after a two days journey on a special coach from Christiansburg, Va. Included in the delegation were sixty F. F. A. boys with their advisors, making one of the largest delegations in the whole National Convention.

For the first time in the history of the F. F. A.'s, Virginia has the honor of having America's Star Farmer, a degree awarded to but one boy in the whole nation each year. Robert Lee Bristol, of Church Point, Va., received this degree as America's Star Farmer, and $500 in cash.

Livestock Show
During the same week that the National Convention of F. F. A.'s met, the American Royal Livestock Show was also in session, and all the F. F. A. judging was conducted in the American Royal Judging Arena.

These shows, which were put on by the A. R., were a treat within themselves, and included showings of all kinds of livestock, including draft horses, race horses and sheep.

The National Horse and Mule Pulling Contests was held held at this show and was of particular interest to the farm boys.

In the morning the animals were judged in the main arena by the Future Farmers, while in the middle of the day they were judged by official judges, and in the afternoon they were shown in the ring to the public. Much interest was shown in beef cattle, as that part of the country is noted for its best. Saddle horse shows were featured on the program every day.

Sight Seeing
While at Kansas City, the party went on numerous sight seeing tours of the city; included in these was a trip to the Swift Packing Co., where they saw the complete process from the killing to the packing of the meat.

All the meetings of the national convention were held in the Municipal Auditorium. This ten story building covered a large city block. This building contained several small meeting rooms, a large music hall which is considered the finest in the world; two large exhibition halls, one of which has a four-acre floor space, and a large arena or indoor stadium. The arena, which is 96 feet from the floor to the ceiling, is the third largest in the world, and has a seating capacity of 15,000 people.

In the main Arena, the music hall, the theaters, and the large committee rooms, it is possible to assemble and seat 40,000 persons at one time. Because of the arrangement of exit facilities, these crowds could be discharged into the streets in about minutes. The entire building is completely air-conditioned.

Marcus reported on his return home that words could not describe this 12-day trip, that the average F. F. A. member could not visualize what a trip like this really is, but it should be the aim of each boy to win such a trip and see for himself all of these wonderful sights.

Increase In NYA Jobs In Virginia

An increase of 600 youth holding National Youth Administration jobs in Virginia high schools was reported in Richmond by George J. Oliver, State supervisor of the NYA high school program. This raises the total of NYA school workers to 4,117. An additional fifty students is expected by the end of the term, Mr. Oliver said, and the total annual expenditure will amount to $113,750. The high school program is one phase of NYA activity, the other two being the college program and the work projects for youth no longer in school.

Mr. Oliver accounted for the high school increase by saying that the money allotted for the first half of the session was not entirely used up and has been made available to youth applying for work during the present half-session. Another factor is the practice of giving work to two students at $3 a month rather than paying one student the maximum of $6 a month.

Money to finance the school program was originally estimated at $131,250, but recently a reduction of $17,500 was effected. The total amount being spent this year is $24,448 less than that spent in 1936-37 as the original appropriation was smaller. At present the NYA employs students in 687 Virginia high schools of which one third are Negro schools.

Correct Lighting A Health Protection

Correct lighting in the home plays an important part in maintaining the health of the family. In planning a new home or in modernizing an old one the lighting system should be given close study and the interdependency of paint with light taken into consideration.

Importance of choosing the best available fixtures and wall colors that readily reflect light without glare is evident. Painters, builders, and electricians combine to give their best efforts for satisfactory results in order that buildings of all kinds may be made more comfortable and efficient places in which to live and work.

Dark gloomy days may be placed away and with proper lighting the surroundings can assume a cheerful, stimulating atmosphere.

Loans to finance new lighting systems or to redesign old ones may be obtained under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration at reasonable cost.

OUR TRIP TO BLACKSBURG

Every year the boys in state of Virginia have a goal to strive for and that is a trip to Blacksburg to attend the rally given every year by the state. I, along with four other boys had the good fortune of going.

About 5 o'clock Monday morning June 17 Oceana's group including Gilbert Briggs, Jack Malbon, George Broughton, Leroy Bishop, Frank Malbon, and Mr. Kline, our instructor, left for Blacksburg. While on the way we saw many interesting places that we had never seen before. For some of us it was the first time in the mountains and a very beautiful place it was. We arrived in Blacksburg about 2:30 p. m., we registered, found our rooms and unpacked. By that time for supper, then for a stroll around the campus. Blacksburg is a very small town but thickly populated. The V. P. I. Campus is a beautiful place with its large building and a newly constructed auditorium. Monday night at 7 o'clock was time for our first meeting. It was conducted by President of State FFA James Via. When the meeting was over all boys went to town and later turning in at 11 o'clock the regular time.

The next morning we started judging, except for those who went to leadership classes. I went to the leadership class; conducted by Mr. Moody. It was very enjoyable and I learned a lot of parliamentary procedure from that class which will help in later life.

Outdoor Sports Enjoyed
The next two days we went to class while the others judged. There were no classes in the evening as that time was devoted to outdoor sports. I was lucky enough to make the 3rd base position on Eastern Virginia baseball team. There were also track and field events. On the last night there, an amateur contest was given in which Leroy Bishop and I participated, but we did not win the prize.

Next morning at 7 o'clock A. M. we left for home. All the boys decided to come back by the Skyline Drive and after getting to the top we stopped and took some pictures of the scenery and of the boys in the car. It is a very beautiful scenery with the green valleys and the mountain slopes which made a very lovely background for the pictures we took. The Skyline Drive cannot be fully seen on one drive over it, and every one that sees it once will want to see it again. Leaving the Skyline we headed for Manassas, the home of Mr. Kline. We spent the night at his home and left the next morning about 7:15 for home. We came back by way of Fredericksburg and Richmond getting home about 2:30 P. M.

CAVALIER HORSE SHOW OPENS

Of special interest to the average horseman will be the pleasure horse classes, which will be held on Sunday afternoon. These classes are for horses ridden every day for pleasure by their owners, and all local horsemen of this description are urged to enter their mounts. These horses will be what might be called every-day horses, not show horses.

Championship division for saddle, hunter and jumper championships will offer many thrills to the gallery as these top-flight horses contest for honors.

A feature of this year's show will be presentation, by Mrs. Lester T. Hundt, of a new Cavalier Challenge Cup. Mrs. Hundt retired the original cup last spring when she won the third leg on it with Todmaster, the other two wins having been in 1934 with her mount Tinker Bell and in 1935 with Todmaster.

Richmond Horses to Show—For the first time in the history of the Club entries have been received from Richmond, Va. Dr. Ernest Trices has entered horses from his stable, as has Mr. Richard Keely, assistant manager of the John Marshall Hotel.

The Judges are Major Henry L. Leonard, Washington, D. C., an advisor to the remount service of the U. S. A.; Mr. Samuel Walter Taylor, New York editor of Rider and Driver Magazine, and an authority on equitation, and Dr. William B. Newcomb, Norfolk, Va., who has acted as judge at the Cavalier Horse Shows since they began and it would not be the Cavalier Show without him and his outstandingly correct decisions.

Numerous Social Functions—Mrs. Fontaine Maury Thraves will entertain on Saturday with luncheon for the judges and Mrs. Leonard, who will accompany Major Leonard. Following the show matinee on Saturday Mrs. Hundt will give a cocktail party for the exhibitors in the Hunt Room at the Cavalier Hotel.

Another important social function will be the luncheon on Sunday when Commander and Mrs. Hundt will be hosts in their cottage in Bay Colony, Virginia Beach, for the exhibitors at the Cavalier Horse Show.

Quite the social highlight of the two-day meet will be the Horse Show Ball which will be held in the Colonial Room of the hotel. Among those in the receiving line will be Commander and Mrs. L. E. Gehres, Coronado Beach, California; Commander and Mrs. Lester T. Hundt; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hill, Durham, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Morton G. Eaton, New York, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Windholz, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. Eaton, Mr. W. B. Huxter, Mr. H. Warfield Leeke and Mr. Thomas Watson.

GIRL SCOUTS TO MEET THIS MONTH

Old-Age Insurance Types of Benefits

There are three types of old-age insurance benefits. First, the monthly retirement benefits, which will be payable in 1942 and thereafter; second, the lump-sum payments which are provided for workers who reach age 65 before they qualify for monthly benefits; and third, lump-sum payments which are made to the relatives or estates of workers who die before they receive old-age insurance benefits to which they are entitled.

Lump-sum payments may be made now, or at any time after January 1, 1937. Those who are entitled to such payments are men and women who have earned wages, since the last day of 1936, in some factory, workshop, mill, mine, store, or some other line of industry or business covered by the law, and who have attained the age of 65 since January 1, 1937. They need not retire in order to receive lump-sum payments.

The United States Government will pay death benefits to relatives or estates of wage-earners who have died since January 1, 1937, and who had participated in the old-age insurance system during 1937 or thereafter.

Here are three stories which illustrate the three types of benefits:

(a) Mary Johnson works in a shirt factory, five years or more, after the last day of 1936. She works in the factory part of these years and in that time is paid $2,000, or more. Then she reaches the age of 65 and quits work in the factory. For the rest of her life she will receive a Government check every month in payment of her old-age monthly retirement benefits.

(b) Now suppose Jane Gray works in a factory two years after 1936 and before she reaches the age of 65. After she reaches the age of 65 she will receive a lump-sum payment of old-age insurance, amounting to 3 1/2 percent of all wages she was paid by the factory during those two years. And she will get that lump-sum payment whether she quits work or not.

(c) Suppose Linda Marsh is employed in a drygoods store several years after 1936. Then she dies before she reaches the age of 65 and, of course, before she receives any of her old-age insurance benefits. What happens? Relatives or her estate will receive a lump-sum payment amounting to 3 1/2 percent of all the wages she was paid, by the store, after the last day of 1936.

Men or women, who have reason to believe that they are entitled to lump-sum payments to old-age insurance, should write or call at the nearest office of the Social Security Board.

BAYNE THEATRE PREVUES

Constance Bennett and Brian Aherne are co-starred for the first time in the Hal Roach-M.G.-M production, "Merrily We Live," opening here today for a two-day engagement. Prominently cast are Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Patry Kelly, Ann Dvorak, Tom Brown, Bonita Granville and Marjorie Rameau. The action of the picture revolves around the antics of the Kilbourne family, as mad, fantastic and carefree a group as were ever assembled under one roof. Each is a rugged individualist, but together they present a united front that is bewildering to their sedate and conservative suburban neighbors.

The unique situation of a New York Superior Court judge awarding a husband $400 a month alimony from his wife who earns more money than he, provides the highlights of "The First Hundred Years," modern domestic comedy-drama which is coming to the Bayne Theatre for two days starting Sunday, May 9. Robert Montgomery plays the husband, Virginia Bruce his wife and Warren William plays her business partner in the film.

The newest thing in college musicals, "Start Cheering," will be shown on the local screen Tuesday, May 10 with a large cast of star names including Jimmy Durante, Walter Connolly, Joan Perry, Charles Starrett, Raymond Walburn, Gertrude Niesen and Johnny Green and his orchestra. "Walking Down Broadway," a drama depicting the happenings in the lives of six chorus girls pledged to a reunion when their show closes New Year's Eve, will fill the second half of the bill on Tuesday. Heading the cast are Claire Trevor, Phyllis Brooks, Leah Ray, Dixie Dunbar and Michael Whalen.

Tarzan calls! And the jungle rans with new thrills, fierce tribes charge in battle, hundreds of wild animals fight for their king and a glamorous girl answers the call of love in the exciting new "Tarzan's Revenge." 20th Century-Fox release which has been booked for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, May 11 and 12. Glen Morris plays the title role and Eleanor Holmes the leading feminine part.

Fifth Anniversary Of Baptist Pastor

A reception in honor of the Rev. Walter J. Meade, and commemorating the fifth anniversary of his pastorate, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the London Bridge Baptist Church. All members of the congregation are invited to attend. A program under the direction of the Rev. Elwood McChes, has been arranged for the evening and consists of a reception to be followed by a musical entertainment.

The speakers on the program for the evening are C. T. Whitehead, who will address the gathering in behalf of the Deacons of the church, and Russell Gilbert, Superintendent of the Sunday School, who will talk on that phase of the church work. The Rev. J. B. Sawyer, pastor of the Larchmont Baptist Church, Norfolk, will be the guest speaker of the occasion.

The Senior classes of the church school are sponsoring the reception in honor of their pastor, and have made the arrangements for the evening. The ladies of the congregation will serve refreshments at the conclusion of the program.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING

Recommendations from Changes in Acreage Planting to Sweet Potatoes and Small Grain Crops Made to Farmers of County at Recent Meeting; Community Committees Appointed

At a recent meeting of the Princess Anne County Agricultural Board, officers for the year 1938 were elected and installed in office. J. N. Baxter was elected President and E. B. Wise, Jr., Vice-President and E. B. Wise, Jr., Secretary.

Prior to the election of officers, the Board members heard W. H. Rure of the State Agricultural Board explain the purposes of the meeting and proceeded to recommend certain changes in quotas set by the 1937 committee. Among other things it was decided that the five thousand acres to be taken out of farms before 1950 had already been accomplished due to the acquisition of lands in the county by the Federal Game Preserve and the State Seashore Park, and that no further recommendation of this character would be made at this time.

Cover Crops Recommended It was the opinion of the Board that more winter cover crops were needed in the county, and all farmers were urged to plant as much acreage of summer legumes for green manure purposes as possible. It was suggested that all land be planted to winter cover crops that is not used for vegetable crops.

The Board agreed that acreage of small grain is on the increase in the county, and that the goal set for 1960 had been reached, but that there should be further encouragement along this line in order that sufficient seed might be harvested for winter cover crops. Wheat acreage was set at 20 per cent and added to the area to be planted to oats or barley.

Pinote Acreage Correct It was the opinion of the members that the Irish potato acreage was correct for the county, but that error had been made in cutting the sweet potato acreage. Accordingly a 10 per cent increase was added to the recommendation for this crop. The fact was brought out at the meeting, that the seeming increase in other vegetable crops, as shown in the 1937 report, was misleading due to the fact that double cropping is practiced, and that fact was not shown by the previous census. The 1937 chart was corrected to care for this apparent increase. The need for better hog pastures was recognized and it was recommended that seeding with lespedeza be done to accomplish this.

STATE MEETING TO BE ATTENDED BY BEACH LIONS

F. G. Morrison, President, to Represent Virginia Beach Lions Club at Twenty-Fourth District Convention

Governor Price on Hand Series of Social and Recreational Features Arranged for Visiting Lions and Lionesses

The Twenty-Fourth District State Convention of Lions International will hold its Fifteenth Annual Convention in Richmond, Va., on June 8th, 9th and 10th. F. G. Morrison, Oceana, has been appointed Special Representative of the Virginia Beach Lions Club to handle all details in connection with this convention which is expected to have an attendance of over 2,000 Lions and their wives.

Invitations will be mailed in the near future to all of the Lions of the State, urging them to attend. From advance reservations this promises to be a record-breaking convention. His Excellency Governor James H. Price and Mayor J. Fulmer Bright are expected to be on hand to welcome the delegates of this convention, which will officially open on Wednesday, June 8th, with the Deputy District Governors Ball which will be held in the ballroom of the John Marshall Hotel.

Banquet Thursday Thursday's business session will open at 9:00 A. M., lasting until 1:00 P. M. Lion and Lioness will assemble at the Country Club of Virginia during the afternoon for a full evening of golf, swimming, dancing, etc. Tea will be served at 8 P. M. Maloney, president of the Manchester, South Richmond, Club. Mr. Otis M. Green is general chairman of the convention. Mrs. Charles H. West, Jr., and Mrs. Andrew Welch are in charge of the Ladies' Entertainment Committee.

Garden Club Plans "Old Rose" Lecture

Arrangements were completed at the meeting of the Princess Anne Garden Club, at the Cavalier Hotel, for the illustrated lecture to be held Wednesday, May 18th, at 8 o'clock. The lecture will be given by Mrs. Frederick Love Keys, of Great Neck, Long Island, and Calvert County, Maryland. Mrs. Keys will talk on the subject "Old Fashioned Roses." After the business session of the meeting at which the arrangements for the lecture were made, the club members were entertained as the guest of the Cavalier Hotel at a floral tea in the Poca-hontas loggia. All members visited the Cavalier Gardens during the afternoon.

School Children Obey Regulations

With Maytime ushering in the spring and summer play season for millions of youngsters, and caution on the part of motorists and pedestrians needed to assure a minimum number of personal injuries, the AAA school safety poster for May carries a timely message. In black and orange, said Mr. John B. Day, vice-president of the Tidewater Automobile Association, the May poster features "Al", the "hero" of the school patrols and his dog, "Ace". "Al" is holding his pet on the sidewalk as an approaching car speeds down the street. "Wait—Ace—a car is coming," is the message on the May poster. "Impatience is one of the most frequent causes of accidents," said Mr. Day, "and school children are setting a precedent for obeying traffic rules and regulations. Much of the credit is due to the effective safety work in the schools, of which the posters are an important part. Motorists everywhere are being thus reminded of the danger."

Virginia Beach Air Mail To Go From Local Field

Postmaster announces service from his office Thursday, May 19th.

As a special feature of the Air-Mail Week celebration, arrangements have been made to have a mail plane pick-up service for Virginia Beach and Cape Henry post offices. This will be part of the program for Thursday, May 19th, and so far as is known will mark the first time that a mail plane has taken mail direct from the local office as part of the regular service.

Officers Elected By Woman's Club

The Princess Anne Woman's Club held its final meeting of the year at Lawson Hall, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodgman, on Tuesday of this week and elected Mrs. Edward Herbert, president of the Club for the coming year. Her election to the office was by an unanimous vote. Others who were unanimously elected to serve with Mrs. Herbert included Mrs. Blair Foteate, Mrs. MacIn Simmonds, Mrs. Hugh Simkins, vice-presidents; Mrs. Edward Turner, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Hodgman, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Harold Cook, treasurer.

The meeting was addressed by Dr. C. C. Smith of Norfolk, on the subject of "Cancer Control". The business session and lecture were followed by an exhibition of flower paintings by Norfolk artist, after which an informal reception was held for those present in the old boxwood gardens of Lawson Hall.

POPPY DAY MAY 28 IN COUNTY

Princess Anne Legion Auxiliary to Sell Memorial Poppies for Disabled Veterans

Preparations for the observance of Poppy Day, Saturday, May 28th, are being completed by Princess Anne County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Foy C. Casper, Unit President, announced today. Arrangements are being directed by Mrs. A. L. Barco, Sr., chairman, of the Poppy Day committee, assisted by a large corps of workers. Plans are being developed to distribute memorial poppies in every part of the county.

"Honor the World War dead and aid the war's living victims, is the meaning of the memorial poppy," said Mrs. Casper. "The poppy, which bloomed so strikingly among the trenches and battle graves in France and Belgium, became the flower of the dead during the war. Ever since the war it has been worn in all English-speaking countries annually as an individual tribute to the men who gave their lives in the conflict."

Made by Disabled Veterans "The little red flower takes added significance from the fact that it is made by the war disabled, and that it contributes to the welfare of the disabled men and the dependent families of veterans. Everyone who wears a poppy on Poppy Day, not only is showing remembrance and honor for the men who died in the war, but is giving help to those who still are bearing the burdens of the war in suffering, privation and lost opportunities. All contributions made for the flower will go to support the rehabilitation and welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary which means so much to the disabled veterans and the families of the dead and disabled."

Women Eager to Serve "The response to the Poppy Day call reminds me of the World War days," Mrs. Barco said. "Now as then the women of Princess Anne County are eager to serve in patriotic work. They realize the importance of this day."

POTATO FARMERS VOTING TODAY IN P. A. COUNTY

Referendum on Potato Marketing Control Being Held in Thirteen Virginia Counties

POLLS OPEN ALL DAY Ten Potato Producing States Holding Similar Vote to Determine Will of Farmers

May 13 and 14 have been set as dates for the grower-referendum in Virginia on a proposed marketing agreement and order, to regulate the handling of Irish potatoes in designated early and intermediate producing sections of 13 states, according to the State Office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Under direction of county agricultural conservation committee in designated counties, the referendum also will be held during the same week in Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, and Maryland.

Where Farmers Will Vote Balloting will take place from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., on both days, at polls designated by the committees. The following is a schedule of places for voting in Princess Anne County: County Office (courthouse) on both 12th and 13th from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.; Creeds, Cape on May 12th from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.; Pleasant Ridge Postoffice on May 13th from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.; Mansfield's Store Blackwater, May 12th from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

In the counties covered by the agreement, each producer of potatoes for market is entitled to one vote in the referendum. Virginia counties where voting will be held are Accomack, Northampton, Princess Anne, Norfolk, Elizabeth City, Warwick, York, Nansemond, James City, Mathews, Gloucester, Middlesex, and Isle of Wight.

Secretary Approves The proposed marketing agreement has been tentatively approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, following a series of 17 public hearings held recently in the 13 early and intermediate states at which producers and handlers discussed the proposed program.

Growers will indicate in the referendum whether they favor issuance of an order binding all handlers in the designated areas to the terms and conditions of the proposed marketing agreement. The agreement has been submitted to handlers for their signature.

Under the provisions of the Marketing Agreement Act, the Secretary of Agriculture may issue an order if two-thirds of the producers, by number or by volume, voting in the referendum, favor or approve the issuance of such an order and handlers of 50 percent of the volume of potatoes shipped have signed the marketing agreement. If producers approve the issuance of an order and sufficient handlers do not sign, the order, making the marketing agreement binding on all handlers concerned, may be issued by the Secretary, with the approval of the President.

Program Outlined The program as tentatively approved for the 13 early and intermediate states would prohibit the shipment in interstate commerce of potatoes of lower grade than No. 2 and of smaller size than one and one-half inches in diameter. It would also permit further limitations on the shipment of other small or inferior quality potatoes from any area upon the recommendation of the local committee, if approved by the Secretary. During any period when control measures are operative for any area, Federal-State inspection would be required on interstate shipments.

Development of a marketing program for the early and intermediate potato producing areas followed a joint conference at Washington of representative growers of all potato growing

Tidewater Horse Show This Week End Feature In County

More Than 100 Entries for the Caroline Farms Event Assure Excellence of Performance; Best Show Promised by Those in Charge of Arrangements

The Tidewater Horse Show to be held at Caroline Farms, near Kempeville, will be the out of door feature of this week end. The three-day performance of horse and rider promises to bring to the Kempeville show ring a program of 52 classes which for excellence has never been exceeded in Tidewater. A special attraction of the show will be the Friday night classes to be held under arc lights. The opening session of the program will get started promptly at 1:30 Friday afternoon, with the night performance concluding that days part of the show. Morning and afternoon classes will show Saturday, and Sunday will witness the climax of the program with the showing of the championship classes.

Best Show Promised Those in charge of the arrangements for the three day event promise a better show than ever before. It is stated that more than 100 horses have already been entered and that more are expected before post time. The fifty two classes on the program offer a varied and complete opportunity to show the possibilities of all the entries.

For those interested in colorful performance the Friday night program to be held under arc lights will offer the most interest. The entrants in this class will be costumed in every manner in which the mounted man has clothed himself. There will be jockeys, cowboys, sheikhs, Indians and Canadian Mounties in this event, and many other characters and types will be seen.

Children's Classes Events The children's classes will largely be grouped on the Saturday morning program, and that afternoon will witness the showing of several of the gallop and hunter classes always enjoyed on horse show programs. Sunday afternoon will be devoted to the showing of the championship classes with the Manalocus Lankford Challenge Cup class as one of the features. This event is a race against time over 10 jumps and will be held in the open course adjacent to the show ring.

The many local and out of town entries on the program, the general excellence of the horses and the unmatched beauty of the setting for the Tidewater Horse Show combine to give promise to one of the best shows ever held in Virginia.

Lee's Prayer Book Returned To Home

The well worn prayer book of General Robert Edward Lee is the latest of the many relics of the hero of the Confederacy to return to Virginia. The book this month was presented to the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation by Ralph Rogers, of Knoxville, Tenn., the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce announced today. It will in the future be on display at historic Stratford, birthplace of more than fifty famous members of the Lee family, in Westmoreland County, including General Lee.

The ancient prayer book was located eight years ago in Tennessee by Mrs. Horace Van Deventer, Tennessee director of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, and was presented to the organization by Mr. Rogers in memory of his wife, who devoted much of her life to aid in the restoration of Stratford.

The book was presented General Lee by Colonel S. Bassett French, September 7th, 1860. Another priceless gift to the Association this month is a letter, presented by Emil Hurji, of Washington, addressed to Richard Henry Lee, one of the two signers of the Declaration of Independence to be born at Stratford. It is signed by Charles Thomson, and informs Mr. Lee of his election as president of the Congress for the year 1780.

MAY THE 15-28 AIR MAIL WEEK

Twentieth Anniversary of Air Mail Service Next Week Marked by Nation Wide Celebration

LOCAL OFFICE EQUIPPED

Now Operates to Every State and Possession; Had Small Beginning After World War

Calling attention to the fact that next week, May 15th to 28th will be celebrated as National Air-Mail Week throughout the United States and its possessions, and urging the public to make use of the modern and efficient facilities for rapid mail delivery, Paul R. Youngs, Chairman, at National Headquarters, established for the movement said: "With one exception, air-mail service is now available in every American State, and foreign routes cover Mexico, Central and South America, the West Indies, the Philippines and other isles of the sea, and the Orient, with the expectation that the service will soon be extended to Europe."

From Small Beginning "Thus from tiny beginnings 20 years ago has been developed the giant industry, in the fabrication of which the Post Office Department of the United States Government has played a guiding and effective hand."

From its own pioneering and exhibition of an unconquerable faith in the practical possibilities of aviation against odds discouraging and baffling, the Post Office Department today offers a swift and reliable airmail service to the people of the entire continent at rates modest and reasonable and in reach of the public of even only mediocre circumstances."

Hopes of Department "During the celebration of National Air-Mail Week, it is the desire of the Post Office Department to enlist the interests of the American people in this branch of the service and to invite their support and patronage of this function of the Federal Government which is dedicated to their practical progress, a service of incomparable swiftness and demonstrated efficiency in meeting the postal needs and demands of the American public in these high-speed and heavy-pressure periods."

Fishing Contest On Eastern Shore

Virginia's first saltwater fishing tournament, welcoming to Virginia's ocean front the arrival of the red drum channel bass, will be held at Cobb's Island, off the Eastern Shore of Virginia, May 12 to 14, inclusive. Fishermen forming the local association today announced completion of details. Bounties will leave each day from Oyster, Virginia, for the island where surf casting for the big fellows will be the subject of the tournament.

Backing the event will be a local fishermen's association, handling registration, guides and other details, and the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and the Virginia Saltwater Fishermen's Association. A large delegation from New Jersey already has made reservations and more than a hundred competitors for the various prizes offered are expected.

Latest News From Oceana High School

The Oceana Parent - Teacher Association will meet Tuesday, May 17, in the school auditorium.

One of the main business features of the meeting will be the election of officers. Mrs. Greenville Wright, Mrs. McTurnan, and Mrs. Peters comprise the nominating committee.

On Thursday, May 19, the Welfare Committee of Oceana will hold a Pre School Round-up at the school at one o'clock. Mrs. Dennis Ferebee, the chairman of the committee, has charge of the arrangements.

At this time all children who have never been to school will have an opportunity to visit the school. Provision has been made for the vaccination of those who so desire, and other clinical preparations have also been made.

Cofers, interior decorator of Norfolk, will install draperies in the Oceana Auditorium next week. The draperies have been made possible by contributions from the individual home rooms and from the Parent-Teacher Association. The work will be completed before the commencement exercises.

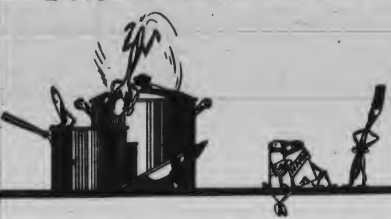

Allen Lester, Junior of Oceana, won first place in the Boys Public Reading Contest, which was held at the University of Virginia, Friday, May 6.

Allen competed with boys from the Class B schools throughout the entire state.

Oceana also sent contestants for Girls Public Speaking, for the track events, and for the one-act play contest.

Bill Dawley and Bobby Ball, contestants in the Track Meet, won third place in the broad jump and fourth place in the 300 yard running event respectively.

MAY FLOWERS—THAT YOU CAN EAT!

Peas Keep Parties From Getting Frey

Those May flowers that April showers are traditionally supposed to bring, are with us in fact. They can be on our tables in fancy as well, if you learn how to make "flowers you can eat!"

No tortured shapes or queer blossoms tied with crepe paper are intended for your May festivities. Edible peas can be in good taste—and taste good—whether they be salads, desserts, cakes, or garnish.

Queen it over May parties, with some of these flower-adorned and petal-fancied; they're new and novel and festive as a yard of tulle!

Daisy Salad

Drain the peas from one No. 2 tin of orange and grapefruit sections, reserving juice to use in Fruit Salad Dressing. Arrange alternate segments of grapefruit and orange in petal form on salad plate. Fill cavity in center with a mound of pitted pasteurized dates. Garnish with crisp fresh mint leaves.

Fruit Salad Dressing: Beat together 3 tablespoons fruit juice (drained from canned grapefruit and orange) ½ cup masala, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika and few grains of pepper; sweeten to taste with liquid honey.

Fetal Sherbet

To contents of one package of ready gingerbread mix add ¼ cup water. Stir until smooth pour batter in paper cups or greased muffin tins; bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. The gingerbread mix based on Mary Washington's recipe gives best results. To serve, split cup cakes in half, crosswise, and put together with ice cream or whipped cream. To make petals, slice peeled ripe bananas crosswise, cutting "on the bias" of the banana to make large elongated slices. Place banana "petals" around the edge of each individual cake on serving plate. Put additional ice cream or whipped cream on top of cake and garnish with banana slices, topped by a halved red cherry.

May Blossom Cake

1-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 sgs. unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1½ cups ground Brazil nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream

together until light and fluffy. Stir in beaten egg. Stir in chocolate and blend well. Add flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, alternately with milk. Stir in 1 cup of the ground Brazil nuts and vanilla. Four batter into two eight-inch greased cake pans and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Sprinkle each layer with remaining half-cup ground Brazil nuts, and frost each layer with delicately pink May Flower Frosting. Slice whole Brazil nuts lengthwise, using a sharp knife. Arrange three lengthwise halves, together, cut side up at intervals on top of cake, to represent flowers; garnish each "flower" with thin strips of angelica to represent stems and leaves.

May Flower Frosting

2 eggs whites, unbeaten
1½ cups sugar
5 tablespoons water
1½ teaspoons white karo
Red Coloring
Put unbeaten egg whites, sugar, water and karo in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until sugar is dissolved. Place over boiling water, beating constantly with egg beater and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add vanilla and enough vegetable coloring to make a delicate pink; beat until thick enough to spread.

Spring Gelatin

1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups hot, freshly made coffee
½ teaspoon vanilla
1-3 cup heavy cream
Put gelatin in top of a double boiler; pour in cold water; let stand at room temperature 5 to 10 minutes; add sugar. Stir over boiling water until gelatin and sugar have dissolved. Remove from stove; add hot coffee. Set top of double boiler in pan of very cold water until jelly is consistency of unbeaten egg white. With rotary egg beater, beat jelly until foamy and cream until stiff. Fold jelly into cream. Pour into individual flower-shaped molds, which have been rinsed with cold water. To serve unmold, and garnish with whipped cream sprinkled with chopped candied orange peel.

Nosegay Appetizers

Arrange smoked Norwegian sardines (drained from the oil) like the spokes of a wheel on a serving dish; put a band of thinly sliced pimiento around each three sardines; in center place small lemon cut into four wedge shaped sections, being careful not to cut through at bottom; open sections like the petals of a flower, and place a bright radish in center.

Health Notes

ATHLETICS AND AGE

"At this season it is natural that an increased personal interest in outdoor sports should exist. Golf courses, tennis courts and baseball fields logically are most appealing. And while youth, assuming that health exists, safely can be over-energetic in its pursuit of competitive games, a measure of restraint is required for those of middle age or beyond. After a winter's lethargy, it is indeed unwise for the gray-haired adult suddenly to step up his athletic activity to the point of extremes. While it is eminently proper to indulge one's sports inclination, affection for personal athletics should be tempered with judgment," states Dr. I. C. Higgins, State Health Commissioner.

"A case in point is that of the recent opening of some new tennis courts. A father, who in more youthful days had been quite adept with the racket, decided he could vie with his son, a college ace, who was home for his spring vacation. So after months of lack of exercise, the man of fifty, weighing one hundred and seventy pounds, set out in determined fashion to show the boy some real tennis."

"Not being in the best of health to start with, though of this fact he was unaware, the exhibition of paternal prowess resulted in heart damage. The proud sire now is flat on his back, temporarily broken in body and spirit. As a matter of cold fact, he is lucky to be alive."

"While an extreme example, this foolish over-enthusiasm on the part of a middle-aged man serves to emphasize that it is foolish for older persons to imagine that they are just as young as they ever were and act accordingly."

"As implied, there is no direct or indirect inference that outdoor sports should not be indulged in by middle-aged and older persons. It is only being stressed that

HOME OWNERSHIP

A comprehensive booklet designed for the information of prospective home owners has been made available for general distribution by the Federal Housing Administration.

The pamphlet is entitled "The FHA Plan of Home Ownership." It is devoted to a simple explanation of how the FHA plan works, gives illustrative cases of financing of small homes and tells of the benefits that accrue to both borrower and lender under the plan.

A series of 26 questions and answers is also included.

HOUSEHOLD HARDWARE

Remember the old-fashioned door knob, those unsightly brown and white balls? If a house still contains these relics, they can be replaced with truly decorative fixtures at little cost.

Games should be geared to one's physical capacity both as to form and extent of activity.

"In short, the no-longer-young healthy adult should play golf or other outdoor games suitable for his age temperately until he is summer - conditioned—and then should continue to do so. The just-as-young-as-I-used - to - be performance can cripple and sometimes kills."

Interesting Film Shown In Schools

"Behind the Shadows" a film used in the war against tuberculosis has been shown in 32 counties and 11 cities of the State during the past twelve months before audiences aggregating 69,371 people. J. Vaughan Gary, president of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association said yesterday. In addition to "Behind the Shadows" a film on the Shenandoah National Park and one on Safety were used at most of the showings.

This visual educational feature, primarily used before groups of high school students, was made possible in May, 1937, by the niece and nephew of the late Miss Frances Branch Scott of Richmond, for many years a leader in charitable work, who presented a portable talking motion picture projector to the association as a memorial to her.

According to Miss Leslie Combs Foster, executive secretary of the Tuberculosis Association, the organization's field workers have used the Scott Memorial machine before audiences of parent-teacher associations, community leagues, home demonstration clubs, study clubs, sewing clubs, Ruritan, Rotary, and Kiwanis clubs, as well as in schools.

This spring "Behind the Shadows" has been shown at eight district meetings of the P. T. A. Miss Foster said that it already has proven its value to volunteer organizations in nearly all of Virginia's 100 counties.

Privacy In a Small Home

Privacy and Attractiveness Destroyed by Poorly Planned Layout

Persons contemplating construction of small homes to contain a single bathroom should give careful study to the location of the bath.

It should be so situated, preferably, that no other room has to be passed through in order to reach the bathroom from any part of the house. If this arrangement is not made, then the bath should be so located that it may be reached from the living room or dining room without going through a bedroom.

Careless planning has resulted in embarrassing lack of privacy in many small homes. The accompanying sketch shows a floor plan for a two-bedroom house in which the bathroom cannot be reached without going through a bedroom or the dinette-kitchen.

Obviously this is a highly undesirable arrangement, and it is unnecessary as well. In the second drawing the bath has been so located that it may be reached without passing through any other room. In this way the efficiency and privacy of the house has been enhanced.

The Federal Housing Administration

tration, in passing on eligibility of houses upon which an insured mortgage is desired, checks the plan for privacy in order to assure the prospective home owner he will not be a victim of impractical, inconvenient arrangement.

In existing dwellings where poor bathroom planning occurs, the privacy can sometimes be achieved by alteration. This is frequently found to be a costly project, and as a result the addition of a bath often offers a better solution to the problem.

Termites Selected Tastiest Part of Building

Insects Ignored Wooden Floor of Woodley Warehouse, and Worked on Roof Beams.

Termites got in their work of destruction along unusual lines in the case of the W. J. Woodley warehouse at the foot of Burgess street, it was discovered when the building was torn down recently to make way for a two-story structure which is under construction to replace it. The wooden floor and floor beams had not been touched by the termites, but the beams supporting roof had been virtually riddled by them. There was no wooden connection between floor and roof, and it was evident that the termites had ignored the floor timbers and had swarmed up the brick wall to make a feast of the roof beams, which evidently they found more appetizing.

The destruction was so complete that it is probably that a heavy snow would have collapsed the roof, according to Mr. Woodley. Steel girders instead of wood will support the second story of the new structure, the brickwork of which has been laid to the second floor. The girders, four 45-foot 1-beams weighing approximately 4,000 pounds each, arrived by rail Wednesday and are being unloaded preparatory to being hoisted into place.

In Days Gone By

Ten Years Ago With The Virginia Beach

Although the winds reached gale force of 45 miles per hour during the storm of the early part of the week, no serious damage was done at Virginia Beach. The wind reached its greatest velocity at noon Tuesday and kept line-men busy repairing broken wires. The new seawall withstood the assault of the high waves without a tremor.

Thirty thousand, two hundred and forty large, fat Lynnhaven oysters were served to 1,000 delegates and their families at the 56th District Conference of Rotary International at Virginia Beach last Wednesday. The roast was given at Seaside Park Casino. Special automobiles brought the 1,000 Rotarians from the Wells Theatre in Norfolk where the morning business session was held.

The contract for the new addition to the Virginia Truck and Experimental Station at Diamond Springs was let yesterday to Myers and Myers, Virginia Beach contractors, at an approximate figure of $50,000. The work will begin at once.

Princess Anne County property owners and city of Norfolk are planning to cooperate in the improvement of the Ocean Park road from the present end of the concrete at the Water Works to the Lynnhaven Inlet bridge. The plan contemplates that the city will undertake the improvement from the Water Works to Lake Smith, which is about one-third of the distance at an approximately cost from $13,000 to $20,000, depending upon the type of pavement.

The Willoughby T. Cooke School has won the silver cup awarded by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County to the school having the highest percentage of five-point children for the year. Virginia Beach has the highest score with a percentage of 50 percent.

Virginia Beach Society Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Barr and family have moved to their new home in Sea Pines.

Mrs. E. S. Cardozo has returned to her home on 22nd Street after undergoing an operation at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Holland, Jr., have returned from their honeymoon and are making their home in the Pontiac Apartments. The many friends of Willoughby T. Cooke will be glad to know that he is improving from a recent illness which has confined him to his home on 19th Street for several weeks.

Lynnhaven News Miss Roxie Robertson left Sunday evening to attend the Conference Reunion in Little Rock, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. George Butts and family and Roy Hebben of Little Neck left Friday on a motor trip through New York, New Jersey, Baltimore and Washington, D. C. Mrs. Estelle Coult of Upper Montclair, N. J. arrived last week to spend some time with Mrs. J. W. Calk.

Oceana Notes and Items Mrs. Rodney Smith returned home Thursday night after a three weeks' visit with her parents in Andersonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Peele arrived Friday from Ontario, N. Y. to make their home in Oceana. Mrs. Peele was formerly Miss Carrie Lee. Mr. and Mrs. Peele expect to have charge of Mr. Lee's store and post office.

Miss Nancy Powell spent the weekend in Farmville visiting Miss Vivian Young, who is a student at the State Teachers' College.

Incomes Increased By Wayside Stands

Automobiles and good roads have greatly aided the farmer in finding a profitable outlet for his surplus farm products. It has now become almost a national custom for the family to ride out in the country on Sundays and buy fresh eggs, home-grown berries, vegetables, and other products.

In order to take full advantage of this source of added revenue the farmer may build an attractive wayside stand. The stand should provide for display space protected from dust and have a sound roof. The building should be painted to blend harmoniously with the other farm buildings and have ample room for off-the-road parking.

Funds for building wayside stands can be obtained from banks and other lending institutions operating under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

See that the wearing of the memorial poppy brings memories of those who believed that life itself was not too much to give for America and rekindles that spirit of patriotism for peace-time service. They realize, too, the great good accomplished by the poppy funds for the welfare of disabled veterans and dependent families.

"The Auxiliary is very grateful to all those who have volunteered to help us distribute poppies. We know that hard work and personal sacrifices will be required of them. We are sure that the public will recognize their unselfish service when they appear on the streets on the Poppy Day and will respond to them in the same spirit that their service is given."

purpose. No other suggestions were made for live stock as it was thought better to leave this subject to the community meeting to be held at a later date.

Community Organization

It was decided that the chairman of the Agricultural Conservation Association, select members of the community committees in their respective districts, and that the chairman of each community committee along with the County Agent, the Vocational Agricultural Instructors, the County Superintendent of Schools and the Social Security Advisor, act as a county executive committee. It was decided that these committees would meet during May.

Service Station On 17th Street Opens

"The newest and latest addition to the field of automobile service stations made its appearance on the Beach this week with the opening of the brick station at 17th Street and Pacific Avenue. It is the Kline Smith Service Station located on the site of the old Stormont home. The attractive new brick structure, with modern equipment, makes a pleasing addition to the main entrance to the town. Kline Smith, the Manager of the new establishment has long been serving the people of the Beach and surrounding territory at his former location on the corner of Atlantic Avenue and 17th St. Mr. Smith stated "that he and his assistants know what he takes to service automobiles, and it is just that service and product we have on hand at all times."

Virginia Conservation Commission Pushes Effort to Obtain CCC Camp for State Park

BUILD NEW CABINS

State Ready to Take Up Option on 2,300 Acres at Early Date; Work to Get Started Soon if Plans Mature Provided satisfactory arrangements as to details can be made with the Cape Henry Syndicate, Tidewater real estate company, Seashore Park is practically assured a Civilian Conservation Company at an early date through which further developments of this recreational area may be started. This assurance came in action by the Virginia Conservation Commission, in recent session, in requesting Governor Price to permit the Commission to anticipate at once the appropriation of $158,000 made at the recent session of the General Assembly so it may purchase the 2,300 additional acres on which the further developments are planned.

Governor Price, in conference with Commission officials recently, declared himself in favor of the move, if the Commission would formally request the action.

New Camp in June

Wilbur C. Hall, Chairman of the Commission said that efforts to expedite the purchase is highly desirable in order that Seashore Park may obtain a camp in the June allotment of camps by the federal government. Normally, the appropriation of $158,000 made by the last General Assembly to acquire the property would not become available until July 1, and at that time, the allotment of CCC camps will have been completed.

The federal government, Chairman Hall explained, will not make developments on any property which is not owned in fee simple by the state.

The state now owns 1,000 acres on which all Seashore Park developments have been made. This acreage was donated to the State by the Cape Henry Syndicate, which owns the 2,300 acres now to be purchased. The state has been holding this additional acreage on an option for several years.

If the syndicate approves immediate purchase, the details can be consummated prior to the June allotment of CCC camps and Seashore Park will then be eligible to receive the camp. National Park Service officials have practically assured the establishment of a camp there, if the additional property is in possession of the State.

The Legion Auxiliary Makes Appeal For Poppy Day May 28

Flowers Made by Disabled Veterans to be Sold on Streets of Beach Saturday May 28th for the Benefit of Those Otherwise Unable to Aid Themselves; Local Women Ask Support of Citizens.

Poppies were blooming today at the headquarters of the Princess Anne County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary at Virginia Beach, as the little red memorial flowers which the people of Princess Anne County will wear in honor of the World War dead on Poppy Day, May 28th, were being unpacked. The "poppies" were received from Kecoughtan where they were made by disabled veterans for the Auxiliary.

The poppies are crepe paper replicas of the wild poppies of France and Belgium which bloomed along the World War battle front and which inspired the famous poem, "In Flanders Fields." More than ten million of them have been made this year by disabled war veterans working in government hospitals and in convalescent work rooms maintained by the Auxiliary. Poppies for the state of Virginia have been made at Kecoughtan and Roanoke, under the direction of the Virginia Department of the Auxiliary.

"Each flower has been shaped painstakingly by the hands of some disabled veteran," said Mrs. A. L. Barco, Sr., the Auxiliary's Poppy Day chairman, as she examined the memorial blooms. "The poppy work is a real boon to these men as it is the only form of employment open to them. Only men receiving no government compensation are given the work, with preference going to those who have families to support."

Volunteers Needed

The Poppy Day Chairman, Mrs. A. L. Barco, Sr., has issued an appeal for volunteers, particularly among the young married women of the beach, to sell poppies on the streets Saturday May 28th. Those who wish to offer their services to this cause are urged to call Mrs. Barco by telephoning Virginia Beach 248. Mrs. R. H. Harrison, has been appointed Captain of teams in charge of sales. The following young ladies have volunteered: Betty and Frances Young, Virginia and Myra Tillery, Mable Ambram, Ophelia Parker, Dorothy Shirley, Mary Lee, Dot Fisher, Virginia Crull, Sarah and Betty Frost Woodhouse, Betty Capps, Gwen Dawson, Betsey and Louise Kyle, Nancy and Ruth Fisher, Glen Marshall, Ann Dickson, Eleanor Woodhouse, Jane Koriegaw, Gwen MacSimmons, Peggy Grimes, Erlean Hope Barco, Jane Simmons Mrs. J. C. Adcock, Mrs. W. B. Tillery, Mrs. S. M. Simmons, Mrs. Ernest Young, Mrs. Foy C. Casper, Mrs. C. H. Ducey, Mrs. A. L. Barco, Jr., Mrs. Matha Hall, Mrs. T. L. Etheridge, and Mrs. J. N. Osborne.

Appeal to Buy A Poppy

"An organization of teams and a pep meeting will be held just prior to the sale," the chairman said yesterday, the date to be announced later, to which every one participating in the sale is urged to attend.

Mrs. Foy Casper, president of the local Auxiliary is co-operating with Mrs. Barco, in making plans for the sale, and urges every citizen to buy a poppy on May 28th, proving to the helpless and unfortunate men and their families, that their sacrifice has not been forgotten, and that we are anxious case their burdens by giving freely to this magnificent cause.

Card Party Today For School Fund

Pick-Up Noted By Commerce Report

Industrial production in various lines has begun to show improvement, and increased activity in plant expansions and the location of new industries give indication of reviving confidence and a renewed trend toward industrial growth the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce pointed out today in its latest review of business conditions. Employment was substantially improved as compared with March figures the State Chamber stated.

Among the factors involved were improved farm income during the first quarter of the year.

Construction activities were 4 per cent higher.

Sales of electricity for industrial use were 3 per cent higher than in February. The latest figures available are for March.

Tobacco manufacture in Virginia in April was 11 per cent higher than in April 1937.

Crop Conditions Good

"Crops made splendid progress during the first three weeks in April, the State Chamber's report said.

"Fruit prospects are not as good as last year, though in line with the average of the past five years."

Sales of gasoline in March were 10 per cent higher than in February and 3 per cent higher than a year ago.

On the other side of the ledger the State Chamber found that the volume of checks drawn on clearing house banks in Virginia were 3 per cent lower in April than in March and 15 per cent lower than April a year ago. As compared with the last year, there was an indicated decrease of about 18 per cent in total hours of work in manufacturing and 15 per cent in commercial enterprises. Retail sales were 9 per cent lower than in March of 1937. However, for the Fifth Federal Reserve district as a whole, sales were 14 per cent lower than last year. Sales of new paid-for ordinary life insurance in Virginia were 13 per cent lower during March than in March of last year.

Mail Plane Flight Friday, 11:25 A. M.

When it was announced last week that an airplane would take the mail from the local post office on Tuesday, the postal authorities reckoned without the weather. Yesterday, it was announced that the proposed flight had been postponed until today (Friday) at 11:25 o'clock, when all mail originating at the beach and nearby post offices will be taken up by mail plane leaving the Riffe Range flying field.

W. P. Ashburn, postmaster at Virginia Beach, said yesterday that the percentage of air mail had shown a marked increase from his office every day of the week, and that he felt that the celebration of "Air Mail Week" would so far in acquainting the public with the advantages and cost of the benefits of this time-saving service.

Duke University Honors Local Girl

Miss Helen Baxter Smith, of Virginia Beach, has been elected president of Chi Delta Phi, national honorary literary sorority, at Woman's college of Duke University where she is a member of the rising senior class.

Miss Smith, daughter of E. J. Smith of Bird Neck Point, has a creditable list of honors at Duke. She is a member of Phi Mu, national academic sorority, of the Duke Players, the Y. W. C. A. For the coming year, she has been named a member of the publication board at Duke, and she was recently awarded a publication for her splendid work on the Archive, student literary magazine.

Large Audience For "Old Roses" Author At Cavalier Hotel

Mrs. Keays Delights Hearers with History of Origin and Culture of the Earliest Roses

Mrs. Frederick Love Keays of Long Island, N. Y., and Calvert County, Md., well known author of "Old Fashioned Roses," was presented by the Princess Anne Garden Club to a large audience in the Cavalier Hotel ballroom last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Keays, introduced by Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, president of the club, gave the history of the old rose from the earliest days of the Greeks, Romans and Persians, to the beginning of the modern rose culture. Continuing, Mrs. Keays said, "Invasions by the people of these countries to various parts of Europe spread the growth of these old roses and preserved their existence through pioneers to our English and American countries."

Illustrated With Slides

Various types of old roses were described with colored slides, the pictures having been photographed by Mrs. Keays and used as illustrations of her lecture. Among these were the Gallica rose, the Alba rose, the old Cabbage rose from Roman gardens, the Moss rose and "Sweetbriar Rose" that Shakespeare often referred to.

Rose lovers from various parts of Tidewater Virginia assembled in the ballroom of the Cavalier Hotel to hear Mrs. Keays lecture.

Members of the Princess Anne Garden Club decorated the ballroom with many beautiful arrangements of old fashioned roses from their own gardens as an informal non-competitive rose display for the benefit of their guests.

Mrs. Keays lecture, sponsored by the Princess Anne Garden Club was their feature of the Rose Show being held in Norfolk by the Garden Club of Virginia, of which they are joint hostesses with the Norfolk Garden Clubs.

DEATH AT BEACH OF W.S.B. GRANDY

Local Resident Succumbs at His Home at Seapines after Long Illness; Burial in Norfolk

William Boswell Seldon Grandy, for many years a resident of Virginia Beach, died at his home at Seapines, Monday morning at six o'clock, after an extended illness. He was sixty-one years of age.

Mr. Grandy was a native of Norfolk, and a son of the late Major C. W. Grandy and Mrs. Mary Seldon Grandy. He was educated at the University of Virginia, and for many years was associated with the firm of C. W. Grandy and Sons, cotton factors in Norfolk. He retired from active business a number of years ago and has spent the last years of his life at the beach.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Selma Jones Grandy, and a brother C. Wylie Grandy; three nieces, Mrs. Hartwell H. Gary, Jr., Miss Carolyn S. Grandy and Miss Julia S. Grandy, and three nephews, W. Seldon Grandy, C. W. Grandy 4th, and Daniel S. Gilmore.

North End Zoning Board To Hold Hearing June 13th

A public hearing will be held on Monday night, June 13th, at 8 o'clock, at the Cavalier Hotel, by the Zoning Board which was appointed Wednesday by the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors, to hear all parties interested in the matter of zoning of the area north of the present Town limits, and south of Port Story. All who are interested in this matter are invited to attend.

Future Policy In Industry To Be Outlined By State Chamber

Ten Points of Improvement in Attitude Toward New Business Pointed Out by Industrialist, Need for More Attention to Human Relations Stressed

When the Committee on Industry of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce meets here this month, a definite policy for future industrialization of Virginia will be presented to it by Earl B. Morgan, of Glasgow, manager of the Blue Ridge Company, Inc., and former Industrial Engineer. Mr. Morgan located an industry in Virginia four years ago, and is a member of the Industrial Committee of the State Chamber.

The ten points made by Mr. Morgan are:

Seek and encourage only high grade and stable concerns that have a good reputation, good financial standing, and a record of good industrial management.

Discourage companies who are seeking to exploit labor.

Line of Encouragement

Encourage particularly the industry that is willing and able to develop virgin territory and train its own personnel, rather than import labor to the state.

Encourage industry that is not seeking gifts and concessions and that is ready to pay its own way.

Choose industries that have a community viewpoint and are ready to assume their share of community obligations.

Pit requirements of the industry with what the community has to offer.

Prevent industrial over-development of any particular section.

Beware of absentee management. Seek industries that are cooperative.

Be sure that the proposed industry has a modern conception of personnel management.

"Personnel administration has become a national problem," Mr. Morgan said.

Human Relation Stressed

"The effort in the past in this connection has been in proportion to the economic pressure. The recent legislative and collective bargaining approach can be attributed in large measure to past indifference of employers to the human relations of their enterprise."

"We have learned that the real starting point for personnel administration is in the mind, heart and spirit of the big boss of the concern. No industry is too small to have someone whose primary job is to specialize in personnel, to help shape personnel policies and administer them, but such a man can never proxy for the big boss."

"It is time that all of us gave attention to safe - guarding and preserving our exceptional industrial advantages by some substantial controls based on long range planning. Neither the committee nor the chamber can be successful alone. They must have the cooperation of all business and civic organizations throughout the state."

The committee proposes to act as a clearing house for information, to set up aids for prospects in local community organizations, and to advise in the formation of policies.

Cheap Labor Out

"It is unfortunate that the phrase 'cheap Southern labor' has come to be so frequently used. It tends to attract those inclined to gain advantage by 'chiseling.' Also it reflects unjustly on the caliber of the workers. Unusual tax exemptions and other grants only tend to increase the load on the industries and businesses now here. Someone has to pay for free rides in the long run. Of course, local participants in sound financing does not come under this head."

"Good management does not want to be handicapped by pressure that is sure to follow in the wake of such concessions. It would prefer to be able to manage its business unfettered by patronage obligations."

The only subject that can not be adequately handled in a one-page letter is adolescent love.

School Exercises Oceana June First

The commencement exercises of Oceana High and Elementary School will begin Sunday, May 29th, at 11 o'clock when Reverend J. B. Glover of the Virginia Beach Presbyterian Church will preach the commencement sermon.

On Wednesday, June 1st the pupils of the seventh grades will receive their certificates of promotion to high school and at 8:15 P. M. of the same day, the High School students will receive their diplomas.

The graduation this year represents the twenty-sixth commencement exercise of the Oceana High School. Last year the school completed its twenty-fifth commencement with a celebration of the occasion.

The theme of the program this year is Peace. The students of the government class have studied this subject at considerable length and they will give speeches appropriate to the occasion.

Students who will deliver speeches are:

School Exercises At The Cavalier

Commencement of the Everett School in this resort will occur on Friday morning (May 27) at the Cavalier hotel. Salutatory address will be made by Miss Ann Everett of the graduation class. French students of the school will present in French "La Farce de Maître Tathelin," a medieval comedy, while English students will offer "Beau of Bath," a one act play in verse by Constance "Arcy" Mackay. The musical part of the program will be featured by violin selections by Mr. Carol Trant, and group songs by students and visitors. Diploma presentation will be made by Mrs. Helena Everett, principal of the school.

Informal Opening Of Cavalier Club

With vanguard of cottagers arriving daily to occupy seashore homes, this resort is rapidly taking on activity, usually expected to come a few weeks later. The season, getting off to such an early start, promises to be one of the best in the history of this summer playground.

The Cavalier Beach Club, which had its informal opening on Saturday night, May 14th, with Earl Mellon and his orchestra furnishing dance music. Dancing will be a feature week nights from now on until fall.

Gala programs have been arranged for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. (May 19, 20 and 21). Five outstanding acts by New York talent will be presented, including a comedy juggler, roller skating act a girl dancer, three girl tumblers and a dance team.

Formal Opening May 28th

Formal opening of this Club will occur on Saturday night, May 28th. Decoration Day weekend. Arrangements are being completed to make this a brilliant affair. Tom Hartley, Boston, who has starred as a dancer and comedian in several Broadway musical shows, has been engaged as master of ceremonies. Johnny Long and his radio orchestra who furnished dance music here last summer, will return for their second season.

Information from the Surf Club and the new Terrace Club disclosed that both of these dance clubs expect to have their formal openings on Saturday night, May 28th, at which time the entire facilities of the resort will be open for the entertainment of the pleasure seeking visitor.

CITIZENS ASK BOARD TO ZONE

Large Group Petitions Board of Supervisors for Right to Exclude Commercial Development

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

L. B. Wickersham Stresses Need for Action to Prevent Deterioration of Values; Delay Necessary by Law

With every hope of succeeding in obtaining action from the Board of Supervisors of the County, a large delegation of residents of the area extending north from the Town limits to Fort Story, attended a special meeting of the County Board and presented a petition to that body to have the section zoned as a residence A area. It seemed to come as a shock to many who were present to learn that under the terms of the enabling act, as interpreted by Paul Ackiss, commonwealth Attorney, that a fifteen day delay was necessary.

Talk of the location of a hot dog stand almost in front of the newly organized Terrace Beach Club hastened the action of the group in making their appeal.

Need of Action Stressed

Lloyd B. Wickersham, presented the petition for the North End Improvement League and pointed out that in recent years there had been an extensive development of the area into a first class residential section, increasing the taxable values of the county in large measure and that he and the petitioners felt that the time had come when steps should be taken to prevent the encroachment of the usual commercial development that follows such expansion. Comparison was made with other shore property where values had been injured and desirable persons forced to leave, by the opening of such places as hot dog stands, beer gardens, filling stations and the like.

Mr. Wickersham, emphasized the fact that at some future day the necessary community store center could be provided for, but the pressing need at present was a zoning ordinance that would bar the "piano box type of hot dog stand," in a community (Continued on Page Five)

Farmers Organize And Plan For Year

Acting on the recommendation of the Princess Anne County Agricultural Board, two of the districts met last week to organize and elect district committees. The meeting of farmers agreed to support certain objectives as outlined and proceeded to elect officers including a chairman who will represent them on the Agricultural Board.

In the Seaboard District C. H. Upton was elected chairman, W. H. Land, vice-chairman, and M. A. Whitehurst, secretary. Other members of the committee in this district are as follows: J. E. Dixon, V. E. Meade, Paul Brown, M. B. Flannigan and T. R. Edmondson.

The objectives to be undertaken in the district for this year are first to increase the membership in the Farm Bureau among the farmers residing in the Seaboard section and second, to work toward establishing a strawberry auction in the county next spring.

The farmers in the Lynnhaven district, set as their objectives for the present a plan to work toward having every farmer own at least one milk cow, and a minimum of fifty hens, and in addition to make an effort to increase membership in the Farm Bureau.

The committee in the Lynnhaven district is composed of the following members: J. C. Brock, chairman, John W. Potter, vice-chairman, O. E. Kline, secretary, R. W. Bonney, E. P. Ives, H. C. W. Batten and J. B. Senter.

The Blackwater District met to organize, Wednesday night and the Kempsville District held a similar meeting last night. Plans will meet next Wednesday.

"THE VOICE of a majority, awaying the course of government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

REALISTIC DIPLOMACY

It is interesting to reflect on words and phrases that have crept into our languages in our time. Among these is the word "propaganda" which first came into use during the World War. Having been in some measure a product, or by-product, of this period, we are particularly interested in this word and the result of its practice. As far as we have been able to gather, the warring nations conceived the idea that it was necessary, in order to build up support for their side of an issue, to use of stories sometimes true, but frequently false, to impress people with the fact that the other side was guilty of all manner of atrocities (another word of the same period) whereas according to the rules of the game of propaganda, the side putting out the story, was entirely guiltless of any wrong.

This idea has survived the war period and is today in general use in all of the countries where freedom of the press is denied. The old concept that the truth will out, in the end, has been pretty well out-moded in these countries, and what their rulers desire becomes for all intents and purposes, the truth. The populace have no other means of ascertaining the real truth. This type of propaganda can be defined as the dissemination of false information and the suppression of the truth, in other words, plain lies.

Today we are witnessing the development of a new phrase that bids fair to take its place along side of the word propaganda. "We have reference to 'realistic diplomacy'." Here we have a phrase that stems from a cowardly act on the part of the prevailing political powers in Great Britain. The first exposition of its true meaning has been given to the world by the League of Nations Council, who two years ago brought on a world crisis by invoking sanctions and denying in justice to Ethiopia, the right of Italy to acquire that country by force of arms, through the unprovoked conquering of a peaceful people. Today that body sits supinely by and listens to the once proud Emperor, meanwhile having decided by a secret agreement with Mussolini, to acknowledge before the world the very act for which he was so bitterly condemned two short years ago.

Truly England, noted for its love of fair play, and fair deal, has, must have been woefully unprepared for war, to have purchased peace at the price of the sacrifice of the one thing that has always been sacred to Englishmen. We of the United States should learn a lesson from this experience and hasten the day of our complete preparedness in order to avoid becoming involved in a situation that may be equally as humiliating and degrading. Realistic diplomacy is in fact nothing more nor less than the old familiar double cross, and it is to be hoped that we may be able to avoid its use.

HELD IN TRUST

The Board of Directors of the Tidewater Automobile Association has gone on record as favoring an amendment to the State Constitution to prevent the diversion of highway funds; that is, the sale line tax and the automobile license tax levied for the specific purpose of building, maintaining and policing the highways. The position taken by the association is that any diversion of these funds to other uses constitutes a violation of the purpose and intent for which these tax measures were designed. The funds derived there from being essentially of a trust nature.

G. Leslie Hall, President of the Tidewater Automobile Association, in addressing himself to this matter said:

"The business interests of the cities and small towns are definitely concerned with the development of tourist traffic, amounting to well over a Hundred Million Dollars last year; and the patronage of the rural districts, dependent largely on adequate improved highways to facilitate travel to the marts of trade.

"One of the most important functions of State Government—education—is also largely affected by road conditions throughout the rural sections, and the farm-to-market highways play an essential part in the development of a higher plane of knowledge, and educational standards of the State.

"The preservation of the integrity of the Highway funds upon which must depend the intelligent and effective solution of the State's road problem by the Commission recently authorized by the General Assembly, is of vital importance—hence the demand for all available data which will permit of sound, logical thought and action by the people of Virginia as a whole, and by the Representatives of the 1940 Legislature. In the final analysis, the people of the State must express their will at the polls.

The News heartily agrees with Mr. Hall. Certainly the well being of Virginia Beach as a resort center, is intimately connected with the further development and maintenance of the highway system. The growth and progress of the Beach, parallels the building and improvement of the highways, and any back-sliding along this line through the diversion of these funds to other purposes, would be reflected in the proportionate falling off of the principal business of the resort, viz., tourist travel.

Princess Anne County has made such progress, since the coming of the improved highway facilities, that we cannot conceive of a willingness on the part of the people of the County to relinquish in any manner their claim to the further use of these funds on the roadways. In fact the crying need there, is more and better roads in some sections in the County.

So the News, is unable to find fault with the purposes and intent of the Tidewater Automobile Association in this matter, and applauds their effort to prevent what could and would result in a backward step for the State at large and our community in particular.

TURN ABOUT FAIR PLAY

We note in the Virginia Gazette, Williamsburg, Va., the following news item of July 21st, 1774, and published under the news of 164 years ago which we quote here-with:

164 YEARS AGO

A CARD

"A Virginian presents his compliments to the Jockey Clubs of Fredericksburg and Portsmouth and begs that they will suppress their sporting spirit till the circumstances of America can permit it with more decency. He also begs leave to recommend to the most serious consideration of these clubs, whether their purses, applied to the behalf of the distressed Bostonians would not afford them more real pleasure than all that can arise from viewing a painful contest between two or July 21, 1774."

It is particularly interesting to us to read these old items published in that paper. Many of them go to show that after all there is nothing new under the sun. Often the problems that vexed the populace of that day are still with us, and in some respects we have done little or nothing to solve them, merely having made a manner of compromise with the question. This treatment seems to satisfy a people always ready to close their eyes to that which they do not care to see.

The old time Virginian by whom this ancient news item was written, has many a counterpart today, and whenever the subject of legalizing the pari-mutual betting on horse racing in our state is introduced in the legislature, this fraternity rush forth with loud objections to doing so, even in the locations that ask the privilege of holding a referendum to determine the will of the populace on the issue. We note among the brood of these, some of our nearby contemporaries. Yet these same people contend with having imposed their will on others, say by year after year and allow illegal betting on races, run without the state, to go on in dozens of places in their cities without so much as opening their pious mouths.

Today "the distressed Bostonians" having long since recovered from their then exciting troubles, which arose from a matter of taxes on tea, have outlived their distress, and now have their gay horse races where legalized pari-mutual bets are placed, with both the state and the community benefiting from the revenues derived therefrom. We Virginians must be content with an anomalous situation where we see and know that illegal bets are placed daily in all our towns and cities. The citizen placing a bet, is penalized by the illegal bookmaker. The state and community get no revenue, and the people are denied the privilege of enjoying of the most thrilling entertainment.

One hundred and sixty-four years after the above item was written, we feel that it would be appropriate for some benevolent Bostonian to write to the people of that city calling on them to put a stop to their races and contribute the purses to the distressed Virginia communities who are taxed by the illegal operation of the bookies based on their perfectly legal sport.

If the tax of a sovereign King moved the sensitive Virginian to appeal in their behalf 164 years ago, surely our situation deserves equal support from the New England community today even if the tax which we suffer is the result of the short-sightedness of our own people. Turn about, is fair play after all.

Poetry

SPRING MAGIC

No wonder that I dream of you today,
For spring has come with blossoms in her hair,
With gay coquettish smiles, and winsome air,
And rainbow colors gathered on the way.

No wonder that I eagerly obey
Such rapturous appeal, and gladly dare
To leave the chilling realms that strip and bare
My soul to questionings austere and gray.

For in my heart was winter till you came
To waken beauty I had never known,
To sweep aside the somber veil that fell,
And light the flowered trail with sunshine's flame;
No longer like a sentinel, alone,
For loveliness has come to me to dwell.

SONNET TO PHILOSOPHY

Happiness and unhappiness both end,
But you remain, O strong and quenchless fire!
Never, like other objects, do you blend
With nothingness, in defiance of desire.
The shallow turn their eyes to you in awe,
The wise enclose you safely in the breast;
Beneath your spell all human sorrows thaw,
With you the stoutest pulse is lulled to rest.

Rich antidote in defeat and to despair,
Rich stimulant to the happy, dreaming heart,
Be with me while this life I love
Is here,
Whether my soul be firm or torn apart,
Your lustre shines in the sun or in the dark.

MOUNTAIN FRUIT

If my words sting you,
Try to recall
I was born where fine nettles
Climb a barren wall.

If my acts wound you,
Everyone knows
I was reared with thorn-apple
Will grow and rose.

If I grow bitter,
Try not to care,
Unpruned trees grow acrid fruit
In the mountain air.

X-Cerpts' From The News

Representative O'Connor, New York, said, "that bringing up re-organisation bill again would be as difficult as reviving a dead fish" . . . and have much the same odor we suppose."

"German Tennis Star convicted in a morals case, sentenced to one year in prison." Well, we doubt that this is the first time he's been involved in a "love act."

"Four million jobs seen by Representative Woodrum in Relief Program."—Headline. If the four million could see them, that would be news.

"Byrd would Curb Roosevelt Spending," says a headline. This has been so often repeated that we feel it would better express the meaning, if it were changed to read, "Byrd would if he could, curb Roosevelt spending."

Vicount Halifax returned from League of Nations Council meeting at Geneva, where he agreed to Italy taking Ethiopia; to find that Mexico had taken British oil possessions located in that country . . . This should be realistic enough for the new foreign secretary.

"$3,000,000,000 Relief Bill passed in House by vote of 229-70"—Headline . . . Coming as it does on the eve of the primaries, we are a little surprised the majority was not even greater. We supposed all of them knew that you could catch more flies with sugar than any other way.

"Moore County, Tennessee, (a dry state) may now legally manufacture whiskey for legal sale in other states." Will probably turn out to be a means of providing for the illegal sale in Tenn. as well, then everybody can buy it.

"League Council Turns Deaf Ear to Plea of Emporor Haile Selassie." . . . and by so doing, turned a vast number of people against the League Council.

We see in the papers that "Buddy," the first Seeing-Eye dog, flew home to die, as a passenger on air-liner . . . It is our hope that "Buddy" will yet enjoy many days of happy life, and we feel sure that all of our readers will join in this sentiment.

Alf Landon, 1936 Republican candidate says, "Mr. Roosevelt is in favor of free trade for his side only" . . . If Landon is right in this assertion, it is quite a departure from the President's attitude toward the lending-spending plan, in that affair he seems inclined to be free with everybody.

Commenting on how to beat the depression, executive of publishing house said, "governmental restriction and excessive taxation have largely removed the incentive to produce new deals" . . . We had gathered that one New Deal was about all the country could stand anyway.

"Rich British Marquess, sold half of Cardiff, Wales, including 20,000 houses, 1,000 stores and 250 saloons for a price understood to be $100,000,000" . . . Considering this only leaves 20,000 houses, 1,000 stores, and 250 saloons, we wonder how he will continue to carry on.

"Experts see Fighting Power Increased 50 to 75 percent by passage of Nyal Bill"—Headline. Well, our security from attack is insured in exact proportion, and peace assured as well. But neither will become fact until such time as ships are actually built and manned. The work should be pushed.

"State Democratic Committee sale margin reaches crushing proportions over C. I. O. candidates in Pennsylvania primary." . . . Which is just another way of saying that they still have a wide edge on John L. Lewis.

"Former Police Chief of Hot Springs, Arkansas, indicated on charge of harboring Alvin Karpis, former public enemy number one" . . . This is so reprehensible, according to our way of thinking, as to entitle the Chief to half of that doubtful distinction. A sort of public enemy one-half.

BOOKS TO OWN

THE FIGHT FOR LIFE

By Paul De Kruif
Harcourt, Brace
A Review by Karl R. Wallace, Associate Professor of Public Speaking, University of Virginia.

Paul De Kruif explodes dramatically. Deeply moved, even indignant, because our social and economic order is unwilling or unable to immediately extend to everyone the benefits of medical discovery and progress, De Kruif sets out, in "The Fight for Life," to make us think profoundly about pinching pennies where health is at stake. Medical scientists, practitioners, and public health administrators have gone far to indicate how maternal and infant mortality may be reduced at childbirth they have shown how pellagra may be made but a name; they are moving rapidly towards the control of venereal disease; they seem likely to stamp out tuberculosis; and they are proceeding doggedly against infantile paralysis. But they are terribly handicapped for lack of money. Meager and insufficient are the sums now doled out by private philanthropy and public agencies; if the people can only be aroused to spend liberally for health's sake, our generation might see an end to the chief dangers of disease and child-bearing.

Such is De Kruif's thesis. He advances it by two principal means. The first is an appeal to economy. At the conclusion of the book and at the end of each section, he argues that money spent now means money saved in the long pull. In effect he tells the reader: I'm not appealing to your pity, sympathy, sense of fair play, or desire to live I'm merely asking you to exercise your logic.

The force of such an argument in at least one instance amounts to a demonstration. It appears that Detroit is now engaged in a tremendous effort to stamp out tuberculosis, but it was not to act merely through its sympathies. It first performed a few simple operations in arithmetic as to the cost of continuing its old half-hearted methods of controlling tuberculosis for the next ten years as compared with newer, more widely applied techniques. Then it moved to save its pennies, with men of medicine and the public cooperating effectively.

The second method De Kruif employs to promote his thesis is familiar to any reader of his earlier books. He draws the dramatic picture of hero after hero treading across the stage amid his triumphs and defeats. We feel the surge and press of men fighting against death; attack and counter-attack appear in rapid succession until the imagination renders De Kruif's thesis convincing.

Joseph B. De Lee and the famous Chicago Maternity Center emerge as the heroes of the fight against child-bed fever and other dangers of motherhood. William De Kline is one of the conquerors of pellagra, and Charles Armstrong of the U. S. Public Health Service is one of the titans who move in on infantile paralysis. Wenger and Kahn attack syphilis. Hence, it is evident that the dramatic narration and description of medicine's exploits again constitute De Kruif's stock in trade. In "The Fight for Life," however, the dramatist has become rhetorical, even propagandistic.

If "The Fight for Life" is propaganda, it is good propaganda. High purpose informs it; its author is undoubtedly sincere, frank, and convincing.

WILTED!

HITLER AND HELIUM

Just about a year from the date of the Hindenburg crash at Lakehurst the question of further German domination of the lighter-than-air branch of aeronautics comes up again. The matter at issue is the sale of helium gas, on which the United States has a monopoly, to Germany. The Hindenburg was filled with the ordinary, inflammable type of lifting gas when the Lakehurst tragedy occurred. The crash of that dirigible brought to an abrupt halt the highly successful series of achievements with lighter-than-air craft that had won Germany the admiration of the world. Not long after the burning of the Hindenburg this government agreed to authorize the sale of helium in small quantities to Germany, for "commercial use" only.

With that understanding Germany has constructed a new dirigible, the LZ-130, to fill the place of the Hindenburg, but its application for enough helium gas to inflate it is being held up by Secretary of the Interior Ickes. While Mr. Ickes has not given expression to the reasons dictating his actions, Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is now in America to confer with him, has anticipated them. "I cannot believe," the great pilot says, "anyone here thinks we can use airships for military purposes. Germany is surrounded by nations with thousands of airplanes. They would in a few minutes find our ships and hangars easy targets. For us the airship is now nothing more than a commercial vehicle." Perhaps fearing the very eventuality at which Dr. Eckener scouted, Secretary Ickes has pointed out that his department is given power under the helium act to withhold sales considered to be "injurious to the best interests of the Government."

In further support of the Ickes position someone has dug up our Treaty of 1921 with Germany and drawn attention to a clause providing that "No dirigible shall be kept." The State Department is insistent that the helium shall be sold to Germany in the fulfillment of this country's contractual obligation. If American cabinet ministers now wrangle about what was decided without effort a few months ago the European history of the past six months must give us the clue: Since the Hindenburg crashed with widespread sympathy of the United States, Germany under the clutch of Chancellor Hitler has seized a smaller and relatively powerless nation. It has once more outraged common decency with inhuman measures against the Jewish minority of the conquered country and has stiffened itself still further with new programs against the Jews of Germany. We see how a nation impelled by mob instinct and given over to blood-lust and revenge can lose all the sympathy, all the respect and all the friendship that scientists like Eckener, writers like Thomas Mann and artists like Bruno Wauer have won for it in this generation.

INTERESTING FIGURES

The Gallup poll of the country last week indicated that the Congressional elections were held today the Republicans would gain a minimum of eighty members of the House of Representatives and a maximum of 110 members. It shows that the popularity of President Roosevelt has slightly figures indicated that 58.5 per cent still followed him as leader while hope for April showed the percentage to be 55.

It shows that in April there was a 30 per cent vote for a third term for Roosevelt, whereas in January the percentage had been 33.

It showed that the leading candidates for the Democratic nomination in 1940 were Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Vice President John N. Garner and Postmaster General James Farley. In the order named, and the leading Republican candidates were Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Former Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

These figures are interesting because of the closeness with which the Gallup polls in the past have approached accuracy. If they are as nearly accurate as in the past and if there is no reversal of the trend in the near future it may be taken for granted that the Republicans will make good gains in the 1938 Congressional election but will fall far short of obtaining a majority, that there will be no third term for President Roosevelt and that one of the more conservative Democrats will be in line for the Democratic nomination in 1940.

LABOR USURPS POWER

You are an American citizen. So long as the Constitution of the United States prevails you may worship in any church you choose; you may go any place that you like; you may speak your mind upon any subject. Yours is your own life to live so long as you do not interfere with the rights of others.

But you cannot choose the factory in which you want to work, no matter if you can earn more wages there than elsewhere. No matter, even if you have already worked there for 20 years before. Who says so? Not the President of the United States. He has no such authority. Not the Congress nor the Supreme Court. But the Committee for Industrial Organization—the CIO—says so.

Mass pickets are being thrown around the gates of factories in the automobile and other industries. When workers arrive they are not allowed to earn their daily bread unless they can show a paid-up union card. If they have chosen not to join the union, then the pickets do not permit them to go to work.

And so the unions are exercising a power over and beyond that of any elected official of the United States.

Even Hitler's decrees are exceeded by this labor organization which, in its arrogant, self-poised manner, seeks to control the destiny of the worker. What it will all lead to is giving some of the administration leaders a headache already. Fortunately there are a few governors of states who will not tolerate such meddling in industry and it is high time other states followed their example.

SELF-THWARTING LABOR BUSINESS

America is a land that prides itself on its high standard of living. And it is not a false pride, for Americans have more comforts and conveniences than any other

RUTH E. ROBERTS. Defendant.

IN CHANCERY
The object of the above styled suit is to subject the real estate of Ruth E. Roberts to the lien of taxes due the County of Princess Anne on the following described property, to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land, lying, being and situate in the County of Princess Anne, State of Virginia, bounding on the County line of Norfolk County on the South and extending over to Norfolk County on the southwest corner, a very small portion thereof being in Norfolk County, being all and whole of that tract or piece of land with the improvements and appurtenances thereto belonging, which was conveyed to the said Robert T. Whitehurst by J. W. Whitehurst and Robert T. Whitehurst, by deed of partition, dated May 18th, 1880, and recorded in the Clerk's Office of Princess Anne County, in Deed Book 55, page 51, excepting thereof the two tracts of ten acres each, which was conveyed by said Robert T. Whitehurst to William H. Dewes by deed dated December 12th, 1901, recorded in said Clerk's Office in Deed Book 71, p. 83, and the other thereof conveyed by said Robert T. Whitehurst to Lucretia A. Henley, by deed dated March 19th, 1915, and recorded in said Clerk's Office in Deed Book 85, page 422, said land hereby described lies on the West Side of the road leading from Great Bridge to Kempsville and bounded on the West by Thacker's land, on the South by Odell's land, the southern boundary line, the greater part of the distance, being the County line dividing Princess Anne and Norfolk Counties; on the east by the Road aforesaid, and on the North by the two tracts conveyed by said Robert T. Whitehurst above mentioned.

It being the same property conveyed to Ruth Elvira Roberts by deed of T. A. Roberts, dated May 4th, 1921, and recorded in said Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Princess Anne County, Virginia, in Deed Book 109, page 466.

It appearing by affidavit filed according to law, that due diligence has been used by or on behalf of the plaintiff to ascertain in what county or corporation Ruth E. Books To Own

Continued from Page 2 and honest. De Kruff has nothing to conceal; he simply has a message he must get into print. His product, accordingly, is earnest, forceful, and as swiftly running as a mountain brook. At times, unfortunately, his eager advocacy and enthusiasm overpower him. There is too much undisciplined composition. Some sections, for example, built but roughly on a chronological pattern might be less repetitious if constructed according to a topical pattern. De Kruff, also, too often rushes headlong into a long sentence; he piles up such a lengthy, suspended series of ideas that the poor reader loses sight of the beginning before he reaches the end.

It is perhaps unfortunate, too, that De Kruff, as a rhetorician, has not sized up his audience more accurately. A book like this would seem to be for those who buy books and frequent libraries. Such people will find the author's use of dramatic and lyrical devices a bit overdone in spots. Over-worked are sheer sensationalism, fighting words, and claims of rhetorical genius, and suspense that is less than without being stimulating. In rare instances, indeed, it seems as if the book were addressed to the adolescent rather than to the curious, reasonably intelligent man. Nevertheless, De Kruff has done exceedingly well in reaching readers who have neither the capacity nor the inclination to cope with the language of the technical periodicals.

As Others See It

er people—all because America has pioneered in the development of these modern things through industrial expansion. With that expansion millions of jobs were created to those millions could buy the things they produced.

Now, however, America finds itself alarmingly going backward instead of forward toward an even higher standard of living.

Consider the hundreds of ways in which the 136,000,000 people of our country earn or receive their living. Broken down into classifications, we find now that relief—at the expense of the taxpayer and the public purse—ranks fourth. That means that more people are now being supported on relief rolls than by such other industries as mining, public utilities, transportation and construction. Only manufacturing, farming and the service trades rank above relief.

Why, people ask, has relief become a "big business"? There are many theories, but it is interesting to note that it has advanced materially during the past five-year era of government pump-priming and indiscriminate "emergency" spending.

Since 1933 the staggering total of more than $16,000,000,000 has been poured into the relief channels. By July 1, 1939, according to current government spending estimates, the total will amount to at least $20,000,000,000.

Some people say Federal spending is a political expedient. Perhaps it is, but we wonder if, in the long run, industrial America and its high living standards can survive if relief finally becomes the first ranking business of the country? Relief is not a productive enterprise and America must produce to exist—Industrial Press Service.

STUDENT AUTOMOBILE CASUALTIES

Taking editorial cognizance of several serious automobile accidents in which students of nearby colleges have been involved, the Lynchburg News makes this comment:

"It will not do to place too much emphasis upon student car casualties. They are often of sensational nature and even when of minor importance they attract more attention than ordinary highway collisions because of the widespread interest in the colleges the victims attend and the natural fear every parent with a boy or girl at college experiences when the news of the smash-up has been spread. Yet these accidents are in sufficient numbers to make them an important part of the whole picture and to suggest that college authorities must find some way to make that picture less gruesome."

At the Virginia Military Institute the authorities have found so simple and effective that it is wonder the authorities at more colleges have not followed suit. V. M. I. cadets are never the drivers of cars involved in highway accidents for the very good reason that V. M. I. cadets aren't permitted to drive cars. If more colleges had a similar rule, and enforced it, there would be fewer newspaper headlines recounting grim highway tragedies in which college students figure as participants.

"I never worry about the CHURN now!"

ELECTRICITY points the way to more farm profits because it provides a simple, convenient and inexpensive method of cooling milk.

An automatic electric cooling system keeps the bacteria count low to conform with State and City health requirements. It helps prevent your milk from being thrown into the "churn".

Ask your dealer or our Agricultural Engineer for full details regarding this 24-hour-a-day automatic protection for your milk profit.

Virginia Beach

Arrangements for the concert to be given by the Princess Anne Choral Society next Friday night, at 8:15 at the Oceana High School auditorium have been completed. The Society, which was organized last February and which is composed of members from all over the county will make its first public appearance. Mrs. J. A. Calhoun is director of the chorus and Miss Frances Shelton is accompanist.

Plans for the improvement of the Ocean Park road from the Water Works to the Lynnhaven Inlet Bridge, which were presented to the Norfolk City Council last week, are rapidly progressing. The total cost of the road will be approximately $90,000. The present plan contemplates that the city will improve the section from the Water Works to Lake Smith at a cost of $30,000 and Princess Anne property owners will finish it from that point to the Inlet at a cost of $60,000.

County Democratic mass meetings were held May 16th at Princess Anne Courthouse, Oceana, Kenneville and Back Bay and resulted in the election of nine delegates.

F. E. Kellam and George S. Brown were elected from Seaboard district; John Day, W. R. Ashburn and Edwin J. Smith from Lynnhaven district; Guy W. Cappe and Claude Eaton from Pungo district; Randolph Oliver, Harry Davis, Frank Whitehurst and W. F. Wilbur from Kempville, these latter four having a half vote each. The Tourist Information Bureau at 17th Street and Atlantic Boulevard was opened last Monday for the 1938 season. Mrs. R. T. Lipscomb, who had charge of the work last year, will again direct the activities of the booth.

Oceana News Notes
Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Linkous of Danville, spent the weekend with their sister, Mrs. Sherman Bullis, while attending the Rotarian convention in Norfolk.

A. J. Kodis, U. S. N., left for Boston after spending a few weeks with his wife and children at the home of Mrs. Kodis' father, S. F. Old.

Mrs. Emma A. Huffman of Oceana, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Elizabeth Huffman, to Frank W. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cox of Old, Virginia. The wedding will take place in the summer.

The county health department is beginning its annual Anti-Typhoid Clinics in the schools of Princess Anne County.

Virginia Beach business men, hotel and amusement park managers are making arrangements for the formal opening of the summer season next weekend. Many features have been planned for the celebration, which includes the dedication of the new quarter million dollar promenade, a parade of bathing beauties and decorated floats along the walkway.

At the meeting held in Norfolk Tuesday by the officials and patrons of the Norfolk Southern Railroad, it was announced that the fare on the Virginia Beach Electric Division would be reduced on May 26th, when the summer

Improvements Planned
Present facilities at Seashore Park include cabins, a bathhouse, restaurant and store, picnic areas and shelters, roads and trails. When these were completed, the federal government announced that no further developments were practical on the 1,000 acres and that further improvements would have to be made on the additional acreage planned for purchase. The CCC camp then in the area was withdrawn more than a year ago.

Among the anticipated improvements planned for Seashore Park are additional cabins, improvements to the beach and additional roads and trails.

All members of the Commission were in attendance. Besides Chairman Hall, they are: Braden Vandeventer, of Norfolk, vice-chairman; C. S. Carter, of Bristol; D. D. Hull, Jr., of Roanoke, and Marshall B. Booker, of Halifax.

Six Safety Rules May Add Long Life

As a part of May Day-Child Health Day exercises in the school or community The Progressive Farmer for May suggests six rules of safety prepared by a county sheriff which all boys and girls should practice:

1. Don't ever ride with strangers.
2. Always walk on the left-hand side of the road, and get clear off the road when you meet an automobile. Give them plenty of room.
3. Don't ever cross a road or highway until you are sure there are no cars coming from either direction.
4. Don't attempt to cross an intersection until you are certain that there is plenty of time.
5. If you see an accident go for help quickly.
6. Keep clear of the wreck. Let grown people give aid to the injured.

Fort Eustis Now State N. Y. A. School

A hundred boys from all parts of Virginia are now at Fort Eustis, former U. S. Army encampment, to learn the elementary facts about such peace-time vocations as steam fitting, carpentry, and sheet metal working.

The project is sponsored by the trade and industrial division of the State Department of Education, cooperating with the Works Progress Administration and the National Youth Administration. Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State superintendent of public instruction and chairman of the State NYA committee, said in Richmond that the purpose of the project is to equip the boys, most of whom come from rural communities, to return home and find part-time employment in the trades, along with their work on the farm.

He said the project should not be confused with a regular "trade school." Under a permit granted by the Army the NYA project is schedule goes into effect. On all days of the week except Saturday and Sunday round-trip tickets will be sold for 50 cents. These tickets will be good on all trains but their use will be limited to the date of sale.

Hatching by Electricity Is Low-Cost and Trouble-Free

Electrical incubation—as in this small cabinet-type model—usually yields more chicks than other methods of hatching.

ALTHOUGH the poultry industry is becoming highly specialized, and many people are totally dependent upon it for their livelihood, a majority of farms—regardless of type—have flocks ranging from a few to several hundred birds. For them, as for the poultry specialist, electricity is a most important factor in economical management and profitable operation.

One of its many uses, in which there has been a marked increase during the past few years on general farms as well as among commercial hatcheries and poultrymen, is in incubators. For several seasons, electrical operation of such units is ideal. It does not spoil the air in producing heat; it is clean; safe; labor saving; and, varying with the size, permits certain or all of the following factors to be automatically controlled—temperature, ventilation, humidity, lights and turning.

There are two general types of electrical incubators—radiant-heat and cabinet. The former, similar in many respects to the kerosene-operated unit, usually has the heating elements attached to the underside of the top from whence the heat is radiated directly to the eggs—ventilation being set up to last only a year, while a trade school usually requires three or four years for completion of its course. Another difference is that the boys at Eustis are at present financially unable to attend existing trade schools.

War-time buildings, renovated by the WPA, are used at Eustis as sleeping quarters, work shops, dining room, recreation room and infirmary. For working 100 hours per month on such jobs as repair of public school buses, the NYA pays each boy $25 a month, or enough to take care of his living expenses, study materials, and incidentals. For 20 hours a week each boy receives instruction in one of the six trade preparatory courses made possible by the trade and industrial division operating through the Warwick County School Board.

The boys enroll at Eustis for six months. At the end of that time they may enroll for another six months provided they have made satisfactory progress and provided the financial status of their families has not changed so as to make them ineligible for work under the NYA. Trade instruction is given on the unit training plan so that a boy would be able to secure advance standing in any trade school he might eventually be able to attend.

First Feeding Of Baby Begins Early

For the first few months your baby's diet will consist chiefly of milk supplemented with orange juice or tomato juice and cod liver oil—a simple enough plan to follow even when the milk must be made up according to a formula prescribed by your physician.

Then along about the third or fourth month when your baby is ready for a little finely divided bulk, the doctor will recommend introducing strained foods in the diet. The amounts and varieties that your baby can handle depend, of course, on the baby's development. Very likely the doctor will give you some sort of feeding schedule along with several suggestions for introducing these foods to your baby.

Many doctors recommend now that you begin serving the baby just a small portion of strained foods diluted with liquid. Up to this time, you see, the baby has had nothing but liquid foods so this change to semi-solid and solids must come gradually. You will start with a teaspoonful of carrots, perhaps, combined with an equal amount of water or the baby's milk formula. It is well to feed this mixture with a spoon. After a day or so, doubt the amount of strained food, retaining the first proportion of water used.

By the third or fourth day, you might try giving the baby straight vegetables without adding any liquid at all.

If the baby seems to object to the texture of this solid food, go back to adding a small amount of liquid and decrease more slowly. From this time on, you will gradually be able to increase the amount of strained foods used at each feeding until the baby is taking a full 4½-ounces by the time he is 10-12 months old.

Since a baby's taste is not highly developed, there is no need to work a variety of strained foods into a day's serving. It will be quite enough if you feed the baby carrots for two days or so until the can is finished and then work into spinach or tomatoes or whatever other variety is next on the doctor's list. That way you will be able to include all the strained foods in the baby's meal plans.

over a period of two or more weeks, insuring your baby of a nutritionally sound diet.

Of course, the variety of products and the quantities in which they are used will vary according to each infant and can best be determined only by the physician who has known your child from birth.

A CEDAR CLOSET IS HOME ASSET

High up on the list of unwelcome Summer visitors is the moth. No matter how well screened or how careful people are about not leaving unprotected doors open, these pests seem to be able to come in, make themselves at home, and sit down to a nice meal of blue serge, fur coat, or wool blanket.

A fine protection against these possible ravages of moths is a properly constructed cedar closet, where Winter blankets, fur, and clothing may be stored.

The entire surface of the closet, including the inside of the door, should be covered with three-eighths-inch aromatic cedar lining. It is preferable to line the floor with thirteen-sixteenths-inch, but three-eighths-inch can be used. The door should be tight fitting and close against felt gaskets. The lining may be placed directly over plaster if care is exercised to nail it to the studs. Face nailing is suggested, but blind nailing may be used if desired.

The corners should be fitted with quarter-round cedar molding. Cedar shelving may also be used with added effect. The more aromatic wood employed the better the check against moths. A further precaution is to thoroughly clean any article before storing.

Funds to build a cedar closet may be obtained under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

WHY DO WOMEN WORK?

Three quarters of the women of America are supported; here, usually, it is some man who foots the million additional woman who have taken unto themselves jobs. Three out of ten are in domestic service. Of the remainder apparently nine out of twenty draw their pay from state and federal funds, mainly for teaching or welfare work. A large portion of the eleven million are privileged to pound typewriters. All of them can vote and the professions are open to them, an example of its becoming a woman's world. But is it?

A wage differentiation militates against women: in two sections of the country the average earnings of a man nearly double those of a woman, presumably because "women work only for pin money" and men have families to support. From a study of "Why Women Work" based on 12,943 representative women, however, the conclusion is that they "re working to earn a living—for themselves, of course, but half of them are also earning a living for parents, sisters, brothers, husbands, children, who . . . turn to them as breadwinners and often as homemakers as well."

If you wish to know why women work, borrow this study from the Extension Division, University, Virginia, or ask the next ten women whether they would rather be in business or at home. Either way, you'll get illuminating results.

devoted largely to homes of more than average cost. He urged the supervisors to act quickly so that this section could be spared the experience of other sections. Several other members of the delegation spoke in behalf of the petition and no opposition was voiced at the meeting.

Fifteen Day Delay
When it was brought out by the County Attorney that immediate action could not be taken, the Board contented itself with appointing an advisory committee consisting of the following members: P. B. Brittingham, Charles Mowry, Lloyd B. Wickersham, R. C. Lee and Roland Thorp. This committee was instructed to prepare plans showing the limits of the area to be zoned, and to draw up the provisions of the zoning act as designed for passage at the next meeting to be called.

The delegation exhibited considerable disappointment at the necessary delay, and voiced fear that in the meantime, construction would go forward on a hot dog stand which was said to have been laid out on the south-west corner of 105th Street. It was just this type of development that the petitioners desire to eliminate, but from all that could be learned, the 15 day delay will provide ample time in which to build the place in question. Talk of boycott and other opposition was heard, but the meeting seemed unable to agree on legal means of halting the operation on this particular hot dog stand.

Pending the lapse of the 15 day period and the shaping of the plans and provisions of the zoning ordinance, opposition to the plan may develop, but none was in evidence at the Wednesday meeting, unless the building of the hot dog stand at 105th Street could be so construed.

Social Security University Topic

The University of Virginia today announced that the general topic of the Institute of Public Affairs this year will be "Economic Stability and Social Security." The Institute will be held July 3 through 18.

The first week of the Institute will be devoted to a discussion of Economic Stability through International Good Will and Inter-American Aspects of Economic Stability. Two outstanding speakers of the week will be Dr. Robert McElroy of Oxford University, and Dr. George H. Cox of George Washington University.

The second week of the Institute will feature four subjects. Grover Clark, Consultant on Far Eastern Affairs, of the University of Denver, will lead the discussion on the Challenge of the Far East to World Security. Cavalier Plans A Card Tournament

The fifth annual Cavalier Bridge Tournament is to be played the week end of May 28th in the Colonial Ball Room at the Cavalier Hotel.

This tournament is sponsored by the Virginia State Bridge Association, a unit of the American Contract Bridge League. New York. Arrangements are in charge of Mr. Ellis Butt, bridge expert, Norfolk. Mr. Russell J. Baldwin, Cleveland, executive director of the American Contract Bridge League, will be one of the players. Mr. Herbert J. Gerst, Norfolk, president of the State Association, and Mrs. Doyle Driber, Greensboro, N. C., winners of the pair championship event in this tournament for the past two years, will enter this tournament.

Sterling silver prizes will be awarded winners in the various events, which include a mixed open event, an open trophy game, open pair championship, and open team of four championship event, with master points counting for all winners and runners-up. More than 150 players from various parts of the United States will play in this tournament. Invitations have been extended to this group to attend the opening on Saturday night of the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

The Cavalier Colored Chorists will offer a special program of spirituals and plantation songs at the concert Sunday night (May 29) in the Sir Walter Raleigh Room of the hotel as a contribution in the observance of Decoration Day.

Tin Roofs Require Frequent Painting

When the first signs of paint peeling are noted on a tin roof the entire surface should be repainted.

Prepare the roof by cleaning the surface of loose scaling paint with steel wool, sandpaper, or wire brush. Then wipe with benzine or turpentine. Red-lead paint is usually used and should be applied on a clean surface in thin coats and allowed to dry at least a week between coats.

Three coats are recommended. When a new metal roof is put on a structure it should be specially treated to receive paint or allowed to weather for two or three months before painting. This will allow the surface acids in the metal to be liberated and will thus prevent a reaction which would result in loosened paint.

ANNUAL REGATTA OF YACHT CLUB

Hampton Club Will Hold Its Eleventh Marine Race Meet in Early July

Sensational races and a nocturnal marine parade with fireworks are a few of the features being planned by the Hampton Yacht Club for the eleventh Regatta and Water Carnival which will be held on the historic waters of Hampton Roads July 2, 3 and 4. Harold F. Jorgensen, general chairman of the regatta committee, has announced.

The regatta, which will also commemorate the thirty-ninth anniversary of the Hampton Yacht Club, will find outstanding yachtsmen, sportsmen and race drivers from the entire Atlantic seaboard assembled at Hampton.

Powerful hydroplanes, sleek sailboats, fast cruisers and noisy little outboards will compete for approximately $10,000 in cash in addition to several hundreds of dollars worth of handsome trophies, the largest stakes ever offered since the first regatta was held on Hampton River in 1928.

Committees on Arrangements
Upwards of one dozen committees have been named to arrange for the three-day spectacle and weekly meetings are being held to complete all details. While entry blanks have not yet been returned, committee members have expressed gratification over the verbal assurances that many of the country's outstanding racers will participate.

The Virginia Gold Cup that has in past years held the focal point of interest among drivers of unlimited horsepower craft will, for the first time this year, have to share the spotlight with another outstanding award designated as the Governor of Virginia Cup.

The trophy, large and expensive, was donated to the club by Ex-Governor George C. Peery and will be awarded to the winner of the Hampton One-Design sail boat race. The Virginia Gold Cup, donated by Horace Elin Dodge and costing $500, and the Governor of Virginia Cup are both perpetual trophies.

Chesapeake Bay
Commodore H. DuPont Roberts of Maryland, chairman of the Gibbes Island-Hampton sail boat race, notified Commodore Harold T. Bent, Hampton, this week that he has lined up more than a score of off-shore sailing craft for the race down the Chesapeake Bay. The boats race from Old Point Comfort to Hampton, under class categories, and their arrival provides a thrilling spectacle. In 1936 and 1937 the race was held but last year it was temporarily abandoned to permit the boats to enter the international race from Baltimore to New London, Conn.

As tentative plans now stand, the nocturnal marine parade will be one of the features of the show. Hundreds of craft bedecked with flags, colored light and other marine paraphernalia will pass in review as their searchlights flood the roads. Fireworks will add the necessary touch of color to the parade.

Hints For Homemakers

COOL tones in window shades are the vogue! They're designed to subdue the glare of the sun and keep the room livable even on torrid days.

We have discovered there are two such new tints—a green in the spring and a blue in the fall. Both of them soft, muted, and delightfully restful to the eyes. Another household hint for this spring in decoration is that green in its varying tones promises to be particularly important in dappled, slipcovers, cushions, chairs and pottery. And no wonder, for a soft green seems to bring the whole beauty of the countryside indoors!

The Cook's Nook

DELICIOUS!

"Pump priming" is a phrase getting plenty of news-attention these days. "Pump-priming" goes back to the days when you had to pour a little water down the old red pump to get any water from the spout (remember?). Now it's a phrase applied to getting business started on the upgrade. But it has a household meaning, too, which is just as timely now as it ever will be.

"Pump priming" to hostesses, means getting conversation and jollity started; it means getting appetites set and dinner underway. What do you use for "pump primers"—inelegant but apt description?

Juices are prime pump-primers (no pun, now). A cold glass of grapefruit juice with the lassy canape in one good way to begin (it's easy now with canned juice so good and inexpensive). In the mornings, for the first thing of the day, the railroad diners and smart restaurants have a happy custom: a small cup of coffee, hot and fragrant, to start—before anything else at all. The French bring you a roll and a cup of coffee even before you get up—which is a custom worth aping, too.

Any Inflation Today, Lady?
Inflation is another newsy topic about now. Applied to the kitchen, it results in—guess what—fritters and waffles and other puffed-up-with-pride dishes! These too, should go in your repertoire.

The Pump-Primers

Hot Cheese Balls
2 teaspoons flour
Cayenne
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheese
1 egg white
Crushed Brazil nuts
Mix flour and seasonings with grated cheese and fold into stiffly beaten egg white. Mix well, roll into small balls and roll in crushed Brazil nuts. (To crush, place between folds of paper towel and crush with rolling pin). Fry in deep masala (375° F.) until golden brown. Serve hot on toothpicks.

Tomato Sardine Appetizer
12 slices ripe tomato
1 can smoked Norwegian sardines
1/4 cup mayonnaise
Salt
Pepper
Cayenne
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon horse-radish
Watercress
Stuffed olives
Peel, chill and thickly slice tomatoes. Mash sardines and combine with mayonnaise, seasonings and flavoring; chill. Pile on tomato slices, top each with mayonnaise and press slice of stuffed olive onto mayonnaise. Garnish with cress.

Florida First-Course (Salad)
Heap a mound of canned grapefruit (drained) on each salad plate; garnish with strips of avocado and serve with Horseshall French dressing made this way: Rub mixing bowl with 1 clove garlic. Add 3 tablespoons canned grapefruit juice (drained from segments); add few grains pepper; 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, few drops tabasco, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish and 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire.

The Inflators
Banana Fritters
Melted fat or oil
4 medium bananas
1/4 cup flour
Fritter batter
For shallow frying, have 1 inch melted fat or oil in frying pan. For deep-fat frying, have kettle 1/2 to 2-3 full of melted fat or oil. Heat fat to 375° F. (or until a 1-inch cube of bread will brown in 40 seconds). Cut bananas crosswise into quarters, halves or 1-inch thick pieces. Roll pieces in flour then dip into fritter batter, completely coating the banana with the batter. Shallow fry or deep fat fry in the hot fat 4 to 6 minutes or until brown and tender. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve very hot. 6-8 servings.

Fritter Batter: Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons baking powder. Combine 1 egg, well beaten with 1-3 cup milk and add gradually to dry ingredients, stirring until batter is smooth. Then stir in 2 teaspoons melted fat or oil.

Bran Griddle Cakes
2 eggs
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup milk
3 cups flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup all-bran
1/2 cup melted fat
Beat eggs and sugar until light and fluffy; add milk and mix well. Sift with baking powder and salt; add to first mixture, stirring until flour disappears. Add melted and cooled fat, mixing carefully. Fold in all-bran. Bake on hot griddle, turning only once. Yield 15 cakes, 5 1/2 inches in diameter.

Coffee Fluff
1/2 cup freshly made hot coffee
1 lb. marshmallows
1/2 cup heavy cream
Cut the marshmallows in small pieces with wet scissors. Pour scalding hot coffee over marshmallows and let set. When firm add whipped cream and chill. Serves 4.

"Advertisements sometimes appear indicating either by inference or by direct statement that it is easy to treat human ailments by mail order. Such claims, of course, give no place to professional diagnosis, individual factors, and direct medical supervision, all of which are vitally important in assisting nature to get the ailing body back or the health track," states Dr. I. C. Riggins, State Health Commissioner.

"While these facts are plain to everyone who gives serious consideration to such propositions, it nevertheless appears to be a more general custom than is suspected to rely on suggestions of this kind, rather than upon a physician's services. The reason for some of this practice is based upon the comparative inaccessibility in isolated sections to a doctor and the apparent small money outlay involved. On the other hand, there are many persons who, being attracted to the 'endorsements' of 'cured' patrons, promptly respond to this type of so-called treatment despite the fact that excellent medical service is, so to speak, right at their back door.

"The futility of this practice is exemplified by attempting to treat rheumatism by mail. Rheumatism, as popularly known, is not always a definite disease but often is due to many and varied causes, frequently obscure. Obviously, post-stamp medicine under such conditions is woefully inadequate. And what applies to rheumatism equally is true for many other ills for which mail order claims are made.

"The sections of Virginia that cannot be reached by doctors are comparatively few; and where a chronic illness is concerned can be said hardly to exist. Thus, while in more remote localities first aid treatment may have to be invoked in emergencies, for all practical purposes there is no need for resorting to mail order therapy in any case.

"All of which serves again to emphasize that to self-diagnose, dally, and self-treat whether one be influenced to do so by friends, the printed word, or personal egotism is to turn one's back not only upon the advantages that science has developed for the diagnosis and treatment of illness, but against one's fair chance for com-

BAYNE THEATRE PREVUES

Co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy for the fourth time, "The Girl of the Golden West," a musical panorama of early California, opens here today for a two-day showing. Heading the supporting cast are Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo and Buddy Ebsen. Adapted from the David Belasco play, "The Girl of the Golden West" is the story of the girl owner of the Polka saloon and dance hall, loved by the sheriff, Jack Rance, but who falls in love with the bandit Ramer. When the bandit is captured, the girl promises to marry Rance if he will free Ramer, but Rance eventually realizes that the two love each other and he vanishes from the proposed wedding, leaving the lovers in each other's arms.

What happens in the world of learning when the class dumbbell inherits the college through the peculiar provisions of an old will and sets about running it to suit herself forms the comic plot of the musical, "College Swing" which will be shown on the local screen Sunday and Monday, May 22 and 23. An all-star cast of Hollywood's ace comedy players is headed by Burns and Allen, Martha Raye, Bob Hope, Edward Everett Horton and Ben Blue.

the situation that confronts Deanna Durbin in her new picture, "Mad About Music" which comes to the local theatre for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, May 26 and 28. She picks upon the first likely man she sees and persuades him to act as her parent during his short stay in her city. The man happens to be Herbert Marshall—and comedy complications follow thick and fast until the two of them can get together on the stories they tell. The principal feminine role, that of Deanna's young mother, is played by Gail Patrick. Arthur Treacher, noted English comedian, is also featured.

Better Roads Need Of Rural Carriers

"The city postman may have to ring twice, but the rural letter carrier pays twice—in gasoline taxes," said W. L. Hammerley of Randolph, Roads Chairman of the Virginia Rural Letter Carriers Association.

According to a survey which Mr. Hammerley has made, the 836 rural letter carriers in Virginia travel 32,456 miles of Virginia roads daily and consume annually 1,268,456 gallons of gasoline. State and federal gasoline taxes paid by these carriers amount to $76,107 annually. This is paid by the carriers from their own pockets.

"But the heaviest tax by far is the mud tax," said Mr. Hammerley. "The rural mail carrier gets 5 miles less per gallon of gasoline than the man on the hard-surfaced road and his repair bill is four times as much."

"The best portion of the mileage travelled is over secondary and unimproved roads and it is only natural that we should have such a vital interest in these roads. We, as a group, can see every day the crying need for roads in the rural districts of this state and they will do more to develop the rural sections than anything else."

Returning to statistics, Mr. Hammerley said that it is estimated that the rural carriers from a national standpoint travel 1,377,968 miles daily over the nation's 33,861 letter routes and pay more than $4,500 per day in state taxes on motor fuel and more than $1,147 per day in federal taxes on the same gasoline.

The survey further showed that this total daily gasoline tax bill of approximately $4,737 amounts in the course of 300 days or rural mail service to a yearly gasoline tax bill of $1,721,100, of which $144,100 goes back to their employer, the federal government.

"This enormous gasoline tax bill is equal to postage on about 57,370,000 letters," concluded Mr. Hammerley, "but mail must go through."

FARM PLUMBING

One of the most important factors in the preservation of rural health and sanitation is proper maintenance of farm plumbing. Funds for improvements and repairs to existing farm-house plumbing system or for the installation of whole new facilities can now be obtained under the Federal Housing Administration's Property Improvement Credit Plan.

COMFORT

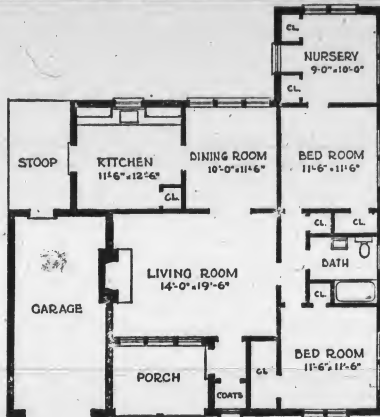

Kitchen comfort is enhanced by allowing knee room below the counter shelf. A high stool can be kept beneath this shelf when not in use. When meals are in the course of preparation the shelf and stool serve to prevent fatigue otherwise induced when the housewife has to stand throughout the entire course of the work.

Annually more than 4,000 farmers are killed by accidents. Farming is America's most hazardous occupation.

For Warm Climates

Following no particular architectural period, this house derives its chief charm from painted brick walls and low roof. The plan is adapted to a climate where one must seek shelter from the sun's rays. The dark coolness of the living room is welcome here, but would hardly be suitable in a northern setting where for many months of the year direct sunshine is desired in all rooms at least part of the day. The kitchen is a little larger than most modern houses of this size require. The bedrooms are of adequate size and the inclusion of the garage in the body of the house follows the modern trend. The house, located in Tulsa, Okla., cost $3,300 and the lot an additional $950. The Federal Housing Administration has insured a mortgage for $3,000 on the property.

FIRST FLOOR

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. I have been noticing that some of the water pipes are leaking in both the joints and the pipes themselves. Can this be repaired and is it costly?

A. Yes, it is possible. If the piping is exposed in the cellar that part of the work will not be costly. It may be necessary to tear up some flooring in the upper floors, but even this will not be unreasonably expensive.

Q. What is considered the best height for display windows in a store?

A. That depends on the type of merchandise. When clothing, furniture, plumbing and heating fixtures are shown the floor should be as low as possible. Hats, jewelry, and like articles should be shown at approximately table height.

Q. I have an old pine floor in my house and in places it has cracked. I don't want to go to the expense at this time of having a new floor laid. What can I do?

A. You can fill the cracks with hardwood strips. If this is too much work then a paste of sawdust and glue can be poured into them. It is unwise, no matter which method is employed, to do the work in damp weather.

Q. A friend of mine got money under the FHA several years ago with which to build a swimming pool. I now would like to do the same. Can I finance it under the FHA?

A. No. Funds are not available under the reinstated Title I for the construction of swimming pools.

Q. Is brick veneer as satisfactory as a brick job for a home?

A. If properly constructed a brick veneer job should give very satisfactory results.

Rust-resistant tubing and piping are available for water and heating systems. The increased cost of this material is usually offset by longer life and less clogging and scaling.

When contemplated modernization includes new heating and plumbing lines, the home owner should consider the advisability of using corrosion-resistant material. The character of the local water should also be known so as to determine its effect on plumbing and heating systems.

Automatic brakes have been invented for automobile trailers that are operated when a trailer surges forward as the brakes of a car towing it are applied.

Old Age Payments Made For April

The sum of $9,945.88 was certified for payment, during the month of April, to 322 claimants in Virginia, who are entitled to old-age insurance benefits. This statement, which was issued today by the Social Security Board, also reveals the fact that a total of 2,246 claims amounting to $57,180.24, were approved for payment, to Virginia residents during the first sixteen months of the operation of old-age insurance provisions.

In April, 1937, claims, amounting to $824,234, were certified for payment to old-age insurance claimants in the United States. A total of 134,297 claims, amounting to $4,249,468, have been certified for payment to persons throughout the whole country, since January 1, 1937.

It is said that the Social Security Board is now equipped to approve one old-age insurance claim every 30 seconds of the working day and is actually approving them at the rate of 750 a day. Spraying with cuprous oxide-contaminated oil, or fumigation with benzol mixed with lubricating oils, is suggested to control blue mold in tobacco seed beds.

Lump-sum payments of old-age insurance benefits are made to eligible workers who have reached 65 since January 1, 1937, and to the relatives or estates of such workers who have died since that time. A lump-sum benefit payment represents 3 1/2 percent of the total wages received. In this State the average payment in April was $39.89.

Majority Vote For Potato Referendum

Voting 124 ballots to 4 in favor of the plan to control the sale of cull and other undergraded potatoes, the farmers of the county who voted in the referendum last week ran up a tremendous majority favorable to the plan of control, but the results of the vote are disappointing, according to H. W. Ozlin, county agent, who pointed out that the size of the vote was too small to represent the true verdict of a county where potatoes are so extensively grown.

"Just what will be done following the balloting that was held in all potato growing states is unknown at present," said Mr. Ozlin. The results are not known as yet at the County Office. In order to put the provisions of the agreement into effect, it was necessary that two-thirds of the producers vote favorably on the measure. It is understood that the referendum failed to develop this majority in North Carolina.

Seed never should be bought on a price basis; cheap seed nearly always is expensive seed. They give as a harvest poor stands, noxious weeds, and diseases, both seed-borne and soil-borne.

Oceana Methodist Church News Items

The Third Quarterly Conference of the Oceana and Virginia Beach charge will be held in Oceana Methodist Church, May 23, at 8 P. M. Dr. William Archer Wright, Presiding Elder Norfolk District, will preside. Officials of both churches are members of this Quarterly Conference.

An Aldersgate Service, commemorating the Bicentennial of the birth of Methodism, will be held in Oceana Methodist Church, May 24, from eight to nine P. M. The pastor will conduct the service, which will be participated in by others. Methodist churches throughout the world will observe this service simultaneously. These services will celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of John Wesley's heart-warming experience in Aldersgate Street Prayer Meeting on May 24, 1738. This experience marked the beginning of the career of the greatest evangelist since the Apostles.

The Norfolk District Conference will be held in Tabernacle Methodist Church, Princess Anne Circuit, May 25 and 26. Dr. William Archer Wright will preside. The Conference will convene May 25 at 2:30 P. M. and will close the following afternoon. Delegates to the Conference from Oceana and Virginia Beach charge are: Rev. J. H. Laughlin, pastor; T. H. Bellin, Roy R. Jackson, H. W. Austin, S. D. Scott, and J. F. Woodhouse. Alternate delegates are: Mrs. A. J. Koutalas, Mrs. Beattie Brock, and A. S. Woodhouse.

Mrs. Clark Elected Oceana P. T. A. Head

At the regular Parent-Teachers Association meeting which was held Tuesday May 17th, Mrs. W. T. Clark was elected president for the session 1938-9. Other officers elected at this time who are to serve for the session were: Mrs. H. L. Strohhorb, vice-president; Mrs. Farmer Morrison, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Brinkley, secretary and Mrs. A. A. Booth, chairman of the First Aid Room.

Mrs. Clark was presented to the association by Miss Dorothy Lipscomb, one of the Oceana teachers. Among other things Miss Lipscomb said when she presented Mrs. Clark was the fact that the new president was an especially capable leader and she was also a go-getter.

In accepting the presidency, Mrs. Clark said we should not only want to make Oceana a good Parent-Teachers Association but we want to make it the best in the State.

Mrs. R. G. De Fries, the retiring president, was given a rising vote of thanks for her services for the past two years.

A "Birthday Party" At Oceana May 27th

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Providence Methodist Church at Oceana is planning a "Birthday Party" to be staged in the Oceana High School gymnasium on the evening of Friday, May 27th at eight o'clock.

Plans call for a table for each of the twelve calendar months and the audience will be seated according to the month in which their birthdays fall. Tables will be attractively decorated in color and design to suit the month represented.

An attractive program of interest to all age groups is being prepared. The admission charge will vary for those in attendance it having been decided to charge one cent for each year of the individual's age.

Proceeds from the program will be used by the Society in its local activities. The public is urged to attend and enjoy an evening of entertainment.

Committees in charge of planning for the entertainment are as follows:

Program: Mrs. R. H. Owen, Mrs. Nola Young. Refreshments: Mrs. Walter Gresham. Local Arrangements: Mrs. Webster Hiteshew, Mrs. Foy Casper. Tables: Mrs. S. S. Paxton. Publicity: Mrs. F. W. Cox.

Mrs. Garner Bakes Fine Spoon Bread

Mrs. John N. Garner of Texas, wife of the Vice President, guards her husband's health as carefully as she does his political domain. In the dual capacity of wife and secretary she has had a corner of her office in the Vice President's quarters curtailed off and quick-lunch paraphernalia installed. On her routine memorandum pad may be seen such notes as: "Lunch for Jack at a 1 o'clock promptly." "Send a messenger for Jack ten minutes before lunch." Mrs. Garner's spoon cornbread is the envy of all that partake of it. The May Progressive Farmer reveals how she makes it as follows:

Spoon Cornbread Three cups of milk, 3 eggs, 1 cup cornmeal, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt.

Stir meal into two cups milk. Let it come to a boil, making a mush. Add remainder of milk, well-beaten eggs, salt, baking powder, and melted butter. Bake in medium oven about 30 minutes, or until done. Serve in pan in which it is baked. An earthenware baking pan is best for this bread.

For the home garden, a 5-8-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer is recommended in addition to manure or compost.

Resort Season Gets Underway Formally Saturday, May 28th

Preparations Have Been Made to accommodate Ever Increasing Crowds at the Beach and Elaborate Plans for Entertainment of All Provided

BEACH CLUBS OPEN

Nationally Known Orchestras to furnish Music for Season at All Open Air Dance Clubs This Year; Two Clubs to Broadcast Programs

The week-end preceding the Memorial Day holiday will be as usual mark the formal opening of the season at this resort, and from expectations, of those in close touch with the situation begin what promises to be a very satisfactory year. Certainly there is evidence of a summer crowd at an earlier date than usual. With the closing of schools in early June, the full summer crowd is expected.

A high light of the opening of the season at the Beach this summer will be the series of initial dances to be held at the three open-air Beach Clubs. With the inauguration of the seasons gay night life under way, there will be dancing every afternoon and night at all the clubs. No expense has been spared in redecorating and expending the facilities of the Cavalier and Surf Beach Clubs, and this week will see the first formal opening of the Terrace Beach Club which is entering the field of pleasure and amusement with an elaborate program.

Beach Clubs Ready

Preparations have been made at the Cavalier Beach Club for an ever increasing attendance. Additional parking space has been provided for cars, and other improvements include a new dance floor, and the erection of an additional sun deck on the ocean side of the dance loggia.

For the opening night at the Cavalier Club, Tom Hartly, Boston dancer and comedian will be master of ceremonies. A reception in the club house for members and their out of town guests, will open the night's program which will be followed by a dance supper and a complete floor show. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Johnny Long and his twelve-piece orchestra, which has won an attraction wherever they have appeared. This is the same orchestra that was so much enjoyed at the Cavalier last season. This year they will be heard twice weekly at 11:00 p. m. over the Columbia network. It is expected that about one thousand persons will be on hand for opening night, with guests from many out of town points.

Will Broadcast Program

TOMORROW WILL BE "POPPY DAY"

Sale of Poppies on the Streets by Young Ladies to Aid Disabled Soldiers

Princess Anne County will pay honor to the World War dead tomorrow by wearing the little red poppy of Flanders Fields. The day will be Poppy Day here and throughout the United States. Poppies will be distributed on the streets by members of the American Legion Auxiliary assisted by many other volunteers.

The day is the approximate twentieth anniversary of the beginning of large scale participation of American troops in the World War. Mrs. A. L. Barco, Sr., the Auxiliary's Poppy Day chairman, pointed out. From May until November, 1918, constantly increasing American forces were in action and more than 50,000 young Americans were killed on the poppy-studded fields of France and Belgium.

Early tomorrow morning, the Poppy Day forces of the American Legion Auxiliary will go into action, offering paper replicas of the wild poppies of France and Belgium to be worn in tribute to the war dead. No specific price will be asked for the flowers, but it is hoped that the contributions will be generous to help support the Legion and Auxiliary work for the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Poppies Hand Made

The poppies have been made by disabled veterans at Kempnigh, near Hampton, who have been given much needed employment during the winter and spring months. Each flower has been shaped by hand by the disabled workers.

The Auxiliary is expecting the most general observance of Poppy Day since the custom of wearing poppies in remembrance of the dead was started at the close of the war. More than 10,000,000 of the little red flowers will be worn and approximately $1,000,000 are expected to aid the disabled veterans and dependent families, Mrs. Barco predicted.

Organization Meeting

A meeting of all workers will be held Friday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Legion Club House at 17th Street for the purpose of instruction in details and the location which each is to canvas. Every effort will be made to bring about the best Poppy sale Princess Anne County has ever held. Those in charge promise that the meeting will be brief. Workers unable to attend may obtain information and supplies from Mrs. A. L. Barco, or Mrs. R. H. Harrison after 7:30 a. m. Saturday morning. All workers are expected to be "at their posts of duty" with all equipment by 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Barco, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Foy Casper, president of the Auxiliary, will be at the meeting tonight to assist those offering their services to the cause.

The members of the Auxiliary urge the public to co-operate with them in their efforts, and trust that no lapel will be without its poppy, the emblem of the soldiers sacrifice.

Mrs. R. Smith Dies After Long Illness

Following the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Williams Smith, wife of Mayor Roy Smith of Virginia Beach, at the family residence on 38th Street last Sunday, after a prolonged illness, the funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Galle Church. The Rev. R. W. Eastman officiated at the services, which were attended by a large group of friends. The casket was covered with a pall of Easter lilies and pink roses and there was a profusion of floral offerings.

The pall bearers were J. L. Woodhouse, Dr. T. L. Brooks, Jr., W. E. Kyle, A. J. Davis, Earl Woodhouse, Dr. R. W. Woodhouse, E. V. Gresham and H. C. Old. The church choir sang "The Strife is Over" and "Jerusalem the Golden." Burial was at Eastern Shore Chapel Cemetery, Oceana.

Accident Loss Of State Tremendous

The National Safety Council today notified the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce that Virginia's estimated accident cost totals $70,000,000 in 1937. These figures along with others concerning the terrific accident loss to Virginia were compiled in connection with the Fourth Virginia State-Wide Safety Conference to be held at Norfolk, June 3 and 4.

Governor Price has also issued a proclamation recognizing in the fact that the loss through accidents to the people of Virginia approximates the sum collected by the state from its citizens in state taxation.

Governor Price called upon the citizens of Virginia to attend the Virginia State-Wide Safety Conference and gain inspiration from the nationally known authorities who will be speakers. More than one thousand delegates are expected to attend the various sessions of the Conference.

A. B. C. Store Will Keep Summer Hours

In keeping with the usual policy at the Beach, C. T. Saunders, manager of the State A. B. C. store has announced that, beginning Saturday, May 28th the hours will be from 11 a. m. until 11 p. m. every day except Sunday, and will continue on that schedule until the end of the current season.

SEASIDE CASINO OPENS SATURDAY

Fireworks and Dancing on Program for First Night; Dee Peterson's Orchestra Will Play

LOMBARDO LATER

Band Concerts Sunday Afternoon and Nights Will Add to Pleasure of Patrons

Getting under way with elaborate fireworks as part of the opening day program, the Seaside Park Casino will launch the beginning of another season of fun and pleasure at the Beach, Saturday night, May 28th. The Casino will present Dee Peterson and his orchestra, now playing at the Club Edgewood, Albany, New York, for the enjoyment of its dancing patrons.

This orchestra has been heard frequently over the major networks, and will be familiar to listeners in this area due to recent airing from Richmond's Westwood Super Club on WRVA. During the past year they have been enjoying a tremendous popularity in such famous spots as the Seven Gables Inn, Milford, Conn.; the Thousand Islands, New York and the Normandie Ballroom in Boston, Mass.

Foremost Orchestra

Dee Peterson is a graduate of the University of Iowa, where the first orchestra was organized, the Iowa Cavaliers, whose personnel constitutes the nucleus of his present unit. In the remarkably short period of four years, Dee has become established as one of the foremost young maestros of the day, due largely to his engaging personality, ambition, and business acumen. He has gathered about him a collection of musicians and entertainers that can hardly be revealed, and the widely varied instruments upon which they perform give a tremendous range of tonal color. The band achieves a balance and blend that compares to a fine organ, and the rich tone lends itself to either the sweet or swing music at which they are equally adept.

Lombardo Later

As part of a lengthy program of entertainment arranged for dance lovers at this resort, the Seaside Park management has arranged for Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, long a favorite with dancers and radio fans. Their appearance will be for the night of June 8th.

Sunday afternoons and evenings during the summer season, will be brightened by band concerts at the Casino, and "Kiddie Nite" will again be featured on Thursday evenings from 8:15 to 9:30 o'clock, when the dance class of the Mabel Sinclair Swift Studio will be presented for the entertainment of the youngsters.

Safety Conference Meets In Norfolk

Completed copies of the program of the Fourth Annual Virginia State-Wide Safety Conference, to be held at Norfolk on June 3 and 4 were released to the eighty sponsoring organizations today by executive chairman Marion S. Battle. More than a score of the nation's outstanding speakers on safety subjects were listed among those who will deliver addresses.

Heading the list as speakers on the general session are Judge John Gutknecht, judge of the municipal court, Chicago, and Dr. Eric Kohler, director general of Central European Traffic Affiliates. Other speakers on the two general sessions programs will be Governor James H. Price and Mayor W. R. L. Taylor of Norfolk.

Sections for which programs are announced include besides the general sessions, separate programs on child and home, street and highway traffic, steam, railroads, public utilities, law enforcement and industries.

Princess Anne County Board Meets; Adopts Annual Budget

Education Body To Attend Convention

The Virginia Education Association announces that plans have been completed for a Twelve-Day Tour-Cruise to carry a large party of Virginia teachers and their friends on a trip to the annual convention of the National Education Association which meets in New York City, June 27-30, with a post convention cruise to Boston and vicinity, Nova Scotia and the Evangeline Country. Reservations are rapidly coming in from teachers throughout the State, it is said.

The trip will include two days of visiting at points of interest in and around Boston, thence a cruise on the ship "Evangeline" to Nova Scotia, landing at Yarmouth, and journeying on from that point by motor coach through Wedgeport, the Lake region, Braemar Lodge on Lake Ellenwood, Digby, stopping at The Pines Hotel in Digby, and at the Grand Hotel in Yarmouth.

Leave From Norfolk

The trip will be made by rail from points in Virginia to Norfolk, and then by steamer to New York, Boston, Nova Scotia and return to Norfolk.

The party will be personally conducted by Dr. C. J. Heatwole, executive secretary, Virginia Education Association.

An itinerary descriptive of the Tour has been sent out by Dr. Heatwole which gives in detail the schedule to be followed by the teachers and the points of interest to be visited by them.

Beach Ministers Elect President

The Rev. J. R. Loughton, pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church, was elected president of the Virginia Beach Ministerial Association, at a meeting of that body held at his home in Oceana. The Rev. Mr. Loughton, succeeds the Rev. Joseph B. Clower, Jr., as president of the association. The Rev. L. W. Meachum, pastor of the First Baptist church, was elected Secretary and Treasurer, succeeding the Rev. R. W. Eastman, in that office.

The Association agreed to hold Union services, beginning Sunday, June 12, at the Seaside Park Casino, at 8 o'clock, and every Sunday night throughout the summer. It is planned in connection with the religious services to have a large chorus of voices, composed of members of the various church choirs. The chorus is to be under the direction of Miss Mildred Garret, director of Virginia Beach Baptist Church choir.

Final Exercises Tuesday At Creeds

A program of closing exercises marking the end of the school year will begin Sunday evening at Oak Grove Baptist church at 8:15 o'clock, when the Rev. H. F. Justice, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon to the graduating class of Creeds High School.

Class night will be held in the school auditorium on Monday evening at 8:15 p. m. by members of the senior class and on Tuesday at the same hour the graduation exercises will be held. The principal address for the occasion will be delivered by the Rev. J. B. Clower, Jr. of the Virginia Beach Presbyterian Church. Evelyn Dixon, is Valedictorian and Mildred Cason, Salutatorian of the 1938 Class.

Other graduates this year are: Elizabeth Ackles, Zelma Caffee, Mildred Cason, Evelyn Dixon, Mamie Ruth Dixon, Margaret Dudley, Marjorie Pentress, Mattie Gornio, Mildred Halstead, Fannie Bell Jones, Margaret Munden, Inez Waterfield, Isola Waterfield, Louise Waterfield, Mardell Williams, Flavia Gibbs, Johnnie Hartley, Ervin Morden, and Ervin Vaughn.

Streessing Need for Economy Supervisors Outline Expenditures for Year 1938-39

HOSPITALS APPEAL

Additional Funds Necessary for School Year "Loaned"; Mosquito Work Continued

Confronted by what seemed to be a determination to conduct the financial affairs of Princess Anne County, as economically as possible, the Board of Supervisors met at the Court House and proceeded to pass the 1938-39 budget as advertised, without any addition or changes. The necessity for economy was much discussed throughout the lengthy meeting. Several proposals for increased expenditures and requests for continued operation of county activities which had been eliminated from the new budget, were denied in keeping with this policy of economy. The budget as finally adopted follows:

General County Fund

Board of Supervisors, $225.00; Assessment of Taxable Property, $5,400.00; Collection and Disbursement of Taxes and other receipts, $2,250.00; Recording of Documents, $2,000.00; Administration of Justice, $6,000.00; Crime Prevention and Detection, $7,000.00; Public Welfare, $16,500.00; Public Health, $6,200.00; Advancement of Agriculture and Home Economics, $1,350.00.

Protection of Live Stock and Fowl, $300.00; Elections, $1,200.00; Maintenance of Building and Grounds, $2,000.00; Capital Outlay, $500.00; Transfer to Schools, $985.00; Miscellaneous, $1,000.00; Equalization Board, $1,500.00; Totals $65,410.00.

County Road Debt Fund, $6,317.50; Kempville District Road Debt Fund, $15,360.00; Lynnhaven District Road Debt Fund, $17,110.00; Pungo District Road Debt Fund, $10,997.50; Seaboard District Road Debt Fund, $2,245.56; Totals $57,930.44.

County School Operating Fund

School Board - Administration, $1,850.00; Superintendent's Office-Administration, $2,800.00; Instruction, $81,369.50; Auxiliary Agencies, $18,460.00; Housing, $13,288.00; Fixed Charges, $1,800.00; Capital Outlay, $2,500.00; Totals $122,017.50.

County School Debt

Lynnhaven School Debt Fund, $10,774.51; Seaboard School Debt Fund, $992.06; Totals $11,766.51. Totals all funds, $257,124.45.

Numerous proposals were made to the board during the day, among others they agreed to pay the Norfolk Hospitals $1.50 per day for each county patient who is unable to pay for their own treatment. This question was brought before the board by a delegation of Norfolk Physicians, representing the Tidewater Hospital Association, and headed by Dr. W. B. Martin, who pointed out that the number of patient days allowed the county under the present arrangement by which

W. T. Cooke School Exercises Tuesday

Celebrating the end of the school year, the graduating class of the W. T. Cooke School will hold their final exercises next Tuesday night, May 31st, at 8:15 o'clock in the school auditorium. An interesting program of entertainment has been arranged depicting the school life of the participants including their hobbies and pleasures. The senior class members will be cast in roles of their own selection. This occasion will mark the second time that the closing program has been informal in nature, differing from the rather formal final exercises formerly held in connection with the school end. The parents friends and public at large are invited to attend the closing of the W. T. Cooke school. The reports and commendations of promotion will be awarded to all students making passing grades on Wednesday, June 1st, the final day of the school year.

"THE VOICE of a majority, saving the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

CAMPAIGN WITHOUT ISSUES

Several weeks of the local political campaign have passed since the candidates in the coming primaries announced for office. Only three more weeks remain before election day, but as yet no one knows what if any issues have been raised, or what the various candidates propose to do if elected. If there is any platform or plan proposed by any of them, they have kept the matter a secret from the general public.

As matters now stand, the campaign is progressing by word of mouth approach to the individual voters. This of itself is alright, but certainly the citizens generally are entitled to know on what basis each and every candidate makes his appeal for public support. This is before election, not after the candidate has become an office holder.

Stated briefly, the welfare of the community is, or should be, foremost in the minds of every voter, and unless he has knowledge of the business ability of the candidate, the policies he intends to pursue, and his attitude toward governmental matters, and intelligent selection cannot be made. Doubtless there are those who are satisfied in their own mind that all is as should be, but the News feels that the general well-being of the Beach would be advanced if there was some way to bring the various candidates into the open on public matters at least, so that the individual office seekers could be appraised by the voter.

We feel no compulsion to take sides for or against any of these seeking office. We are friendly toward all of them personally, but we are convinced that each and every one of them owes it to the electorate to come out and let it be known where they stand, and what is more to the point, for what they stand. It is the opinion of this paper that the financial conditions of the town, warrant a serious effort toward economy in public matters. Expenses should be curtailed wherever possible and an honest effort made toward retrenchment. Under no circumstances should expenses exceed current income.

It is needless for us to say that the columns of the News are open to every candidate for the public expression of their platform and promises. We make a standing offer of this service and trust it will be accepted.

In the final analysis, we have an abiding faith in the will of the majority, when arrived at after careful consideration, but before such an intelligent decision can be made the voter must hear from the candidates for office.

LATEST CRISIS

The world has become so accustomed to "imminent crises" in Europe, that the people no longer become excited when news of a character that formerly stirred or shocked the emotions, is flashed over the radio or blazoned in the headlines. It is but natural that we react as to do. Wolf, wolf and have adopted ourselves to a state of apathy which recognizes that causes and conditions which formerly led to war exists, but at the same time feel that in some unexplainable way, no war will come. At least that is what we gather from our every day circle of acquaintances. It is to be hoped that it will all work out that way, but we have no logical basis for this assumption.

It is a much more tenable conclusion, to assume that nations, like individuals remain much the same in nature, and react much the same to a given set of circumstances in one generation as in another. It is with this thought in mind we approach the drama being played in Europe today. With Hitler and his Sudeten German henchmen in Czechoslovakia, trying by every method and device short of actual war (to date) to force from the little Czech Republic, what they see fit to call "privileges for the German minority" within the Czechoslovakian border. Frankly, we are not informed regarding the merits of the German contention, but we do resent the methods used in attempting to force the busy, law-abiding, hard-working little Republic to accede to their demands. We can see no essential difference between what is going on Czechoslovakia today, and a situation by which Hitler were to demand the rights of citizenship for Germans within our borders, who not only have not become citizens (which privilege is extended to them) but acknowledge a superior allegiance to Germany. Common self respect would lead us to refuse these brazen demands in no uncertain terms and making due allowance for the greater numbers, and military strength of the German nation, we feel that, if Czechoslovakia values their freedom as a people they will do likewise.

Of course this will constitute a defy to the power-maddened Hitler and may in turn bring about an immediate invasion of the smaller country. If that comes, and it may come before this goes to press—we will undoubtedly see a repetition of what happened in 1914, with the spear head of the attack pointing eastward rather than through Belgium. France has promised to go to the assistance of Czechoslovakia under the circumstances, and England, though flirting with the idea of refraining, would be compelled by her own welfare to follow her former ally. It is our opinion that in less time than it takes to tell it Europe would again be in the throes of general war. What effect all this would have on the United States, is still another story, but we venture to say that we could not long remain aloof. Such is the dark picture that faces the world today as a result of the latest crisis.

POPPY DAY

To America, facing disturbed world conditions and struggles against economic troubles, will come Saturday a message of assurance and courage. It will come from the men who gave their lives for America when the country was facing a warring enemy twenty years ago.

The message will be in such simple form that everyone, even the children, can understand. It will come in the form of little red poppies worn on the coat lapels. It will speak of days when Americans were dying for their country and will urge the same spirit of courageous patriotism in facing the dangers of today.

The poppy is the flower that grew in the shell-churned soil of the battle front in France and Belgium, the only touch of beauty surviving war's destruction and the only floral tribute for the war dead. It became and remained the symbol of the highest patriotic sacrifice. On Poppy Day each year, The American Legion and Auxiliary bring it to us with its eloquent message from the dead. Can anyone wear a poppy without feeling a glow of pride in his country? Can anyone see the poppies blooming brightly on hundreds of coats without knowing a surge of confidence in America? Reminded by the poppies, can anyone doubt that the nation capable of such effort and sacrifice twenty years ago, will be victorious over today's difficulties?

Every American should wear a poppy on Poppy Day and all America should catch the poppy's message. The brave little blossom says:—

"Remember the dead, aid the disabled and carry on for America."

FEAR NOT FOR ISHMAEL

There is no need to fear for Ishmael.
Though driven from his father's tents was he,
And forced, with Hagar, through the night to flee
Across the sands he came to love so well.
There is no truth in stories that he fell,
For he arose, and, roaming wild and free,
In the desert, where his strength will be,
His voice is heard like clarion silver bell.

He is the falcon of those eastern lands,
Since driven forth so long ago by them
Who hated him, across those desert sands.

This falcon stoops to seize the diadem
Of David's kingdom in his hardy hands,
And darkly broods above Jerusalem.

FORGET!

What is that magic of the long ago,
The Pipe of Pan which only children hear
Now tinkling faintly by the reedy weir,
Now murmuring in a saffron afterglow?
It is an echo only children know,
A new dimension in the atmosphere:
While things beloved are strange and yet more dear,
Tomorrow widens, glamorous and slow . . .
Who shall recapture a beatitude,
A hushed discernment which the gods allot
To innocence alone? But even yet
It may not be too late, in wistful mood,
This vision to retrace: the gift is not
To those who can remember,—but forget!

MARY SHACKLEFORD

O Mary of the Irish eyes,
O maiden mild and kind,
Whose smile unlocks the fastest heart
Or casts a spell to bind!
The day was drear whereon we met,
And leaden were the skies,
But Mary smiled—and suddenly
I stood in Paradise.
The sunshine on Killarney's lakes
Was never half so sweet
As the smile that plays on Mary's eyes
Lone walls like us to greet.
The dove that coos through Cratloe's wood,
Whooing its mate of choice,
Has less allure upon its note,
Than gentle Mary's voice.

O Mary of the smiling eyes
That gladden this poor earth,
Thrice blessed the happy heart
Who leads you to his hearth:
He'll rock not if the sun on high
Is from its station hurled,
For Mary's smile will light his life,
And warm his radiant world.

Back, come back from the hills
That hold you,
Back from the place where the

Only the ancient hills could mold you,
An oak that lifts to the windy

On the maple's breast the moon is hung,
Here is the russet autumn dying,
And the hills are old . . .
Love is young.

X-Cerpts From The News

"The New Jersey Senate this week passed a resolution legalizing horse racing and pari-mutuel betting in that state,—subject to the approval of the voters. The bill already had been passed by the Assembly . . . this same privilege has been petitioned in Virginia on several occasions in recent years, but until now, our law-makers have not seen fit to trust the people to decide this matter for themselves. Some day we may be granted this privilege which is the right of all free people.

"The bones of a three-toed sloth, a prehistoric animal, were discovered in a newly found cavern in the Skyline Park, according to scientists who explored the cave." It is said to be the first such discovery in Virginia—and all the time we had thought they were found only in the cross-word puzzle.

From this distance it appears that a show of resistance on the part of Czechoslovakia supported by a threat of action by France with the moral backing of Great Britain, has served to curb Hitler for the present at least. We may be wrong but we venture the opinion that the principal stock in trade of these dictators is bluff, and the sooner a strong combination of opposition develops, the quicker the World will be restored to something approaching peace.

"Representative Dies of Texas, said today a proposed House investigation of un-American propaganda would result in disclosures that will shock the nation" . . . probably, but it will take a lot of disclosures to do it. We have gone so far in recent years, and old fashioned patriotism has become so out of style, that we can hardly conceive of the people getting excited about anything. It must be pretty bad, and if Congress owes it to the people to dig it up and let them know about it . . . may be it will stir them to a feeling of patriotism after all.

"A high-flying airplane dropped four bombs less than one-hundred yards from the temporary residence of President Cardenas of Mexico" . . . the significance of this act is not found in the fact that it marks the beginning of another revolution in Mexico. Revolutions have been numerous in that country, but rather that it broadens the theatre of war-fare to include a part of the North American Continent. Incidentally, it is the first time so far as is known when the first act of war on this continent has been a bombing operation—usually this "first gun" episode has been cannon fire or rifle fire as at Port Santer or Lexington.

"Dull care flew out of the window when Alf Landon, Republican candidate for President in 1936, met Colonel Frank Knox, his running mate, in New York" . . . happy to have the running behind them, no doubt.

"A bay mule, nuzzled a horse colt and hee-hawed at skeptical horse men who say that mules do not have off-spring"; says a news article . . . what with the motor car business at a low ebb, we know they will have to see this new source of competition develop.

"Germany orders General von Falkenhagen and staff of 40-odd advisors to General Chiang Kai-shek to return home," we learn from the papers. Judging from the results they have succeeded in obtaining in China recently, we think the term "odd advisors," is fitting enough under the circumstances.

"Sixty-four year old Harold Ickes, Secretary of Interior of the U. S., weds sister of widow of son," says a headline.—This makes for a strange relationship, probably a sort of extra shuffle to the New Deal.

"Italian King Fled" Headline. In recent years any number of kings have been forced to do the same.

Two men were arrested immediately following a daring attempt to kidnap Viscount Nuffield, British motor magnate . . . This is something new in Britain, but quick arrest and prompt conviction will break up the racket before it gets the headway it attained in this country. We can trust the English to do just that.

"Germany," declared the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, "never demanded nor planned a warlike solution of the Czech problem—peace was never threatened by us so no credit is due England for saving it," says a news item . . . Be that as it may, the saving of peace is so much to be desired today that there will be credit for all if it can be preserved.

BOOKS TO OWN

THE FLYING YORKSHIREMAN

Novellas
By Eric Knight, et al.
Ed. by Whit Burnett and Martha Foley
Harpers. 281 pp. $2.50
A Review by Jerald A. Foster
Brannon, University of Virginia

Extension Reviews
The May Book-of-the-Month Club has recommended to its readers a book of novellas entitled "The Flying Yorkshireman." The volume thus offered is a collection of five highly interesting stories, each by a different author, which are longer than the regular short story yet do not attain the extended length of the so-called novelette.

There has long been an intermediary stage in story writing which, unhappily, has not been given the full place in American letters that it so unquestionably deserves. It is that form of the creative art which is written without any clearly defined regard for certain specific boundaries which now prevail within the publishing field. Instead of an author's being forcibly limited to certain mechanical confinements in producing a salable story for the press, he writes with the one supreme objective of telling his story as it should be told, without consideration for the exact number of words required to complete the work. This is an essential freedom on which every sincere creator deserves, and one which he should demand for the sake of his art and its highest good.

Without any desire to reflect upon the undoubted merits of the short story, it may well be said that the novella is just as concentrated in form and method of approach as the short story but possesses the added advantage of greater liberty of action and a considerably increased sense of time and space in the evolution of situations and characters. The French speak of the conte for a short piece of fiction but of the nouvelle being predicted upon the root word novella. The long short story has begun to impress itself upon readers of current fiction, for several of exceptional merit have appeared during the past year. More will come from other pens equally, if not more, gifted when writers once come to realize that there is some degree of assurance for their acceptance. The majority of the stories thus far have been substantial, effective, solidly constructed and worthy of more than just a passing place.

The first story in the group, "The Flying Yorkshireman," by Eric Knight, is the kind of unusual fantasy which stimulates the imagination, evoking both wonder and laughter as the bold Yorkshireman makes the startling discovery that he can fly at will, sometimes like a sea gull, sometimes like a lark.

Then follows "Snow in Summer," by Helen Hall, who is an associate professor of English at Columbia University and a gifted writer of recognized standing. She tells with sympathetic appeal of the distressing dilemma of a modest, quiet-mannered young mother who finds herself unexpectedly elevated to the dizzy pinnacle of literary fame. That which follows is the value of each and

DIESELS FOR RECOVERY

In economic history the spur to recovery has most often been a new discovery or a new invention or a new development which has attracted capital and put men to work. No such impetus came out of the 1929-1932 depression. In default the Government induced recovery. But the pump, unfortunately resisted priming, and no new enterprise came along to carry recovery forward, as the railroad did last century and the automobile did this century. This absence of enterprise has worried the economists. Can it be, they ask, that there is an increasing secular difficulty in finding promising channels of investment on a large scale? In less economic language, is the spirit of enterprise, which flourished so exuberantly in pioneer America, dropping?

A negative answer seems to have been supplied by the General Motors Corporation. In a recent article I have said that because of the greater unused mileage of cars now on the roads, the automobile would not be in the lead of the next recovery. The industry, however, makes other things besides automobiles. In the last few years a good deal of the time of General Motors has been taken up with research into improvement of the diesel engine. And the announcement now comes from Detroit that a new factory has been dedicated to the mass production of new-type diesel engines with a horsepower as low as 22.

The diesel engine is, of course, not a new idea. But the new developments are sufficiently important to constitute a new idea. It was in the '90's that Dr. Rudolf Diesel gave his invention to the world. The principle is the compression of air within a cylinder. In this manner the temperature of the air is raised to such a high degree that, when brought in contact with the fuel oil, a combustion takes place within the cylinder which drives the piston down on its power stroke.

However, till recently, application of the idea has been very limited. Two reasons have accounted for this: first an inability to make engines sufficiently light or flexible for installation; and, secondly, the relatively low speed of the motor. These handicaps have now been overcome.

In recent years, manufacturers have been enabled to reduce the weight of the diesel from around 400 pounds per horsepower to around 20 pounds. A comparable gasoline engine weighs around 15 pounds. Moreover, there has been developed a fuel pump capable of injecting the fuel at high speeds and making it possible for manufacturers to increase the speed of the diesel to about 3,000 revolutions a minute, against a former speed of 600 revolutions. General Motors' contribution lies in the decision to engage in the mass production of what are called "packaged power" units at competitive prices.

These improvements in the diesel engine persuaded the brokerage firm of Hornblower & Weeks to describe the prospects of the industry as "very bright." After reading the figures and details provided by this firm, I agree. At present the field may be restricted mainly to the motor truck industry. However, the time may not be far distant when passenger cars will receive attention. There are no spark plugs or other ignition devices in the true diesel engine, cars powered with diesels would be relieved of their present fire hazard.

Then what? Will the packaged power units eventually provide the way for that break-up of industry that many reformers today are seeking on grounds of political health? Is the diesel, in making cheap power available at low installation costs, "dating" the present political tangle over TVA's and private utilities? One wonders. But, surely, enterprise in economic life is marching faster than political development.

NO MASON AND DIXON LINE

"There will be no embarrassing moments for any veteran," Chairman John S. Rice assures the nation in further explanation of plans for the Gettysburg reunion. He adds: "Our sole objective is peace and harmony within the United States. There shall never again be a Mason and Dixon line."

The former of these statements may be accepted without question. No discrimination was shown at Gettysburg in July, 1913, when Pennsylvania was host to ten times as many men as can gather to observe the seventy-fifth anniversary of the battle. Provision for the veterans will be superior this year and will be considerable in every particular. Of that we are sure, though we could not subject our hearts to the emotional strain of seeing those tottering men of 90 on the field. Some of us who knew Confederate veterans in their prime wish to remember them as they were and not as they inevitably are in the last years of their lives.

While Pennsylvania will prove the perfect host, we must dissent from the ideal that "there shall never again be a Mason and Dixon line." Sectional bitterness there must not be; sectional flavor or spices American life. What Southerner has not delighted in the humor of Vermont or in the freedom of the plain? Who would desire all America to be as uniform as motor cars fresh from the assembly line? No, we hope the Mason and Dixon line will remain—provided it is crossed often in both directions. If North and South mingle enough, each will appreciate the other and wish it to retain its distinctive best qualities and outlook. The difficulty is in getting stubborn-minded persons to cross the line otherwise than under compulsion. We have to confess regretfully that some faces still seem to stiffen when, on a Pullman car, a Southerner wakes up to find himself in New Jersey, or a Northerner looks out on Richmond. Keep the line—but go over it often enough to respect the man on the other side of it.

BUSINESS NEEDS ONLY COURAGE

To the oft-reiterated complaint that Business men are timid and unwilling to do their share toward bringing about recovery, a dramatic reply was made a week or two ago by one of the largest chain-store systems. These merchants did not content themselves with making patriotic speeches or issuing statements to the press saying they were ready to spend money whenever the Government took its hands off business. Instead of making empty gestures, (Continued on Page Three)

As Others See It

In the New York and other newspapers they ran big display advertisements announcing that they wanted to buy merchandise on an unprecedented scale. Five million dollars of first quality merchandise, and they wanted it that very week. Their ordinary purchases are a million dollars a week. They were confident that through their 1,600 outlets they could sell double that amount every week. If manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers were willing to join in cutting profits and giving the public real savings in their purchases. So they engaged quarters in a big New York hotel where their whole staff of buyers was ready to meet the people who had their kind of merchandise to sell.

The sellers came in droves, and the merchants bought—five million dollars' worth of goods, largely for cash.

"We thought it was time for business to prime its own pump," said President Woodworth of the United Cigar-Whelan Stores. "We are convinced that the public is buying again, and that business will pick up if business men only believe it and prove their belief by acting on it."

There is something of the old American spirit of independence and self-reliance in this incident. If every business concern in the Nation would go ahead in the same fashion instead of whining about business being hampered by Government, the wheels of industry would soon begin to revolve again and the unemployment problem would be well on its way to solution.

The Northampton Times

"HIS STRENGTH WAS AS THE STRENGTH OF TEN."

John Wesley was a small man in stature, and by nature retiring and modest. All his training was in the atmosphere of high culture and refinement. He did not seem to be the kind of a man to grapple with mobs aflame with passion and blood. But he became the master of them, as few men of any age. His influence over the rough element was almost superhuman. They felt he had a charm he used over them.

He came to Falmouth in 1745. The mob assaulted the house where he was staying, breaking down the doors and smashing the windows. His friends were in for secreting him away, but he would not have it so. Bereheaded the little man went into their midst alone and looking them in the eyes asked one and another, "Here I am. Which of you have anything to say to me? To which of you have I done any wrong? To you? To you?" The mob, cowed to silence, watched him and he cried out, "Do you desire to hear me speak?" They voted with loud cries that they would have him speak. The howling mob became his protectors and they heard his sermon through.

He says on another occasion they tore off his clothes and covered him with dirt, after assaulting him with sticks and stones. But God was with this second Apostle Paul and no wonder the historians say he saved England. No wonder a great Church arose from his labors.

History was made today—read the newspapers.

"Horse Sense"

The real danger of the highway grade crossing is determined by the action of the automobile driver. The facts speak for themselves.

Twenty-three per cent of all highway grade crossing accidents on the Norfolk and Western Railway last year, was due to automobile drivers driving into the sides of trains.

One hundred and twenty-one automobile drivers drove through and broke down crossing gates.

And, according to a recent check at a number of protected N. & W. crossings, 61 per cent of the automobile drivers continued to cross the tracks after warning signals had begun to operate and before the trains had reached the crossings.

In the United States last year, 1,875 people were killed and 5,136 others were injured in grade crossing accidents. This tragic destruction of life could have been prevented by the application of plain "horse sense"—"horse sense" that tells you to always—STOP—LOOK and LISTEN—at grade crossings.

This is the season when automobile traffic is heaviest. When you come to a grade crossing—stop! It takes only a minute. It may save your life and the lives of those riding with you.

The Norfolk and Western has expended hundreds of thousands of dollars for protective devices at crossings; it is spending many thousands more each year for the pay of gatemen and watchmen—all for your safety. Won't you do your part to protect yourself and others by using plain "horse sense"—and always stop at grade crossings.

COUNTY BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET

Princess Anne County pays $150.00 a month, was being exceeded and the association felt that the county should bear a larger share of the necessary expense of maintaining the institutions. The board did not seem to take this view of the matter and after some discussion agreed to pay the hospitals at the rate stated, the arrangement to continue until December 31st of this year.

Sewing Rooms Discontinued
The operation of the sewing room for white women, which has the necessary funds to continue functioning until July 1st, will be discontinued after that date unless further action is taken at the June meeting for its continuance. The negro sewing room was ordered closed immediately on the report that the majority of those employed on that project were able to find work in private employment at the Beach.

It was found necessary to transfer $8,000 from the general county fund to the school fund for the purpose of tiding over the school year. It was made clear that this was not a grant of funds, but an interdepartmental loan which must be repaid by December 15th of this year as delinquent tax collections are made.

Fight on Mosquitoes
Continuance of the mosquito eradication work now being done in the area north of Virginia Beach Town limits was provided for until fall of this year. This work is being done with W. P. A. labor, the county providing materials and paying for the supervision and inspection. The Board also agreed to ask for bids for the collection of garbage in that section where the service is now maintained. A sum of $200 was appropriated to assist in maintaining three county residents who are patients in Tuberculosis Hospital until such time as further improvement warrants their return to their home.

Well Painted Porch Floors Last Longer

Outdoor floors, such as porches and patios, are usually painted only on top after being laid, with the result that cracks frequently develop between the boards.

Water then collects in the cracks and soaks into the edges of the boards and loosens the paint. By painting the boards all over with one or more coats of good paint before laying the floor this can be prevented, and the floor paint will last much longer.

Miss Blain Roane of Norfolk spent the past weekend with Miss Elizabeth Scott.

The 1938 summer season at Virginia Beach will be officially opened tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the opening day parade makes its start from Eighth Street along the ocean promenade. The parade will include approximately 20 decorated floats, a number of county school children, bathing beauties and probably two companies of soldiers and sailors.

PERSONALITIES IN MUSIC

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY, A.S.C.A.P.

By Daniel I. McNamara

SEVEN years ago, at the age of sixty, with world fame as a piano virtuoso and composer of hundreds of works for piano, Leopold Godowsky, A.S.C.A.P., started to pioneer in a new field. Not content to live with memories of success as artist, composer and editor, his restless genius spurred him to new endeavor.

In seven years he has done an amazing work, creating a rich library of pianoforte compositions for the left hand only. In this hitherto neglected musical realm, he has disclosed to pianists an astonishing development of the possibilities of the left hand.

Had Godowsky done nothing else, his fame would have been secure through these recent compositions. Now that he has rounded out his impressive collection of this new type of work, he has returned to his earlier compositions, and is devoting himself to their revision. It was on the basis of these earlier works that he was elected to the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and the rights of public performance for profit of his copyrighted works were made available to ASCAP licensees.

Born in Wilna, Russia, February 13, 1870, a son of Dr. Mathew and Anna Lewin Godowsky, Leopold Godowsky was a concert pianist at the age of nine. He entered the Berlin Hochschule at fourteen, and later studied in Paris under Saint-Saens. Before he reached his teens he toured Russia, Poland and Germany as a concert pianist, and at fourteen made his first American tour, playing in many American cities between 1884 and 1886.

In 1895, he became director of the piano department of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, remaining in that position until 1900. Several years of concert tours and intensive composition followed.

In 1909, he was created Imperial Royal Professor of the highest rank by the Emperor of Austria and named director of the Imperial Royal Metropolitane for Piano at the Imperial Royal Academy of Music in Vienna. In 1912, he was made editor-in-chief of the Art Publication Society of St. Louis.

Godowsky's studio in Riverside Drive, New York City, is the scene of frequent impromptu concerts of chamber music directed by the maestro. Sometimes Albert Einstein, distinguished mathematician and warm friend of Godowsky, is first violinist in these musicals.

Godowsky keeps abreast of the latest developments of physics and chemistry, delights in discussions of scientific trends.

Godowsky is an aviation enthusiast. He flew before passenger carrying had reached the commercial stage. One of his first flights was from Paris to Morocco fifteen years ago, when flight over the Mediterranean was accompanied by hazards.

He likes to fly today, he says. In the air his mind is composed—and he can think out the intricate arrangements of his compositions for the left hand.

HEALTH NOTES

THE GERM COMPLEX

"There is a certain type of individual whose line of least resistance is to carry a pet idea to extremes. To this group belong those persons who have developed a super germ-phobia. Having read too sympathetically about typhoid fever, tuberculosis and other disease organisms they illogically conclude that almost everything they touch is likely to be contaminated. The result is an undue washing of the face and hands and the constant cleansing of objects that could not possibly cause infection," states Dr. I. C. Riggins, State Health Commissioner.

"Such persons fail to realize that germs are omnipresent and that good and bad ones exist, the former being by far the more numerous. It is quite true that the microscopic organisms that are working for humans have not been so generally publicized as those responsible for some of the devastating diseases. Compared to those persons who have heard of the pneumonia or syphilis germ, for example, there are very few who have any knowledge of the lactic acid bacillus that does so much good by changing milk into buttermilk and cheese. Still fewer have any knowledge of the denitrifying bacteria that convert the nitrogen of the vegetable kingdom to oxygen, and the sulphur bacteria that attack decaying matter and oxidize it into the sulphates so essential in nature—actually legions of well-doing and life-giving organisms.

"Everyone should have due regard for both the good and the bad germs; for the former, gratitude; and for the latter, reasonable respect for their power to harm. However, reasonable respect is a far cry from the germ mania with which some persons unfortunately are afflicted.

"That due caution should be exercised where disease germs are concerned goes without saying. Caution involves respect for the quarantine sign for communicable diseases and the reasonable observance of all the rules for personal and public hygiene.

"On the other hand, to entertain the thought that anything and everything with which one comes in contact is likely to harbor disease germs is to nourish an attitude that unnecessarily makes one uncomfortable and fearful."

Washington & Lee Finals Next Week

Washington and Lee University's 189th finals will start officially Sunday, June 5 when Dr. Theodore F. Adams, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Richmond, Virginia delivers the baccalaureate address in historic Lee Chapel.

Students will turn their attention back to examinations for several days, however, after the baccalaureate address before the three days devoted to finals activities, June 8, 9 and 10. Examinations will begin at the university on May 28, ending the morning of June 8.

The Interfraternity-Sigma band is scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 8 as the first of the social activities. The dance, like those of the following two evenings, will be held in Doremus gymnasium.

Boat Races Thursday

The Washington and Lee board of trustees will hold their annual finals meeting Thursday morning, June 9. That afternoon the two W. & L. boat clubs—the Albert Sydney and the Harry Lee—will meet for their yearly race over the North river course here; also on the afternoon's schedule is a dance. An Alumni smoker will be held in the Student Union building at 8 p. m., and Dr. Francis P. Gaines, the university president, will give a reception for graduates, trustees, visiting alumni and parents at his residence on the campus at 9 p. m. The Senior Alumni ball will begin at 10 p. m.

Commencement exercises will be held in Lee Chapel Friday morning, June 10, at 11 o'clock. Dr. Gaines, following a recently established custom, will address the graduates. An alumni luncheon is scheduled for one o'clock.

The traditional Washington and Lee final ball will begin at 11 o'clock that evening.

Final Love — Dad: "Son, I'm spanking you because I love you."
Son: "I'd sure like to be big enough to return your love."

den acclaim constitutes a most charming narrative.

"Season of Celebration" by Albert Maltz, is the vivid and realistic tale of a neglected farm boy who makes his way into the great city and looks with untutored eyes upon the character istic New Year's celebration which marks the Bowery at that gay season of festivity. From a New York flophouse to the starlit manger at Bethlehem is a long journey, indeed. Mr. Maltz drives his story home with telling conviction, but with more profanity than is necessary.

"Turnip's Blood," by Rachel Maddux, gives promise of better things yet to come. Miss Maddux is a twenty-three-year-old writer of Wichita, Kansas, and this is her first story. It is a lively, amusing and rather foolish tale of a totally irresponsible girl, her pet dog, and a patient but vastly confused young doctor who understandingly loves her through all her vicissitudes, many of which might have been avoided both for the comfort of the reader and the reputation of the author.

The last of the novellas, "The Song the Summer Evening Sings," by I. J. Kapstein, is an arresting portrayal of memories that linger, as a boy who is now a man finds himself moved to muse upon the past. He is carried back in sand recollection to the days of long ago, to the home that once was, to love and laughter, and the teeming incidents which crowd into the life of a busy lad. That the lad was from lowly origin is inescapable, for the ever-present flavor of his poor immigrant background is undeniable; but through it all runs a thread of earnest humanness which is ever dear to the heart.

DAMP BASEMENT
Damp basement walls can frequently be corrected by grading the surrounding ground away from the building to insure quick shedding of surface water. Eaves troughs connected to a sewer or dry well should be provided to carry away the roof drainage and eliminate a water-soaked soil condition near and against the house. Under more severe conditions it is often necessary to dig a trench around the exterior basement walls and brush coat them with an asphalt compound or apply a one-half inch coat of portland cement mortar. Drain tile laid in a bed of crushed stone and connected to a sewer or dry well should then be installed and the trench back-filled.

MODERN TRENDS IN INFANT FEEDING

Being a mother nowadays isn't quite what it once was. Not so long ago a woman took having her children as a matter of course. She began by a mother to a dearly loved doll. Then after a time she tucked the doll away, did up her hair and had a beau. And before you knew it, she was married and had children of her own. And so the cycle rolled on and on. This business of having babies was part and parcel of the richest, rarest fabric of a woman's life. But her preparation for these babies, aside from an elaborate layette over which she worked with loving care, was negligible. Prenatal development and methods of rearing the baby were chiefly dependent on family traditions and the "a mother knows by instinct" theory.

Since rounding the century, however, the importance of babies to science has increased immeasurably. The medical profession, in alliance with the chemist and dietitian, has expended its field of research to include every phase of infant development. And the baby by now is a complicated little bundle hedged in by rules and research, all calculated to produce the superior child. So that nowadays you can't take your children just as a matter of course. You have to work at this business of being a mother—make a career of it—surely and diligently as any man must work at building a sound, successful business.

Take feeding your baby, for instance—it used to be customary for mother to nurse her baby until he cut teeth enough to handle soft food. Then it was merely a matter of working him through the gruel stage until he was ready for regular family fare. But now if you tackle the problem with forward looking eyes and eagerness to give your baby the soundest start possible, you must wade right into a study of minerals and vitamins, schedules and formulas. It all seems pretty formidable at first. But you'll soon discover that industry has followed swiftly in the footsteps of science to supply adequately the nutritional needs of your baby in convenient and simplified forms. For instance, the milk diet must early be supplemented with a potent source of vitamins D and C to build strong healthy bones and teeth, and firm gums. Industry answers this need with cod liver oil, Tomato Juice and orange juice, all of which are readily accessible to everyone. Then in a few more months, to maintain your baby's growth rate and accommodate his increased caloric intake, you must add a little finely divided bulk to the baby's diet.

Dark Tone Walls Make Room Cool

When the weather is hot there is very little that can be done by the interior decorator to make it any cooler, but a wise choice of wall finish will at least make a room look cooler.

Pattern and texture, as well as color, influence the amount of light and the seeming degree of warmth or coldness in a room, according to decorating authorities. The darker colors are said to absorb more light and make a room seem cooler and more rest-

Your Stock as a Charmer Goes Up With Home-Made Strawberry Jelly!

GIRLS who can cook are the popular ones—no doubt about it. If you really want to be appreciated, just try your hand at home-made strawberry jellies and jams! Hard-headed, indeed, is the man who can hold out against such sweet and flavorful allure.

It's almost as easy to make jelly these days as it is to put on lipstick, but back in the era when cosmetics were considered "fart" jelly-making was anything but that. It took poor grandmas upwards of an hour to turn out a good batch of spreads. . . . You can follow the example of members of the National Jelly Making Club and paraffin more glasses from every quart of fruit—just fifteen minutes after it was first prepared! No failures with recipes like these, either, and every bit of the strawberry's own flavor lurks in the finished spread:

Ripe Strawberry Jelly
4 cups (2 lbs.) berry juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 8 quarts fully ripe berries. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Squeeze and strain juice from 1 medium lemon.

Measure sugar and fruit juices into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 12 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

Ripe Strawberry Jam
4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
8 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, grind about 2 quarts fully ripe berries, or crush completely one layer at a time so that each berry is reduced to a pulp. Measure sugar into dry dish and add until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle. Filling up last cup or fraction of cup with fruit if necessary; place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, 1/4 teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 10 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

HOME BUYING AN INVESTMENT

Day of quick profit from Speculative Safe Gone; Intangible Dividends of Greater Value

If the purchase of a home can be viewed as a long-term investment rather than a speculative venture which may pay quick cash returns to the buyer, there will be fewer disappointments and considerably greater stability in the home-building industry, in the opinion of Stewart McDonald, Federal Housing Administrator. "The prospect of ready profits from quick resale of a home remains generally only a prospect," he said. "For a good many years now we have been ignoring the real advantages of home ownership in a futile search for easy money. Not long ago it was the custom for us to buy houses we knew we could not afford because of our abiding belief in our ability to resell the property in a few years at a greatly expanded price. This is not true, and thousands of home buyers in this country now know this is a myth.

"The fortunes built on this kind of speculation were established long ago, and there have been very few, if any, new fortunes made on this system in many a decade. On the other hand, home ownership has tremendous intangible dividends to pay the average individual in comfort, security, pride of ownership, and a deeper sense of well-being.

No Speculation

"The home buyer who ventures abroad in the market with the idea of buying a home on speculation is, in effect, simply postponing the time when he will get the most out of what usually is the largest single purchase a family makes in a lifetime.

"There is a great deal less experience to draw from in home buying than in buying any other commodity from clothing to automobiles. A great majority of persons are thoroughly conversant with the relative merits of different motor cars and are consequently better equipped to appraise their worth.

"This is not true of home buying, because the average individual buys but one home during his life, and it involves, in most cases, an expenditure many times in excess of that for the average automobile.

"The Federal Housing Administration adheres rigidly to a policy of discouraging the purchase of a home as a speculative venture. It cannot accept a mortgage for insurance when the home buyer is attempting to underwrite an obligation beyond his reasonable capacity to pay.

"The FHA can and will protect the inexperienced buyer against most of the common mistakes and, in addition, will guard against shoddy construction, badly planned neighborhoods, and inferior building materials.

Mrs. Hardin's Pupils Give Piano Recital

Elsie Moore Hardin, an instructor in piano at the Willoughby T. Cooke School, will present a group of her pupils in a recital to be held on Friday, May 27th, at 8:15 p. m. in the Sunday School Room of the Presbyterian Church. Those taking part in the program are Wilmer Fostete, Barbara Baskridge, Warner Moore, Elsie Potegay, Gardner Hardin, Jane Korngess, Frances Furman, and Margaret Miller. Miss Vera Ruger, prominent Norfolk violinist, who is a pupil of I. E. Feldman, will present several selections with Mrs. Hardin as accompanist. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested persons.

Wedgewood Design For Dining Room

One of the newest decorative wallpapers, best suited for dining rooms, comes in a typical wedgewood blue with white flurries. Combined with drapes of the same shade, with mirrored walls, the result is highly unusual and pleasing. The design is also to be had in the other conventional wedgewood tones.

Pot flatness in your foams; put pep in your pallid provender—"pick-ups" can do it!

A "pick-up" is anything that, literally, "picks up" a dish and carries it up to the heights of the extraordinary. That dash of paprika atop the pale mayonnaise, the drop of vanilla in the whipped cream, the snip of chives on the potatoes—these are pick-ups for provender. Notice how a little grapefruit juice picks up the flat French dressing, how a sprinkling of Brazil nuts aids the ice cream, how banana slices improve peanut butter sandwiches or omelets.

Mrs. S. E. Haynes of Norfolk entertained Monday afternoon, at a luncheon at the Dundee Inn, in honor of Mrs. E. A. McKinnon and Miss Amy Allen of St. Louis, Mo.

Those present besides the guests of honor were Mrs. A. C. Adams, Mrs. F. Hessel and Mrs. Guy Osborne of Norfolk.

Beach Party

Billy Lee Myer entertained Monday night at a beach party in honor of his eleventh birthday anniversary. His guests included Leslie Garrison, Patsy Thomas, Peggy Tiley, Martha Etheridge, Gene and Mildred Barnes, Jane Simmons, Bobby Phillips, Gardner Harden, Reggy Whitehurst, Thomas Fisher, Thomas Sawyer, Dicky Mumford, Billy Mace, Buddy Carroll, Gifford Mosely, Bobby Barco and Dicky Miller.

that dish of brain?

Pick Yourself Up

Pick-ups are, basically, stimulants. The perfect pick-up never lets you down. That delicious draught of coffee that starts the day and the evening meal is one of the prime pick-ups of them all, because it has no let down afterwards. Canny housewives are finding that to stop in the middle of the morning for a cup of coffee helps them bounce through their work faster; besides, it tastes good!

Pick-Up Pointers

Pick-ups, be they beverage or ingredients, should have two characteristics: they should be decided in flavor and distinctive in color. If an ingredient, they should offer contrast to the food they accompany.

All set? Pick up and go! Deviled Eggs With Brazil Nuts (It's the Nuts!)
6 hard cooked eggs
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon mixed mustard
1/2 teaspoon onion juice
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts
Shell eggs, cut in halves and remove yolks carefully. Mash yolks thoroughly, add mayonnaise, seasonings and one-fourth cup of chopped nuts. Mix well and refill shells with this mixture. Sprinkle with remaining nuts and serve on a bed of parsley or other green as a first course or with a salad.

Coffee Pie

(Coffee's IN The Pie!)
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1 cup strong coffee
1/4 cup sugar

1/4 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soak gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold coffee; add sugar, salt, and egg yolks, mixing slightly. Bring remaining coffee to a boil; add gradually to gelatin mixture, and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill. When slightly thickened, beat with rotary egg beater until light and foamy. Fold into egg whites. Turn into cold pie shell and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Bananas Florentine

(Spinach Makes The News)

2 lbs. spinach
3 tablespoons cream or undiluted evaporated milk
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup grated American cheese
4 firm yellow bananas

Cook the spinach. Drain and chop coarsely. Add 2 tablespoons of the butter, the cream, onion, salt and 2 tablespoons of the cheese. Spread in a shallow pan about 6 x 10. Peel the bananas, place crosswise on the spinach; brush the bananas with the remaining butter and sprinkle with a little salt. Sprinkle remaining cheese over spinach and bananas. Bake in a moderate oven of 375° F. for 20 minutes or until bananas are tender. Allow half a banana served on some of the spinach for each serving. 8 servings.

Stuffed Olive Dressing

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
pepper
2 tablespoons catsup
1 cup macola
1/4 cup vinegar
1 3-oz. bottle stuffed olives, sliced
Mix all the dry ingredients and the catsup together. Beat well with a hand beater or an electric beater at high speed, then add the macola one tablespoonful at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vinegar gradually, beating all the while. Add the olives and chill. Makes about 1 1/2 cups dressing, and is delicious on romaine or lettuce salad.

Bran Date Bars

3 eggs
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup all-bran
1 cup chopped nut meats
1/2 cup pasteurized dates, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
Beat eggs, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add to first mixture with remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread batter 1/2 inch thick in shallow greased baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. While warm, cut into squares or bars. Roll each piece in powdered sugar.
Yield: 36 bars (9 x 13 inch pan). (227. 3-1-4)

CHECK LOAD

Do not attach irons, vacuum cleaners, or other high-wattage-consuming electrical devices to your lighting circuits or sockets before you find out if the system can stand the additional load. Electric systems are only designed to carry a certain load. An overload may cause a fire even where the system is protected by fuses.

Carry on with the newspapers.

Farmers Furnished Phosphates By A. A. A.

Triple superphosphate is being made available again this year to Virginia farmers for use in carrying out soil-building practices under the A. A. A. Farm Program, W. H. Daughtrey, state executive officer, announces.

Under the 1937 program, Virginia farmers used more than 500 tons of triple superphosphate that was furnished by the A. A. A. and present estimates indicate that they will use a substantially larger amount in 1938.

Under the project, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration furnishes triple superphosphate to the farmer, who pays transportation and handling charges, and an amount approximating the cost of the material is deducted from the payment the farmer would otherwise receive. The triple superphosphate that is being made available to farmers under the program is a highly concentrated phosphatic fertilizer averaging 45 percent or more of available P2O5 or two to three times the phosphatic content of the usual commercial product.

This concentrated form of fertilizer can be shipped much more economically than the usual commercial product, Mr. Daughtrey pointed out.

It is used in connection with legumes, legume and grass mixtures, and grasses.

Last year under this project, more than 300 farmers in the state applied more than 600 tons of triple superphosphate on 7,561 acres. Of the total tons applied, 6.0 percent was used on legumes, 60.4 percent on legume and grass mixtures, and 33.6 percent on the following table is a summary of requests for triple superphosphate in Virginia in 1937, showing crops on which the material requested was applied:

In areas where the triple superphosphate was used extensively in 1937 the amount of available phosphoric acid applied to conserving crops was much greater than under the 1936 program when payments alone were offered. Farmers who are interested in making application for triple superphosphate under the 1938 program should contact their local committeeman or the county office.

Hutcheson Writes On Cultivation Value

Writing in The Progressive Farmer for May, Agronomist T. B. Hutcheson, of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, gives some striking results of tests in the cultivation of corn. In spite of all that has been said about the value of cultivation in conserving moisture, Mr. Hutcheson goes on to say that the chief reason for cultivation of row crops is to kill weeds. In tests conducted at the Virginia Experiment Station over a period of years corn planted on well-prepared land and not cultivated at all yielded, on the average, 8.17 bushels per acre. On the adjacent plot, planted on the same day and treated in the same way in every respect except that the weeds were kept clipped with a hoe, the yield was 49.04 bushels. On a third plot the crop was cultivated three times and all weeds removed with a hoe; the yield was 59.43 bushels. On a fourth plot, on which the crop was cultivated five times and kept free of weeds, the yield was 58.68 bushels per acre. As Dr. Hutcheson continues:

"It is clear that in this test the value of cultivation was very little more than enough to pay for itself, except from the standpoint of destroying weeds. Work at other experiment stations shows similar results. This does not mean that it is not necessary to cultivate crops, because cultivators are the most efficient implements for destroying weeds. It does, however, emphasize the fact that the chief value of intertillage of row crops is to kill weeds, and for that reason it is important to cultivate the crop at the proper time and frequently enough to do a thorough job."

Moderately Priced—Modernly Built

Features of this neat little brick dwelling are the size of the major rooms, the two bedrooms being 13 feet by 11 feet and 13 feet by 12 feet and the living room 18 feet by 15 feet, and efficiency of arrangement. The house is situated in Charlotte, N. C., and was appraised at $5,000. It was financed by means of a $4,000 20-year FHA insured mortgage. Monthly payments to principal and interest amount to $26.40. The total monthly payments which include also taxes, hazard insurance, water rent amount to $36.71. (The FHA does not furnish plans and specifications of any of the houses reproduced in the Clip Sheet.)

Paper Lends Height To Small Interiors

Interiors of small homes lend themselves to effective decorative schemes by means of wallpapers. As a substitute for draperies, a decorator can use stripes of paper in appropriate patterns.

In a room with dormer windows, papering walls right up to the ceiling line gives the effect of greater height.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. Does wallboard make a satisfactory interior finish?
A. Generally speaking, it does. There are many acceptable ways of covering the joints.
Q. The porch posts of my Summer cottage have begun to rot at the bottom. Will I have to replace them entirely?
A. Not necessarily. If they are not too far gone, the bad portions may be cut away and replaced. Place the post on an elevated masonry or concrete base. It will prevent rotting.
Q. I am anxious to put in a bathroom on the top floor of my three-story home. Can you tell me how much it will cost?
A. It would be best for you to call in a reliable plumber and have an estimate made for you.
Q. Although I have replaced the putty in our kitchen door several times, it continues to fall out. Should the panes be held tightly in place with some other material than putty?
A. Wood beads should be used to hold glass in doors. Have a carpenter do this for you.
Q. When more than one hot-water tap is being used the others all shut off. Can this be corrected so that hot water can be gotten all over the house at the same time if wanted?
A. This condition indicates that the water capacity has been reduced, most likely by clogging either in the heater itself or in the main pipe from the heater. It is possible that this condition may be corrected by cleaning. Consult a reliable plumber.

FARMER'S MARKET IMPROVED SINCE THE RETURN OF BEER

Prices per bushel received by farmers, at crop marketing season, for grains used in brewing since 1932.

THE brewing industry, one of the farmer's best customers for premium grains, has provided a market that has absorbed twelve billion pounds of grains in the last five years. The five-year bill to the brewers for domestic farm products alone was a well in excess of $300,000,000.

It takes 53 pounds of grains to make an average barrel of beer, of which about 38 pounds consists of premium barley, on the basis of the amount of materials needed to produce 58 million barrels of beer in 1937. How important the brewing industry is to the farmer is well illustrated by the figures given in the 1937 edition of Statistical Abstract of the United States, published by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Barley production for 1936 was 147,452,000 bushels, according to the preliminary figures given in that edition. Of this amount the brewers used about 61,000,000 bushels for their malt, or about 41 percent of the estimated total barley production for the year. The brewer, paying from 30 to 40 cents per bushel higher for malting barley than is received for feed barley, is estimated to have accounted for more than half of the $116,763,000 net as the value for the 1936 barley crop.

Malt accounts for about 70 percent of the brewers' expenditures for domestic brewing materials, the remainder being divided among corn products, rice, hops and brewing sugars, which also have their origins in corn. The stimulating effect brewing has had on the farmer's market is further indicated by the price advances recorded since the return of beer. In 1932, barley netted the farmer 22.1 cents per bushel at the crop marketing season, according to the Statistical Abstract. In 1933, the first year beer came back, barley jumped to 43.5 cents per bushel and in 1936 was quoted at 78.5 cents per bushel. Corn, in 1932, netted the farmer 31.2 cents per bushel, advanced to 52.3 cents in 1933 and reached $9.3 cents per bushel in 1936. Rough rice, bringing 41.9 cents per bushel in 1932, rose to 77.7 cents in 1933 and in 1936 brought 87 cents per bushel. The figures given here are the latest available. Brewers, of course, paid considerably more, both because they required premium products and because of processing and transportation costs. The figures in the chart above show the importance of the brewing industry to the American farmer.

New Roofing Can Be Placed Over Old

When a wood shingle roof needs replacement both time and labor can be saved by putting down the new roofing over the worn shingles.

By so doing stiffness and heat resistance are increased and dirt inside and outside the house, usually to be encountered during a reroofing job, avoided.

Replacement materials can be of any type provided the roof construction is strong enough to carry the additional weight.

Funds with which to finance roofing may be obtained from private financial institutions operating under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Sticking Drawers Due To Weather Changes

Sticking drawers in dressers, tables, and other pieces of furniture are due to swelling of the sides and bottoms. With the increased dampness of the air, the wood of the bottoms and sides will expand and result in too tight a fit.

Slight sticking of drawers can be corrected by rubbing the edges of the drawers with paraffin. If the defect is bad, they may be shaved down with a plane, tiled, or sandpapered. Rubbing both the edges and the parts against which they slide with paraffin should follow.

Tell it in print.

Well Marked Roads Boon To Strangers

Miss Emily J. Chiles, McCormick County, S. C., writes The Progressive Farmer urging a movement to mark the dirt roads that traverse all rural sections. She quotes James C. Derieux's story about asking an old Negro man how to reach a certain road. He was not able to understand the old man's directions, and finally in desperation the old Negro said, "Cap'n, you jest don't know enough for me to tell you how to get where you aim to go!" Miss Chiles continues:

And that's the trouble with most of us when in a strange territory. What sounds like explicit directions to the person who is doing the directing may be very confusing to the stranger. We don't know enough about local names to keep directions in mind. Why not have all roads marked at intersections? Signs marking all leading roads would not only help the stranger find his way about easily but would lend prestige to a community... Some counties in the Middle West have not only marked their roads but have numbered their farm homes. Why can't we?

A Former Visitor Grooms Old Friends

A former frequent visitor, Forrest H. Hill, returned to Virginia Beach this week and although he is now engaged in his regular line of business, the gas business, he will be remembered by his many friends as the representative of the Federal Housing Administration, who through considerable effort, inaugurated a movement at the Beach in 1935 that culminated in quite a building boom which lasted well into the present year.

At the time he was engaged in organizing work, a successful rally was held in the Roanoke Theatre which was attended by many local citizens. Prior to that time there had been little activity in the building business here, but since then things have been noticeably better. Mr. Hill was busy yesterday renewing old acquaintances at this resort.

RESORT SEASON GETS UNDERWAY FORMERLY SATURDAY, MAY 28

The Terrace Beach Club which makes its bow as the new addition to the social life of the resort, will open formerly Saturday night with capacity reservations for the evening. With new and extensive facilities throughout, the Terrace Club will greet its members and guests with a dance program and floor show furnished by Long Thompson's N. B. C. broadcasting orchestra, featuring three-girl entertainment specialists. Beginning Saturday, a half hour of the program will be broadcast from the Terrace Beach Club, and four nights weekly dance music will be on the air from Virginia Beach over the National Broadcasting Company hook-up. With ample parking space provided, the new club expects to open its first season with a tremendous send-off. Music for the latter half of the current season will be furnished by Blue Barron and his orchestra, now playing at the Hotel Edison.

Howard D. Mast V. P. I. Graduate

Among the 336 candidates for the bachelor of science degrees to be conferred at Virginia Tech's sixty-sixth commencement exercise to be held Monday morning, June 6, is Howard Dilworth Mast, Lynchhaven.

Dr. William E. Dodd, noted historian and former ambassador to Germany, will return to his alma mater to make the graduation address. Dr. Julian A. Burrus, president, will present the diploma, and make prize and award announcements.

Rev. Dr. H. Spencer Edmunds, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Roanoke, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at religious services Sunday morning, June 5.

Demonstration of the military instruction at Virginia Tech will be given Friday afternoon, June 3, and commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps will be presented at the regimental parade Saturday afternoon. Saturday has been designated as alumni day with the annual alumni association convention, reunions of 13 classes, a luncheon, a banquet, and a corps-alumni dance scheduled.

A reception for parents of the graduates, alumni, and faculty has been arranged for Friday night. Dances will take place Sunday and Saturday nights.

A "Birthday Party" At Oceana Tonight

Planning a "Birthday Party" to be held tonight at the Oceana High School gymnasium, the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society of Providence Methodist Church have arranged tables for each of the twelve months of the year, and those attending will be seated according to the month of their birth. Significant decorations for each month of the calendar will adorn the tables.

New York City.

"Kamels in the Air" The Surf Club will get under way at the same time and no effort has been spared to provide the guests of that club with every attraction, for the coming season. A large number of small cabanas have been added for the use of the patrons, and an inside dance floor has been added to take care of the guests on nights when the weather forbids outside dancing.

Opening night will find Art Kessel and his "Kamels in the Air", N. B. C. broadcasting orchestra, providing the music at this club. Coming to the Beach from the Statler Hotel in Cleveland, they will play for three weeks, to be followed by Jimmy Jay and his orchestra who likewise will furnish the music for a three week period. With membership in the Surf Club almost filled, prospects are excellent for the season. Dancing at the Surf Club will continue afternoon and night throughout the summer.

The society intends to use the proceeds of the party in advancing the work being done locally. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the interesting program arranged by the committee, Master of Ceremonies, Roy Jackson: Welcome, Rev. J. R. Laughton Vocal Solo, Miss Mildred Garrett

Red Cross Officers Elected At Meeting

Meeting yesterday at Princess Court House the county chapter of the American Red Cross, proceeded to elect Rev. J. B. Clower, Jr., of Virginia Beach, chairman, to succeed E. H. Herbert. Mrs. Farmer Morrison was elected vice-chairman. Other officers elected were Mrs. Bruce Dixon, secretary, and Mrs. George Bratten, treasurer.

Unused Furniture Crowds Room Space

Dining rooms and living rooms that seem cramped and of insufficient capacity to accommodate the family do not always require additions or even rearrangement of layout. The fault often lies in the amount and size of the furniture.

Heavy pieces and unused furniture may be relegated to the attic, given away, or sold and replaced with fixtures better suited to the size of a room. In this way an uncomfortably crowded room may be restored to convenient livability without the expenditure of an appreciable amount of money.

Visiting Minister To Conduct Service

The Rev. M. W. Norfleet, Jr., of the Union Theological Seminary will conduct the services at the Virginia Beach Presbyterian Church, for the Rev. J. B. Clower, Jr., at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Norfleet was recently graduated from the Seminary where he has since been treasurer. Mr. Clower will be absent in order to preach the Baccalaureate sermon at Oceana High School.

Employers' Aid To Workers Discussed

Horace K. Dickson, manager of the Social Security Board's office at Norfolk, Virginia, has just returned from Washington, where he attended a Regional Conference of field office managers from the states of Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Mr. Dickson reports that he discussed with Regional officials methods of administration and plans for improving the service to employers and employees in this section. He said that one of the main topics considered during the Regional Conference was the problem of the employer who has only a few employees; and the means of informing these employers as to requirements regarding account numbers, the forwarding of necessary returns and procedure in securing maximum benefits for their own employees, under the Act.

Mr. Dickson added that employers can assist greatly in the prompt payment of Social Security benefits to their employees by advising the Social Security Board when employees reach the age of 65 or when an employee dies. He explained that under Treasury Regulations, the employer files, with the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Form SS-3, within 15 days after the time an employee reaches age 65, or dies. If the employer will at the same time fill out Form OAC-1001—"Employer's Statement of Wages"—and send it to the nearest Social Security Board Field Office, he will expedite action on the employee's claim. The Norfolk, Virginia, office is located at 222 Post Office Building.

BAYNE THEATRE PREVUES

The most modern of heroes, airplane test pilots, are glorified in M-G-M's first aviation picture in more than two years, "Test Pilot," which stars Clark Gable, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, with Lionel Barrymore heading a major supporting cast. It opens here today for an engagement of two days. Gable plays the title role, with Myrna Loy as an unsophisticated farm girl and Spencer Tracy as mechanic. Lionel Barrymore impersonates an airplane manufacturer.

The love that springs up between a white "goddess" who has never before seen a white man, and a trans-Pacific flier forced down on a desert island is the story of "Her Jungle Love," which will be shown at the Bayne Theatre Sunday and Monday, May 29 and 30. Filmed in a blazing riot of natural color, the picture costars Dorothy Lamour and Ray Millard.
